The Royal Giants are carded to play the West Ends tomorrow afternoon on Crescent Oval at 3 o'clock. The game should attract its share of attention because of the kind of ball both teams have been playing.

On Sunday the Royals will play a double header at Morris Park, Newark, the first game with the New York Colored Giants, and the second with the Suburban Athletic Club. The Royal line-up will be practically the same in these games as it has been all of the season.

You'll Have to Be the Judge and Jury

When his dustlets Adam The First caught an eyefull of the Queen-to-be Eve for the first time he was smitten by her beauty.

There being no one to conduct the formalities of an introduction the said Adam made the best of the circumstances and introduced himself. I can't tell you how good these suits are. You'll have to see them for yourself and then, if you're not "smitten by their beauty" I'll miss my guess.

And remember, salesmanship can't sell these suits. You must do the buying. You'll be Master of Ceremonies.

Let me show you the newest colorings in GRAY, TAN and BLUE.

SCHOOL GAME POSTPONED.

The game scheduled for tomorrow afternoon on Hyde Field between the City High School and the borough scholastic aggregation has been postponed. The managers of the two teams got together this morning and decided that owing to the fact that Colonel Roosevelt is to speak at the same time that the game was scheduled for it would be better to postpone the contest.

"DORY" STRONG'S FIGHT OVER GUNNING ARREST

Trenton, May 23.—The fight between former Senator Theodore Strong, of Middlesex county, and the State Fish and Game Commission will be renewed at Somerville today, when the conviction of the former Senator upon two charges of violating the game laws will be reviewed before Judge Case in the Somerset Common Pleas. The state's case on the appeal will be handled by Josiah Stryker, of the attorney-general's office.

Mr. Strong was arrested September 12 last by Game Warden William A. Phillips, charged with gunning without a license, and having in his possession a dove, the shooting of which is prohibited by law. At the trial before a justice of the peace Mr. Strong was fined $20 upon each charge. Besides appealing from the conviction he caused the arrest of the game warden upon a charge of false imprisonment. The jury which tried Phillips disagreed. The further prosecution of the game warden has been deferred pending a decision upon the appeal in the original cases.

FLEET READY TO PROCEED TO CUBA

Directions Ordered to North Atlantic Squadron.

TRANSPORT IS HELD UP.

Poor Beef Delays Prairie, and New Supply Is Ordered by Telephone. Meat "Unfit to Eat," the Doctors Declare.

CUBA WARNED SHE WILL BE PERMANENTLY "IN OUR KEEPING."

The United States intervened in Cuba and took formal possession Jan. 1, 1899.

After the establishment of a government, with President Estrada Palma at its head, the United States was forced to intervene again in August, 1906, and put down a revolution against the Palma government.

In his report to President Roosevelt in 1906 Commissioner William H. Taft, then secretary of war, wrote:

"If the insurrectionary habit persists, if again the Cubans divide into armed forces, the strong hand of our government will have to be imposed, at whatever cost to life and property, and permanent peace should then ensue, because it should be in our own keeping."

In January, 1909, the United States troops were withdrawn for the second time and the government again turned over to the Cubans.

The third occupation of Cuba by our army—against which Mr. Taft warned the Cuban people—now seems inevitable.

Washington, May 24.—For the purpose of landing marines and bluejackets several battleships of the North Atlantic fleet have been directed to be ready to proceed to Cuban waters for the purpose of landing marines and bluejackets.

This action followed the receipt of appeals from Americans in Cuba for protection of their lives and property. Those appeals came to the state department. Additional dispatches were received from Cuba stating that conditions in the island were growing worse, that thousands of negroes have joined the uprising and that there is grave doubt of the ability of the Cuban government to cope with the situation.

Cuban Government Powerless.

This dispatch was followed by another, which stated that the Cuban government has acknowledged its inability to cope with the trouble by issuing a decree granting the plantation owners the right to arm employees and servants for self protection.

The request for protection came to the state department from the eastern part of the island. The dispatch stated that in the neighborhood of Guantanamo and Santiago, where are many important American interests, lives were being endangered and property seized and destroyed by armed negroes. They requested that this government procure for these adequate protection.

Prairie Is Delayed.

Philadelphia, May 24.—Because of the receipt of a consignment of beef which the United States inspectors refused to accept the United States transport Prairie, scheduled to sail for Cuba from the Philadelphia navy yard, was delayed in sailing.

The Prairie has aboard 600 marines under rush orders to Cuba to protect American interests during the rebellion in parts of that island. The Prairie will proceed immediately to the United States naval station at Guantanamo to join the gunboats Paducah and Nashville.

Truck Load Rejected.

Dr. Gallagher, a navy beef inspector, Drs. T. S. K. Reeves and G. L. Dalton, surgeons, U. S. N.; Paymaster S. L. Denton and Paymaster H. S. Palmer at once began the inspection, and almost all of the first truck load was rejected.

"The beef is positively bad," said Dr. Reeves and Paymaster Dalton, the latter an officer of the Prairie. "I cannot let this beef go aboard the ship," said Paymaster Dalton, "and I don't see how the ship can sail without a sufficient food supply."

A telephone order for 18,000 pounds was at once placed with a large packing house to be delivered at once. So the Prairie took it aboard and sailed.

SHOOT SLAYER IN PRISON.

Five Riflemen Fulfill Request of Condemned Murderer.

Salt Lake City, May 24.—Julius Sirmay was shot to death by five riflemen as he sat blindfolded in a chair in the deathhouse of the state prison.

Sirmay, convicted of the murder of Thomas Karrick, fourteen years old, asked for death by shooting, and his request was granted. Up to Tuesday he had vehemently protested his innocence.

Papke to Meet Carpentier.

Paris, May 24.—J. Lippe, manager for Papke, the American fighter, writes that the latter will meet Georges Carpentier, the French champion, in June. It is expected that they will meet at Dieppe on the night before the race for the automobile grand prix.

That has been my slogan for years I aim to do the best possible painting—using only the best materials that the manufacturers can furnish and employing the most skilled mechanics that can be procured. I stand back of every job I do, and when I am allowed to use my own judgment in regard to the best method of doing it, I will gladly make good any work that by any chance proves defective

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

APPLE CAKES.

APPLE cake is delicious when made with fresh apples. The tart early apples are especially good in such cases.

Apple Bread.—Sift together a pint and a half of flour, a teaspoonful of salt and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Take half a pint of apple sauce, which should be quite free of lumps, and stir into it a half pint of sweet milk and sugar enough to sweeten. Then add the flour and mix to form a batter. Pour into a greased pan and bake at once in a moderate oven for about forty minutes.

Flavored With Apples.

Apple Sauce Cake.—Take one cupful of apple sauce, one-half cupful of butter, one cupful of sugar, two cupfuls of flour, one-half teaspoonful of soda, one-half teaspoonful of spices and one-half cupful of seeded raisins.

Cream the butter and sugar, add the apple sauce with the soda beaten into it, then the other ingredients quickly. Bake thirty minutes. The cake will be better the second day than at first and will keep fresh a week if placed in a tin box or stoneware crock and kept covered.

With Cornmeal.

Apple Corn Cake.—Scald three cupfuls of white cornmeal, add a teaspoonful of salt and cover and allow to stand for half an hour. Then add a cupful and a half of milk and mix well. Stir in three cupfuls of finely cut cooking apples. Put into a mold and steam for a couple of hours. Serve with sugar and cream. Instead of steaming, cover the baking dish and bake in the oven for an hour and a half.

A Steamed Cake.

Steamed Apple Cake.—Grate a half pint of stale breadcrumbs, to these add a teacupful of butter, half a teaspoonful of baking soda, a little flour, a teacupful of sugar, the strained juice and grated rind of a lemon, a breakfast cupful of finely chopped apples, a little grated nutmeg and two eggs. Mix well. Butter a basin, put in the mixture and steam for one hour and a half. Serve with sweet sauce.

Served With Cream.

Crusty Apple Cake.—Mix one pint of flour, half a teaspoonful of salt and a teaspoonful and a half of baking powder. Rub in two tablespoonfuls of butter. Pour on this one egg and two-thirds cupful of milk beaten together thoroughly. Spread the dough about a half inch thick on a baking pan. Place in rows upon this dough four large apples which have been pared, cored and cut into eighths, sprinkle with two tablespoonfuls of sugar and a slight sifting of cinnamon. Bake in a quick oven for about twenty-five minutes. Serve with sugar and cream or a simple sauce.

MARTINE TILTS WITH GALLINGER ON JERSEY

Washington, May 24.—Comments, complimentary and otherwise, about New Jersey and its eight-hour labor law marked a tilt on the floor of the Senate between Senators Gallinger and Martine.

The eight-hour bill for laborers on government contracts was under debate at the time. Mr. Martine came to the support of Senator Borah, who is championing the measure.

"I do not believe," exclaimed Mr. Martine, "that the great God of heaven has breathed into man the breath of life that he should live to work, but rather that he should work to live."

The member from Jersey went on to picture the benefits flowing from the operation of the eight-hour law in his own State, when Gallinger broke in with the remark that New Jersey was the headquarters of anarchy in the United States. The comment was based on the recent Passaic strike disorders.

"Conceding that to be true," retorted Mr. Martine, "it is due to that infamous tariff system which has made a handful of millionaires in Passaic and Paterson, while it has produced squalor and woe in the homes of most of their employes."

Mr. Gallinger replied that Mr. Martine's farm, out Plainfield way, now converted into building lots, would revert to the condition of a blackberry patch if ever the tariff was destroyed. Mr. Martine ended the incident by declaring that he had built up his farm land by his own efforts and that he had paid decent wages to the men engaged in developing the tract.

WILSON MEETING OFF; BRYAN RALLY STARTED

Califon, May 24.—Through the inability of three of the advertised speakers to reach town, the scheduled Woodrow Wilson rally at Califon had to be called off. The only speaker who did put in appearance was John A. Montgomery, of Trenton. But Mr. Montgomery was ill, and feeling unequal, apparently, to taking the whole burden of the meeting upon his own shoulders, he hurried away to High Bridge by auto, and there took a train back to Trenton.

The few persons who had gathered at the hall, unaware that the meeting had been called off, were escorted into the night by a polite janitor. But "Tune" Melick, rather than disappoint the townspeople, started a fine little Bryan rally of his very own on the public street.

The presence at the Union House of James N. Pidcock, "Tune" Melick and others of the "Pirate" wing of the party, had given rise to the impression that there would be lively times when the "Holy Riders" got their meeting under full swing. Those who looked for trouble counted without their host. They did have the satisfaction of getting the mighty and complacent "Tune" to harrangue them in front of the Union House, on the merits of the "peerless" Bryan. His perfervid idealization of the Nebraskan candidate was well received.

The meeting had been advertised by direction of State Senator William C. Gebhardt and Judge Paul A. Queen, but Mr. Gebhardt declared over the telephone from his Jersey City office that he had not made the arrangements and had not intended to be present. That he and his asknowledged political foe, Pidcock, might meet at the rally, had been the hope of a good many in this community who are foes to peace.

TRIAL OF BURGLAR SUSPECTS.

Roselle, May 24.—Trial of Albert Wenz and Stephen Ratel, Roselle youths, charged with robbing a number of local houses in February, will be held June 6. They were arraigned on the indictments before Judge Atwater in the Court of Quarter Sessions, Elizabeth. Ratel was released under $4,600 bail, while Wenz is held under $3,400 bail.

WOMAN TERRIBLY BEATEN BY THIEF.

Contractor's Wife Victim of a Murderous Assault.

New York, May 24.—Mrs. Victor W. Pflaumer, thirty-two, the wife of a contractor, has a possible fracture of the skull, internal injuries, wounds on the face, head and body, which she received in an encounter with a robber in broad daylight.

The Pflaumers own their home, a two family house, and occupy the second floor. The first floor recently was advertised for rent.

A man called on Mrs. Pflaumer and said he was Mr. Churchill and was seeking a residence. He looked over the first four rooms of the house and said they suited him, and he probably would take them. He called again and demanded to know where the jewelry was kept. When he was refused, he threatened.

In spite of her assailant's threats, Mrs. Pflaumer would not reveal the fact that a quantity of jewelry and a roll of bills were in a bureau drawer in the next room. Enraged, the man struck her on the face with his revolver, then beat her till she fell again and kicked her insensible.

BURY RICHESON NEAR HOME.

Brothers and Relatives Pallbearers and Assist at Interment.

Amherst, Va., May 24.—The burial of Clarence V. T. Richeson, who paid the death penalty in Boston Tuesday for the murder of Avis Linnell, took place at the old Richeson home at the foot of the Blue Ridge.

The body was buried five miles distant from the grave of his mother and beside the grave of his paternal grand parents. Only the immediate family witnessed the burial, the brothers and near relatives acting as pallbearers, as well as assisting in filling the grave Douglas Richeson, the Chicago brother accompanied the body from Boston.

CHOKED TO DEATH BY COLLAR

Woman Stumbles, Falls and Stuns Herself, Tightening Collar.

Greenwich, Conn., May 24.—Miss Alice Doyle, forty years old, housekeeper for John Connelly, was choked to death by a soft linen collar pinned too tightly about her throat.

She had drank some ice water, which caused a dizzy spell, and then evidently stumbled over a rug just inside the bathroom door and fell, stunning herself. Her head fell in such a position that her collar was tightened, and the circulation of blood ceased.

PLAINFIELD GIVES WARM WELCOME TO PRESIDENT

Theatre Jammed and Bigger Crowd Outside--Roosevelt in Presidency Would Destroy Constitutional Government Taft Tells Audience.

It was a real ovation that greeted President William Howard Taft upon his first visit to Plainfield yesterday afternoon. As the President stepped from his automobile at the entrance to the Plainfield theatre, while the thousands of people assembled were cheering, he expressed his deep gratification over the great reception to County Chairman Frank H. Smith, who had accompanied him on his whirlwind tour throughout the day.

The President was expected to arrive here at 3:30 o'clock, but at 3 o'clock word was received that he was then at Bound Brook, and would not reach Plainfield until 4.30 o'clock. The theatre at that time was filled to its capacity, while even a greater crowd surged back and forth outside the theatre in an effort to gain entrance. Many women were in the crowd.

When the people outside learned that they could not get in the theatre, they sought points of vantage from where they might see the President when he arrived. Chief Kiely and a squad of police performed efficient service in keeping lans for traffic open. It was an orderly crowd, and the police had little trouble.

Within the theatre the crowd was patient and the popular selections by Charles Suhr's band helped to make the time pass quickly while the President's arrival was awaited. Every one in the theatre was provided with a small American flag with which to give a salute to Mr. Taft. The local committee kept in close touch with the President and his party and the details were so arranged that his arrival was timed almost to the minute.

Just prior to President Taft's arrival, the Plainfield Taft Club, about one hundred strong, marched in a body into the theatre. Among the 200 or more vice presidents on the stage were men in every walk of life.

The Presidential party entered the city by the way of Plainfield avenue, following a route that took in West Eighth street, Madison avenue, Front street and Park avenue. In the business section many persons were quick to recognize the President, and he was greeted with a running fire of cheers. As his car came up in front of the theatre the crowd thronged about the President, while a continuous cheer for more than five minutes greeted his ears. This brought forth one of the characteristic Taft smiles.

Chief of Police Kiely was the first man to shake hands with the President as he left his car, and he stuck close to the President as the party went into the theatre. In the President's car were United States Senator F. O. Briggs, County Chairman F. H. Smith, Major Ames, the President's military attache, and two Secret Service men.

As the President walked down the aisle of the theatre to the stage the audience arose and gave continuous cheers, waving the thousands of flags that had been provided by the committee. The stage and boxes of the theatre had been elaborately decorated with American flags, one of the features being the display of a banner which was lettered "Mt. St. Mary College 1912 Class."

While the President was speaking a greater crowd than the one that heard him was patiently waiting outside. The reappearance of Mr. Taft was the signal for another ovation, which continued from the time he left the theatre until he departed from the city after speaking to the overflow meeting at Park and North avenues. During this stop on Park avenue the President was presented with a large bouquet of flowers. Mr. Taft's second speech lasted about ten minutes and was an epitome of his address at the theatre.

Amid more cheering the President and his party continued the journey through North avenue, East Fifth street, and on to Westfield, where another stop was made. Chief Kiely escorted the Presidential party as far as Westfield.

THE PRESIDENT'S SPEECH; "SAVE THE CONSTITUTION"

Dust laden and perspiring, showing evidence of weariness and fatigue President Taft entered the Plainfield theatre to be greeted with vociferous cheering. Many women were present in the large assemblage which packed the house throughout the course of the President's address. The most pronounced plaudits came from them.

Former City Judge William N. Runyon in introducing the President referred to him as the "defender of the faith," as a man who saw great visions and dreamt great dreams and

HISTORIC ROCK MEMORIAL PLAN

Tablet to Be Placed on Site Where Gen Washington Saw Hessian Troops.

WATCHUNG MOUNTAIN

Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen, Whose Husband Purchased Rock to Preserve It to Posterity, Writes an Interesting Description.

On the southern slope of the picturesque mountain, back of Dunellen, is a large rock, or to be more accurate, two rocks, which are historic landmarks, for standing upon it General George Washington viewed the movements of the Hessian troops in the struggle for the Independence of the American colonies. Sad to relate, the people of this section have neglected to suitably mark the site for all these years. But now a movement is on foot to place there a tablet with an appropriate description. The land on which the rock is was recently purchased by Charles W. McCutcheon, of North Plainfield, for the patriotic purpose of insuring its being unmolested. Continental Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, of this city, has undertaken the task of obtaining funds to pay for the proposed tablet and in order that all citizens be brought to an understanding as to how the rock figured in the history of the Revolutionary War, this paper will publish a special series of articles. The first of these, written by Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen, follows:

Yes, Washington Rock again—its past, its present and its future. The Continental Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, is most anxious that the people of Plainfield should be informed on this subject. Time was when every man, woman and child in Plainfield knew all about Washington Rock. But these were the old days, when John Laing's annual coat of white-wash rendered the rock a conspicuous object on the landscape—The good old days, before that arch-fiend, the automobilist and his little brother fiend, the motor-cyclist, rendered driving an obsolete pastime—when golf still slept in Scotland, when the Country Club was not, when Darby's chief recreation of a holiday afternoon was to have the horse hitched up to the buggy and take Joan for a drive to the Rock.

What old Plainfielder does not remember, the slow climb up the hill, the long golden hour of the autumn afternoon on top, while the old horse rested—Why, everybody went to the Rock in those days! Lovers walked there — Sunday-schools picnicked there. Your best guest was always taken there to see the view. But all that is changed now and they even tell us that there are intelligent dwellers on Hillside avenue and Denmark road, who hardly know if there be a Washington Rock.

It is for the enlightenment of these as well as for the refreshing of our own memories that we venture to again direct attention to the claims of Washington Rock to a place in authentic history.

The picture which accompanies this article is taken from a volume entitled "Historical Collections of the State of New Jersey" by John M. Barber and Henry Howe, published in the year 1844. It illustrates a chapter describing Westfield, Scotch Plains, Plainfield—all, by the way, at that time in Essex county.

YOUNG WORKER'S ARM BADLY MANGLED BY GEARS

With his arm mangled and torn as the result of having it caught in the gears of a large milling machine, James McRea, an employe of the International Motor Truck Co., is in Muhlenberg Hospital. It may be necessary to amputate his arm.

McRea is 28 years old and single. Last night while adjusting a part of the milling machine upon which he worked the sleeve of his jacket became entangled with the gears, drawing the arm into the teeth. McRea screamed with pain. Fellow workmen hurried to his assistance, stopped the machine and removed McRea. He was sent to the hospital in the ambulance.

He was rushed to the operating room where Doctors Zeglio and DuBois relieved his suffering as much as possible. This morning he was reported as resting easily and if no complications set in it is hoped that his arm may be saved.

FORMING A BOOST CLUB IN THE PASSAIC VALLEY

Energetic steps have been taken by members of the General Committee on the Community of Interests of the Passaic Valley toward complete permanent organization. Spencer L. Kroneberger presided at a recent meeting in the New Providence Methodist Episcopal church, at which there were present representatives of the New Providence Athletic Association, the New Providence Borough Council, the Junior Order of United American Mechanics, the New Providence Methodist Episcopal church, the Berkeley Heights Fire Company, the Republican Club of New Providence Township, the Italian Independent Club of Berkeley Heights, and the Tri-County Club.

A temporary organization was formed with Spencer L. Kroneberger as chairman and Charles Imbimbo as secretary. A committee on permanent organizations, to draft a constitution, etc., was appointed, consisting of Dr. Willis Fletcher Johnson, the Rev. Jesse Lee Peck, and Mayor Thomas P. Crane.

Tentative plans for the Fourth of July celebration were discussed, comprising a parade and oration in the morning, athletic contests and a baseball game in the afternoon, and a band concert, stereopticon picture show and special decorations in the evening. It was also decided to combine with the celebration, an "Old Home Day" gathering of former residents. The chairman was authorized to appoint appropriate committees to executive these plans.

The next meeting, at which permanent organization will probably be effected, will be held at the same place on Friday evening, May 31.

MR. NICKERSON WILL END PASTORATE TOMORROW

Rev. A. C. Nickerson will close his services as pastor of the Unitarian church tomorrow. At the morning service he will preach on the theme, "The Benediction." On Thursday, May 30, Mr. and Mrs. Nickerson will leave for England, where they will spend the summer. He will not reenter the ministry.

The pulpit of the local church will be filled with supplies until the summer vacation, and in the fall a successor to Mr. Nickerson will be chosen.

PRETTY PAGEANT AT SEMINARY

CROWNING THE QUEEN

Coronation Followed by Entertainment in Which Her Majesty's Loyal Subjects Do a Number of Charming Things.

The wide lawns, stately trees and vine-covered walls of the Seminary made a most attractive background for the May fete which took place there yesterday afternoon. Many friends and patrons of the school gathered to welcome the May queen, Miss Ruth Timpson, as, attended by her court, she rode in state to her crowning. The procession formed at the main school entrance, and, led by the herald, Miss Marie Boies, made its way by a winding route across the lawns to the play-ground, where, near a blossom-covered wistaria arbor, the throne was located. The queen herself rode near the head of the procession upon a spirited white horse, a group of her attendants preceded her, and the gay and fantastic costumes of her train which followed, made the marching and countermarching a bit of pageantry worth remembering. Arrived at her throne the May-Queen was duly crowned and installed in her chair of state. Her loyal subjects then entertained her, the herald announcing the events in a most effective manner.

The first number, "The Winding of the May-Pole," was given by sixteen girls whose graceful dancing won the audience. Tripping about their flower-crowned May-pole in their charming costumes of pink and blue, they made a pleasant picture.

The French court quadrille, which followed, was pleasing and well executed. The picturesque costumes of the four women and their attendant swains made this number one of the best.

Sixteen little maids, as fresh and dainty in their white gowns and pink ribbons as the roses that garlanded their hoops, gave a hoop-drill. Their graceful poses and good dancing won for them a round of well-merited applause.

During an interlude four clowns and a clown-horse entertained everybody with their tricks.

Following the interlude the herald announced "The Comic-Tragedy of Pyramus and Thisbe," from Midsummer Night's Dream. The prologue was given by Miss Edna Pierson Hopkins. The caste of the play was as follows: Pyramus, Miss Helen Strong; Thisbe, Miss Dorothy Leal; Wall, Miss Dorothy Beeken; Moonshine, Miss Martine Weeks; Lion, Miss Eleanor Hatch. The parts were well taken and the audience seemed much entertained by the comic woes of the classic lovers.

The entertainment was concluded by a pretty cotillon figure in which the whole school joined, winding in and out under the arbor and about the throne, in a whirl of color and motion.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the entertainment, and the afternoon terminated pleasantly and informally.

Miss Florence Stuart, the gymnasium director, assisted by Miss Edna Pierson Hopkins and Mlle. Aline Dutoit, planned and carried out the fete. They are to be congratulated upon its unqualified success.

THOUSANDS WAITING FOR COL. ROOSEVELT'S ARRIVAL

Committee Confident a Record-Breaking Crowd Will Greet Ex-President--Auto Parade to Precede Rally at City Park.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Eagerly awaited by his supporters, and a good many other people who have felt the influence of his personality and are keenly interested in the progress of his campaign for a second Presidential nomination, Theodore Roosevelt is approaching Plainfield this afternoon on the second stretch of the third day of his New Jersey invasion. He is expected to speak at the City Park shortly after 3 o'clock.

The Roosevelt reception committee, of which Mayor Moy is the head, is confident of a record-breaking crowd at the park. The weather, ideal for an outdoor meeting, impressed the Roosevelt leaders as a highly encouraging manifestation of "Roosevelt luck."

The Colonel's friends were certain that the people would give him a rousing reception which would more than counteract the influence of the enthusiastic welcome extended yesterday to President Taft.

There were early indications that the committee's expectations for a great concourse of people at the park would be fully realized. At 1 o'clock men and women were already heading for the park, to insure the preemption of desirables places before the platform.

All local arrangements for the former President's coming are completed, and the only thing which may cause delay will be the demand of people in other parts of the State that he stay with them longer than his campaign managers have planned for. The Colonel was in Lakewood, Asbury Park, Long Branch and Perth Amboy, this morning, and before arriving in Plainfield is scheduled to make stops in Rahway, New Brunswick and Bound Brook.

Roosevelt will enter Plainfield by way of Front street. Prior to the meeting an automobile parade will be held to further advertise the coming of the ex-President, and after the parade the autoists will start toward Bound Brook to meet him, and escort him in. Allen B. Laing will be the marshal of the parade, and he will give the directions to the participants when they gather at the City Park at one o'clock.

It is probable that Mr. Roosevelt will be right on time, but if he is a little late it will not interfere with his making a lengthy speech here, as his schedule has been so arranged that the next big meeting after leaving Plainfield will not be held until nine tonight at Elizabeth. Efforts to learn whether he was adhering to his schedule or not brought forth the information that he left Long Branch almost on time at 11:17 this morning.

The stand from which the Colonel will speak at the park is covered with flags and bunting. It is in a part of the park where the trees will keep the rays of the sun from the heads of those awaiting the speaker. A band of music will be on hand to entertain the crowd while waiting.

Yesterday was a hard day for the Colonel and his party. He spoke in a dozen towns in South Jersey, and wound up with a monster meeting at the armory at Trenton, attended by 15,000 poeple. The autos carrying the party were constantly on the go from early in the forenoon until late in the evening, and after the day was over the Colonel was so enthused that he said that he felt sure that he was bound to win in New Jersey, and in the nation. Former Governor Fort, who was traveling with the party, said that in his forty years' political experience in New Jersey he had never seen anything like the enthusiasm displayed.

MRS. STAATS GIVES AN "AT HOME" TO W. C. T. U.

Mrs. George Staats, of Netherwood avenue, gave an "at home" yesterday afternoon from 2 to 6 o'clock, to which the members of the W. C. T. U. were especially invited. The union also held a cake sale at the same time. Mrs. Staats was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Evarts C. Conover, Mrs. L. W. Randolph, Mrs. Charles Jeter and Mrs. Valentine Utzinger. Those who poured in the dining-room were Mrs. Elizabeth Peck, Mrs. William Mehlbeck, and they were assisted by Miss Smith, Mrs. William Crow and Miss Marie Viebrock. Those who had charge of the cake table were Mrs. A. G. Negley, Jr., Mrs. P. H. Bennett and Mrs. T. C. Bodine.

During the afternoon there was an informal program of music. The members of the W. C. T. U. were disappointed because of the absence of Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, who was detained at home by illness. The company sang "God Be With You 'Till We Meet Again," and Mrs. Tomlinson heard the singing at her home over the telephone.

LAST SUFFRAGE MEETING.

The Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield will hold its last meeting of the year Monday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. D. L. Thompson, 18 Rockview terrace, at 3 o'clock. Mayor Moy will speak informally on, "The City's Needs As Seen From the Mayor's Standpoint." It is not unlikely that he will indicate that there is a great need of deeper interest and a more hearty co-operation on the part of all citizens, both men and women, to better the conditions of living here in the city. Members of the league are permitted to bring invited guests who would be interested in hearing the questions discussed. Following the meeting tea will be served.

WITHDRAWS APPLICATION.

Frank Linge, of West Front street, who applied to Judge Daly, at New Brunswick, for a wholesale liquor license at Dunellen, has withdrawn his application through his counsel, Judge William A. Coddington. When the application was made, Judge Daly said that he would grant but one license in Dunellen and that to Joseph M. Maier, of that place, unless some good reasons were presented against the man's personality. However, he set a hearing down for yesterday. In the meantime the application was withdrawn.

C. E. SOCIAL.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Netherwood Reformed church held at the home of Arnold E. Finckel, 332 Emerson avenue, last night. There were about sixty members and friends present. The evening was spent playing games.

"MOON TRIP" A HIT.

Quite a large number of people availed themselves of the opportunity to see what a "Trip to the Moon" was like as staged in the Plainfield theatre, last night. Those present enjoyed the "trip" very much indeed. The performance of the local players exceeded expectations and rounds of applause greeted them. Many local "gags" were introduced which made a hit.

Seven years of Roosevelt—brass bands and fire works—1907 panic. Doctor called in to cure the disease was W. H. Taft. For three years the doctor has been trying the cure, that which took seven years to produce. Let him finish the job. The patient has somewhat improved during the treatment by Doctor Taft.

PLAINFIELD'S CHOIR IS TRENTON'S MODEL

Trying to Duplicate the Splendid Choral Organization Formed Here in Nov.

The great convention chorus that will be one of the important features of the New Jersey Sunday school convention, which convenes in Trenton next November, will be organized tomorrow afternoon, at the Prospect Street Presbyterian church, on the model of the big choir that was one of the wonderful features of the convention in this city last November. The music at the convention in November will be under the direction of Grant Colfax Tullar and Rev. J. H. Meredith, the famous composers of Sunday school hymns, and the expert directors of convention choruses. These leaders made the Plainfield convention last November a musical success, and the Trenton committee on the coming convention were anxious to secure their services for the dates in November in order to make the musical part of the sessions the greatest that the Sunday school workers of New Jersey have ever heard.

Grant Colfax Tullar is the director of this team of experts, and Rev. J. H. Meredith is the pianist. The team has been most successful east and west in its convention work, and the work of the choruses in these conventions were features which have been highly approved by those high in authority in Sunday school work. Mr. Tullar has his own methods in drilling his choruses, and while he is learning new pieces, he gives talks on musical subjects. It is the intention of the Trenton committee to have a chorus of 250 voices which will be thoroughly drilled and ready for work on Tuesday, November 12. As was the case in Plainfield last year, the Trenton convention chorus will give a concert on Friday evening of convention week, at which time Tullar and Meredith will render one of their famous oratorios. They will bring their own soloists for this concert. The fact that the convention chorus is to be organized on Sunday, and the information that the chairman of the sub-committees are already doing their work in planning the preliminaries, gives the public some idea of the bigness of the Sunday school convention which meets in Trenton this year.

The great convention choir is still in existence here. Several Sundays ago it gave a splendid concert at the Plainfield theatre.

NEW PROVIDENCE TOWNSHIP HAS AN ACTIVE CIVIC CLUB

The newly-organized Civic Club of New Providence Township is already making substantial progress toward usefulness. It is a non-partisan body, consisting at present of about thirty members, representative of all parts of the Township and of both political parties. Its object is to seek the promotion of the general good of the community; not to meddle with party politics or interfere in any way with existing party organizations, but to lend its influence for the choice of the best men for local offices. The need of such an organization in New Providence Township has long been felt, and it is believed that the organizers of the Civic Club are the right men to supply that need.

The club meets on the last Friday evening of each month, in the office of Carl Radzio, on Mountain avenue, near Plainfield avenue. Its officers are: President Edward S. Carr; vice president, Carl Radizo; secretary, David Hardy; treasurer, Charles Burgmiller.

CHICAGO RESIDENCE TO BE MOVED TO PATERSON

Chicago, May 25.—Discarded to make way for a factory which with others is encroaching on a residence district, the mansion of Finley Barrell, at Calumet avenue and Twenty-first streets, and which originally cost $100,000, has been sold for a song to Robert L. McIlroy. McIlroy says he will have it torn down carefully to be erected as a country home on a place he owns near Paterson, N. J. This operation will cost $10,000.

NEW PRINCIPAL.

The public schools of New Providence have just had a change of principals. Edward E. Baum resigned on account of the serious and persistent ill health of Mrs. Baum, and his desire to take her home, where he hopes that her recovery will be assured and will be more rapid than it might be here. They have gone to Herkimer, New York, and will remain there until fall, when Mr. Baum hopes to resume work in his profession. The new principal, who took charge of the schools last week is Francis M. Burdick, of Erieville, N. Y. He is a graduate of the Normal School at Cortland N., Y., and comes highly recommended.

ORPHANS AND CRIPPLES.

Ninety-eight orphan and crippled children from a home in Newark have been received at the Coles Memorial Home at Mountainside, where they will spend the summer.

MORAL MYOPIA.

The Standard Dictionary defines myopia as "defect in vision so that objects can be seen distinctly only when very near the eye,—near-sightedness."

There are a number of people in this world who suffer from physical myopia. Their disease concerns only themselves. But there are so many others who are disturbed with moral myopia that the very best things of our Christian civilization are endangered. Dante in his "Inferno" places those who "were for themselves," in one of the upper circles of hell. Were he living today, I am sure that he would transfer them to a much lower circle because they are so destructive to society.

The "Interests" are the dangerous elements in our civilization today for they by their unrighteousness and greed have set in motion other elements in our society which have in them the seeds of destruction. The public is aware of the fact that it is under the power of a set of men who are continually laying heavier burdens upon them, and that the pressure is becoming more severe.

As a result of the despotic control on the part of the interests we have other organizations whose aim is the protection of the workers of the world, and some of these organizations are taking sinister shape. The most recent of them emanates from France and aims to bring under its control the working men of the world. It is called "Syndicalism," and its theory is that the State "can be of no use to labor, that essentially and intentionally the State is a tool of the ruling class, and that consequently the triumph of the working class can be realized only by the destruction of the State, by its decomposition or reabsorptoin into the body of labor organizations." This is systematized anarchy, but it is the movement today that is fraught with the greatest danger to our social institutions. Its ideals are expressed in the words of Pelloutier: "We are rebels every hour, men radically without a God, without masters, without a country, irreconcilable enemies of all despotism, whethere moral, or material, individual or collective." This movement has extended to Great Britain and the United States.

In Great Britain, Tom Mann is working energetically day and night to transform the trades unions into Syndicalism. In the United States the "Industrial Workers of the World," now just seven years old, is Syndicalism at work in America. Charles Willis Thompson in the New York Times says that "we are going to hear more and more of it as time goes on, for the I. W .W. is the most serious menace the present system of society has been called upon to face."

What does it all mean? Can we dismiss it by saying that it is simply the work of the devil and must be suppressed? Who started it anyhow? Why is there so much social unrest in the world that increases as time goes on? Professor Franklin H. Giddings declares that he believes that "modern society may be overwhelmed by the conditions it has bred." True, for modern society is not dominated by the noble ethics of the Man of Galilee. If a man will but read the denunciations of the Old Testament Prophets, he will discover that they uttered the divine judgment on the men who were "for themselves," and thereby oppressed their fellows. God has not changed His determination to visit His judgment on this kind of evil doers.

The trust, which is fined for unrighteousness and illegal business and which forces the general public to pay the fine plus interest, which increases the wages of its laborers 10 per cent. and charges the people 20 per cent, increase on its product, cares not for the country's future, and is blind to its duty to a righteous God.

Newell Dwight Hillis said in a sermon in 1910: "Things are not well in this country at the present moment; at the very time when nature and God gave us last year fifteen billions of wealth, at this time there is more restlessness and fear than ever before. Today on account of living, the working people have their back against the wall. The best tariff ever? Yes, for the few who are protected, but in view of the fact that immediately eight or ten of the necessities of the common people, when thus protected, rose twenty to twenty-five per cent., the best tariff meant that the protected iron interests added four or five hundred millions to their values; that one firm of the Beef Trust with three months distributed twenty millions of surplus to themselves, another protected industry cut a melon of twenty millions more, and on these necessities of life for the enrichment and protection of these eight or ten groups, already protected and gorged, the working people have had to give up at least a fifth of their income."

This was in 1910; what of 1912? Still greater pressure. It has been charged that three or four men in Wall Street produced a panic in 1908 as a demonstration against Mr. Roosevelt and are in a mood to threaten another and can produce it. We speak of the lawlessness of the men who are controlling the necessaries of life, and the laws of the land for their own enrichment?

The idea that this is a country for the people, by the people and of the people is in large measure a farce, and the men whose ambition is for special legislation and class privilege are traitors to its best interests, and they seem to be blind as to what will be the outcome of their cupidity. It may mean a social revolution of a most serious nature. It may mean that Christ Himself must come to reign as King of Righteousness.

CHARLES E. HERRING.

HARRY RHODES.

Harry Rhodes, aged nine months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rhodes, died yesterday. The funeral will be held at the residence of the parents tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Rev. Frederic E. Greene, of Hope chapel, will officiate and the burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

WAITING FOR ROOSEVELT

He did not care to say if he would take all the twenty-eight delegates or not, but his smile was confident. His managers claim it will be pretty near a clean sweep the way it looks now.

All told the colonel and his party visited Burlington, Hammonton, Egg Harbor, Atlantic City, Millville, Vineland, Bridgeton, Glassboro, Woodbury, Camden and Trenton.

The Atlantic City address was the colonel's big speech of the day, but before delivering it he stopped for two outdoor talks, one in the heart of the negro ward, at Kentucky and Atlantic avenues, and the other in front of the Atlantic City high school.

Atlantic City is debatable ground for the colonel, so his opponents say. Accordingly he had saved himself up for the speech here at 12:30 o'clock, and his voice was in fair shape. Right at the outset he started showing up the bosses and preaching the right of the people to rule, declaring that he stood for the principles for which Abraham Lincoln stood.

True Regulars.

"Much has been said about party regularity," he said. "We're the only regular Republicans. The only regular Republicans in the Republican party are the rank and file. The bosses aren't regular. Some of them are highly irregular. It is impossible to get social and industrial justice out of a boss."

"The profit that should be the farmer's must get to the farmer's pocket and not stop in some other pocket between himself and the consumer's," declared the colonel at another point in his speech. "A legitimate portion of the business profits should be in dividends, but it mustn't all stop in the office. We must not build up a new set of enormously wealthy men turn protection

"I cannot express too strongly the appreciation I feel for the way in which I have been received in this state yesterday and today, and I thank you for this greeting here, and I am glad to be back with you again. I know you all. And friends, I feel that this contest is far more than any mere factional, indeed, far more than any mere party contest for us who are fighting the battle for the fundamental rights of all American citizens, and unless the principles which we uphold are in very truth made the active and guiding principles in our national conduct, Democracy in America will be a failure.

Is Moral Cause, He Says.

And friends, as is true of almost every great cause, this is a moral cause. We think we appeal not only in the name of material prosperity but for the sake of that high life which we know can only be built upon a foundation of material prosperity but of which the material prosperity itself can never be anything but a mere foundation with no superstructure upon it. Now I will try my best to reach you all with my voice, but you have got to help me by being quiet. (Applause.)

"And I want to say just a word about the delegates in this district. I want you to remember that the men you vote for are Messrs. Potter and Carver who are committed to us. Their two opponents have thought that they could win by not putting down that they were committed to anyone. We stand for the men who know their own minds and who are not afraid to tell their own position, and upon my word I think I would rather have a man against me than have a man who does not know where he is. So we ask you to stand for the two men who know their minds and are prepared to say what their attitude is. And now, friends, the principles for which we stand are perfectly simple as I think great fundamental principles are apt to be. I am asking for all of us, collectively, the right that each one of us individually insist upon.

Doesn't Make Mistakes Twice.

"Every man here, you, you, indicating each of us, wishes to rule his own life. Each of us will make mistakes. You will, I will, but I want to make my mistakes myself. I do not want to have somebody else make them for me If I make them myself I will not make the same mistake twice. If somebody else makes them for me I do not know how often he will make them. Now, it is just the same way in self government I know well that the people in governing themselves will occasionally make mistakes. That is human. If you do not govern yourselves you can be perfectly sure that somebody will govern you.

"There has got to be government somewhere, and if we do not govern ourselves then somebody will govern us, and if we will not take the trouble to do it it is folly to suppose that he will take the trouble for our sakes. He will govern us for his sake and friends. I do not blame him. I blame us for letting him. I do not wonder that the boss rules us in his interest if we decline to take the trouble to rule ourselves. People say that I preach the doctrine of class hatred and discontent. I never preached hatred of any class in my life except the class of crooks. (Applause.) And even then I hate the crookedness and the crook only if it is necessary to get at him in order to stop the crookedness.

Bosses Must Quit Governing.

"Now, the bosses I do not hate at all. All I want to do with the bosses is to make them quit governing us, that is all. If they will go about their own business, go into private life, they have my blessing. I wish them well, but I do not want them to try to undertake to boss us. We can do that job ourselves, and I am asking that our people wake up to their own rights, that they devise the necessary methods of governmental machinery in order to secure those rights, not only because I believe that any other system is the negation of democracy, but because my experience has taught me, as I have already said, that only thus can we obtain justice.

"Our purpose is definite. We intend —we men who stand for the progressive principles within the Republican party—we intend to fight the battle of every plain citizen, no matter to what party he belongs. (Applause.) We claim to be the heirs of the principles and purposes and policies of Abraham Lincoln and men that fought with him Our opponents have called themselves at times regular Republicans. We are the regular Republicans. The only regularity in the Republican party is the regularity of the rank and file.

Believes In Protective Tariff.

"I believe in a protective tariff, but I wish to see the benefit of protection got into the pay envelope of the workingman. It is all right that a legitimate proportion should go in dividends, but it must not all stop in the office. A fair share must get back into the pay envelope of the worker, and where the government protects an industry by the tariff I believe it should create a bureau whose business it would be to look into the conditions of labor and living among the wage workers in that protected industry to see that they get their full share in the benefits of the protection.

"So when we deal with the farmer the state and nation must combine to help the men who live in the country, who dwell on the farms, not only by putting at their disposal all possible knowledge, and if necessary giving that knowledge through personal teaching on the farms, as was done with success by Dr. Knapp of the department of agriculture in regard to the boll weevil and other agricultural matters in the south. Not only must we teach the farmer how to get the best results out of his soil, but we must also enable him to co-operate with his fellows so as to make the business procedure of the farmer akin to that of the successful business man in the city so that the money paid by the man who buys the farm products shall go into the farmer's pocket and not stop in the pocket between.

Can Solve Problems of Day.

"Now, friends, I do not think you will misunderstand me. Some of my opponents have made believe that they misunderstood me, but I do not think they did. I am not promising you the millenium. The millenium is a good way off, but I am saying that if we set resolutely to work through the government and through that public opinion which in the first place is responsible for governmental action and in the next place is itself stimulated by wise governmental action, if we make up our minds through our agencies really to strive for the betterment of industrial conditions, we can do a great deal a very great deal, to make the chances more even to give better opportunity for the man—the average man—and the average woman to share the stuff there is in them. We can make real and long strides in the direction of solving the most pressing problems of today.

Injustice Will Grow.

"And, friends, if we sit supine, if we fail to try to solve them, we can rest assured that the injustices will grow and not diminish, and it behooves us to remember that nine-tenths of wisdom is being wise in time; that we need to take hold of the different evils in time so that they may not be permitted to grow to a degree that will render it impossible for us to grapple with them without causing farreaching disturbance. That is why I wish to ask the public to obtain possession of their water power. The next generation is going to use the most marvelous developments of industry driven by water power. The water power does not belong to any one man. It belongs to all of us and the government should not part with the ownership of water power. We must not create a new set of very wealthy men in this country who owe their wealth to monopoly. If so let them create themselves without interference; then when it is done it will be a very difficult matter to make it without causing farreaching injustice."

Home endorsement, the public expression of Plainfield people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Plainfield reader. I have received a world of good from this remedy, backache, headache, dizzy spells and trouble with the kidney secretions being corrected by its use. The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

CELERY ROOT.

CELERY root is a form of the celery plant that is particularly adapted for cooking. It is known as celeriac, sometimes as turnip rooted celery.

Almost any recipe for cooking celery stalk may with advantage be used for celery root.

The vegetable is cleaned, the dingy outside skin pared off, and it is soaked in water for about a half hour before being cooked.

Then it may be put into a saucepan of boiling water with a teaspoonful of salt and boiled until tender. This should be in about half an hour.

When done, drain, slice and dress with cream sauce.

Boiled With Sauce.

Celeriac and Onion.—Pare and slice the roots, soak in water, then add a medium sized onion sliced thin, season and boil until tender. Serve hot with cream sauce.

Cream Sauce.—The sauce to be used with the stewed celery root may be made as follows: Take a tablespoonful of butter, a tablespoonful of flour, a cupful of white stock flavored with celery and a teaspoonful of onion juice. Put the butter in a saucepan, add the flour, then the stock and onion juice, stir until smooth and creamy, boil three minutes and then pour over the celery.

A Savory Broth.

Celeriac Soup.—Take two large roots, pare and clean, cut fine and boil slowly for an hour in a pint of water. Put in also a slice of onion to flavor. Crush and strain through a sieve. Take two tablespoonfuls of flour and one of butter and beat together. Add a quart of milk and boil for fifteen or twenty minutes. Season with a scant teaspoonful of salt and a quarter of a teaspoonful of pepper. Add at the last minute half a pint of whipped cream.

Served au Gratin.

Celeriac Baked With Cheese.—Take two cupfuls of the stewed celery root which has been cut into small pieces. Put a layer of the celery root into a buttered baking dish. Over this pour a layer of white sauce and sprinkle with parmesan cheese. Then put on another layer of the vegetable and one of white sauce and cheese until the dish is full. Cover the top with cracker crumbs mixed with melted butter and sprinkle with cheese. Set in the oven to brown. Garnish with slices of hard boiled egg and sprigs of parsley.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH VALLEY ROAD?

Which Question is Answered Before it is Asked by the Gingery Contributor.

The Gingery Contributory of the Passaic Valley News continues to add to the enjoyment of life in Berkeley Heights, New Providence and contiguous territory. This is his spiced offering for the week beginning yesterday:

"Other places may have as bad roads as the Valley, but none has so many different kinds, or displays so much ingenuity in devising new styles of badness. It was thought that the road from Berkeley Heights to Union Village was the worst possible, and perhaps it was, with its fathomless deposits of Batter and Brickbats. (What Gifted Hookins was it, by the way, who invented the Brickbat system as a rival to Telford and MacAdam?) But the Fifty-Seventh Variety of unique and unapproachable badness was reserved for the Valley Road itself.

"Last week they got to work to make some much needed repairs at Gillette, from the top of the hill at Rathje's to Naydorff's Corner and beyond. First they spread some cracked stone on, to fill up the ruts; then they became obsessed by the insane notion, which prevails so largely in this region, that dirt of some kind must be spread upon the stone to serve as a 'binder.' Now Gillette is noted for its clay, which is particularly sticky, with a tenacity like unto that of glue and cobbler's wax in their most tenacious estate. So Meck the Smart thought, or thought that he thought, that it would be a fine thing to use clay for a binder. So he got a lot, of the very purest and stickiest that could be found and spread an inch or so of it upon the cracked stone, for a 'binder.'

"Well, it bound; there can be no question of that. And when a wagon was driven along that road, the clay clave to the tires closer than a brother. It stuck to the tires and rolled up and around them in big sheets, twelve or fifteen inches wide and half a mile long, lifting with it every chip and fragment of the crushed stone and thus leaving the old roadbed underneath as clean as though it had been scraped and sandpapered. One traveller reports that he had an unbroken strip of it wrapped thirty-seven times around one of his wheels, and he got rid of it only by loosening the end, spiking it to the ground with some railroad spikes and then driving backward and unwrapping the thing as you would unroll a roll of carpet.

"The latest proposition is to pile wood along the road and set fire to it and bake the clay, and thus have a brick-paved street!"

2,000 NAMES IN PETITION FOR AN ARMORY SITE

New Brunswick, May 25.—Bearing a petition with 2,000 signers from every section of Middlesex county, military and civic leaders went before the Board of Freeholders and asked that a site be purchased for the erection of an armory for Company H, Second Regiment.

General Dennis F. Collins, of Elizabeth, commander of the Second Brigade, headed the military delegation, accompanied by Col. Reading of the Second Regiment, and Captain Willard P. Clark, of Company H. Mayor John J. Morrison and President Charles A. McCormick, of the New Brunswick Board of Trade were the civic representatives.

The Legislature passed bills last winter providing for the building of the armory, the county to purchase a site. The appropriations bill did not provide for the building, but this will be done next year if the county gives the necessary ground.

The opinion expressed in the petition and by the spokesmen before the Board was that the armory should be located in New Brunswick where nearly all the militiamen live. The Board will take the matter under advisement.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

Henry Miller's expert knowledge of the value of contrast in lighting effects has never been manifested to better advantage than in his present big hit, "The Rainbow," now approaching the fourth month of its record-breaking run at the Liberty theatre in New York. When the curtain rises for the first act of "The Rainbow," the audience gets a distinct impression that there is something out of the ordinary in the stage scene. This impression is due to the fact that no footlights or border lights are in use. The scene, a luxuriously furnished Fifth avenue apartment is lighted only by a tall red-shaded electric lamp standing near the center of the room. A gleam of white light from a card room across the corridor casts as somewhat stronger illumination at the back of the stage. This sombre lighting is maintained throughout the opening scene of the first act, in which the lonely life of the father of the story is clearly shown to an audience. At the end of the scene a big bronze clock over the mantle shows three hours past midnight. Just before the curtain falls, after the owner of the apartment has etired, a butler opens a window wide, letting in the sound of a distant tugboat, and a rush of cool night air that makes the curtains stand out. Then he turns out the single light, and as the scene ends the only illumination of the room comes from the moonlight streaming through the window. The curtain is down only a few seconds when it rises the same room is again disclosed, but the atmosphere is in striking contrast to the first scene. All windows and doors are open, and the warm morning light pouring in makes every object dance in the vivid sunshine. Through a window at the right of the room an audience can see an apple tree in full blossom. Birds flit through the shimmering mass of pink and white blossoms, mingling their tiny notes with the strident music of a hand-organ playing obsolete tunes a block away down the avenue. This is the scene that introduces the dainty young girl who has come to meet the "daddy" she has not seen since she was a baby, and upon whose life she is soon to exert an influence that results in a complete metamorphosis of his character. Words alone could not convey the changed atmosphere of the story. The preparation for the little girl's entrance into her father's lonely existence is made doubly effective by Henry Miller's absolute genius for details.

HOPE TO QUELL REVOLT IN CUBA

Dispatches Received at Washington Are Conflicting.

GOMEZ TREASURY EMPTY.

If Cuban Government Fails It's Settled That American Troops Will Be Sent, Although There's No Intention of Intervention.

Washington, May 25.—According to statements made by officials of the war and state departments, the next twenty-four hours will demonstrate whether the Cuban government can suppress the negro revolt or not.

The uprising has not yet formed itself, and if the Cuban government can act with sufficient energy it is believed here the negroes can be effectually subdued. If the government should fail in the next few days it is regarded here as certain that American troops will be sent to Cuba promptly. There is no intention of intervening.

Dispatches received at the war and state departments were conflicting. Some of these said that conditions were rapidly improving, while others declared things were growing worse.

Cause of Uprising.

Theories as to the cause of the negro uprising are equally diverse. It is declared by many that the negroes are fighting to obtain the abrogation of the law prohibiting the organization of a political party in the interest of their race.

By others it is asserted that the uprising is due to the determination of the prominent negroes, known as leaders, to gain political preferment by main force. The most persistent statement is that the revolt is being fomented for the purpose of bringing about American intervention.

The Cuban army and rural guard is filled with negroes who are not expected to remain loyal should the negro movement meet with successes. The present policy of the negro leaders seems to be one of depredation and looting, together with outrages upon the person. More negroes are expected to be attracted by these features of the revolt than if the rebels formed themselves into armies and engaged in open battle with the government forces. The Cuban government predicted the suppression of the revolt within ten days.

Gomez Treasury Empty.

The Gomez government will in a few days be face to face with another most serious phase of the situation. The treasury is practically empty, and the daily expense of the field operations already undertaken are most expensive, and it is not known where the money to defray the cost will come from.

at the carnival held by the Knights of Columbus. There will be on exhibition one of the strangest of all human beings, Minnie Ha-Ha, the Australian Bush Girl. She is the only one that represents her peculiar race of people alive in America. Stands 3 feet 9 inches in height, weighs 39 pounds, and when angry has the strength of two men combined. The many moods of Minnie Ha-Ha are a source of continued interest. On moment she is quiet and gentle, mimicking all sorts of people and things, and the next moment she displays spiteful, weird and vindictive feelings, being turned by the slightest circumstance. She readily understands all that is said in her presence in English. Her own language, that of the Australian Bushman, she has forgotten, so long is it since she was brought to this country. She relishes being on exhibition, and as this will be her first appearance in this city, there is no doubt but what That Girl, Minnie Ha-Ha will be the leading attraction at the carnival. **

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

It used to be "to be, or not to be." Today it's "Ted-die or not Ted-die; that is the question."

Instead of the N. P. H. S.- P. H. S. game today it will be Teddy, for the game has been postponed a week.

After hearing the Colonel keep right on going until you reach Parker Field, where you will find the Commercials arguing with the Spicer team, in the Manufacturer's League race.

Dunellen is hooked up with the Raritan bunch again this afternoon at Somerville. In the first game Manager Bogardus' team won 7 to 2 but the opposition has been materially strengthened since that game and mean to make the railroaders work harder than they did before. Warry McLoughlin will take care of things for the Dunellen team.

Nine in a row for the Giant Wonder, Marquard. He turned Brooklyn on its head yesterday afternoon 6 to 3.

And the Yankees won a game from the Senators, the Hilltop team getting busy with the stick and clouting 16 hits while the visitors gathered 15 bingles from Quinn.

Incidentally Jack Martin had a rather busy day. He was at the bat three times, got one bingle, four putouts, stole two bases, participated in a fast double play and made but one inexpensive slip-up.

The charter relinquished by the Washington team of the United States League has been purchased by Buffalo.

One more freshet added to the flood of hard luck that the Phillies have been playing in for the past two seasons occurred yesterday afternoon when in a game with the Boston Braves Earl Moore broke his hand, in trying to get one of Arthur Devlin's liners. It is reported that he will be lost to the phillies entirely now, and that he will never be able to play baseball again.

Twenty-five men are struggling this afternoon over a hundred mile course for places on the Olympic bicycle team. The course lays over a thirteen mile road circuit and nine miles on the Newark Velodrome.

Both the start and the finish will be at the Velodrome where the speed fans have flocked in immense numbers of late.

The Athletes do not seem to be climbing very rapidly now days. They dropped another to the Red Sox yesterday.

Before the end of yesterday's game in Brooklyn Matty strolled towards the clubhouse, and as he passed in front of the grand stand was given a hand. One fan yelled "You're still there, old boy." Matty turned and smiled.

H. G. M.—The batting order cannot be changed. The players must bat in the last inning as they have throughout the game. Another man however who has not participated in the game up until the time of going to bat may be sent in to bat for another. This does not change the batting order.

Thursday, Decoration Day, will see a double header at Crescent Oval. The Cuban Giants will make the rumpus both morning and afternoon.

SCOTCH PLAINS TEAM WILL MEET MADISON

Scotch Plains will meet the Madison A. C. tomorrow afternoon at the Plains. Nibs Hand will be back and the home team's lineup and will take care of the twisters of Miller, Frederickson or Fulton.

The Plains lineup has been announced as follows: Baldwin, cf; Gray, 3b; Frentz, 1b; Hand, c; Heller, 2b; Halbert, lf; Mullen, ss; Miller, rf or p; Fulerton, rf or p, and Frederickson, reserve.

ONLY S. S. ATTENDANTS CAN BECOME PLAYERS

Must Attend School Four Times Before They Can Become Members.

Instead of it being necessary for a member of any of the representative teams, that are members of Sunday-school League, to attend Sunday-school six out of the twelve Sundays that preceded the opening of the League season next Saturday the directors at their meeting last night decided that attendance at four out of the preceding eight would be sufficient to qualify or after the season had opened four consecutive sessions.

This will mean that some of the members of the Sunday-schools that have joined since April first will be eligible to play in the opening games, which will materially strengthen some of the teams. Also it will mean that members of the different schools who have been away to school during the year will have to attend four instead of eight sessions before they are eligible. Most all of the teams will be materially effected by this rule and the games will undoubtedly be made much more interesting as a result.

The question of umpires and official scorers was brought up and it was decided that each manager should submit the names of two capable men who will be able to fill these positions. In the case of two managers names were submitted and accepted by the directors.

These umpires will be subject to a schedule and at no time will the umpires appointed by a particular manager umpire any game in which this manager's team share participate. This will eleviate to a larger extent any argument or disagreement.

The expenses of the League will be equally distributed among the managements so that the financial burden shall not fall upon any one team. Each manager will be taxed $6.50 for the traveling expenses for 13 men to games played outside of the city, but no such expense shall be attached to any game played when both teams are members of Sunday-schools from this city.

Next Saturday afternoon will see the fight on in full swing with a team from each of the six Sunday-schools including Temple Baptist, South Plainfield Baptist, First Baptist, Park Avenue Baptist, Monroe Avenue and Hope Chapel, fighting it out for the league championship. And Plainfield will be full of baseball.

COUNTRY NEEDS WATERWAYS.

Delegates of International Congress Applaud Wilson.

Trenton, N. J., May 25.—Welcoming some 300 delegates to the International Association of Navigation congresses in the assembly chamber, Governor Wilson, in urging water transportation facilities, declared that the United States is only beginning to realize the shortsightedness of the policy by which it has deprived itself of a merchant marine and turned over the carrying trade of the world to other nations.

The delegates broke into applause when the governor asserted later that the navigation congress represents the links of friendship between the great nations it represents.

GIRL OF 14 TRIES SUICIDE.

Locks Herself In Bathroom and Turns on the Gas.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 25.—Locking herself in the bathroom of her home Saide Witzenfeld, fourteen, turned on the gas at full head and laid down on the floor to die. The girl's mother, Mrs. Adolph Witzenfeld, detected the odor of gas issuing from the bathroom and when her daughter refused to open the door she hurled her frail strength against it in the vain hope that she might succeed in battering it down.

BOY IS DROWNED; MOTHER MAY DIE

HAS DEATH GRIP ON BOAT

Youth, Playing With Tin Boat, Which Floated Off Float, Tries to Recover It, and He Sinks Before Help Arrives. Parents Are Prostrated.

Red Bank, N. J., May 25.—William, the seven-year-old son of Joel E. McQueen of the Public Service Electric company, was drowned in the Shrewsbury river off the Monmouth Boat clubhouse.

The boy was playing with a tin boat which floated off the club float. In reaching for the boat the lad fell in and sank before anybody could reach him. Reuben White recovered the body by the use of a clam rake. The tongs caught the tin boat on which the boy had a death grip.

The father suspected something was wrong when his son did not come home for supper. When he reached the scene and found that his boy was drowned he was frantic with grief. Coroner Harry Foy took the remains to the parents' home. The mother is in a critical condition, and she did not learn of her son's death until the body reached the house.

LA FOLLETTE SCORES PASTOR

Does Not Believe In Prohibition, He Tells Clergyman.

Asbury Park, N. J., May 25.—In his quest of primary votes Senator La Follette entered the New Jersey camp meeting country and became involved in a controversy here with a clergyman. The Wisconsin senator had finished his speech and was turning to take his hat when the Rev. J. T. Scott, a veteran Indian missionary of forty years' experience, called to him from the floor.

"Do you believe in prohibition?" asked Mr. Scott.

"No," answered the candidate almost before the question was out.

The crowd cheered this answer and Senator La Follette went on:

"I don't think that was quite fair of you. That had not entered into the discussion of the campaign and is not an issue, but you have my answer."

MUSTN'T MENTION TAFT.

Conditions Under Which Roosevelt May Address Princeton Students.

Princeton, N. J., May 25.—Princeton's undergraduates will hear Colonel Roosevelt in Alexander hall next Monday evening, the day before the New Jersey primaries, but President John G. Hibben, in an announcement made public today, has stipulated that there shall be no personal reference to President Taft at the meeting.

Permission to hold the meeting in Alexander hall, near the center of the campus and the only suitable building in Princeton for this kind of a meeting, was granted by Dr. Hibben only on this condition.

Princeton's president took this action owing to Presirent Taft's recent visit to President Hibben's inauguration.

WARM WELCOME FOR PRES'T

who had done his best to act and live up to the best traditions of the high office which he held.

"I am sorry," said President Taft at the beginning of his speech, "to have to take part in a political discussion, and to vary from a course which has always been the course adopted by Presidents of the United States—not to take part in any polical discussion while holding office.'

While a strong sense of duty brought him out, the President continued, and had it not been for the unpreceedented circumstances that had presnted themselves to the public and himself in this camaign, he should have remained in Washington. He would hove been content to abide by the judgment of the American public. But the intervention of Mr. Roosevelt, the extraordinary doctrines he had promulgated the character of the campaign he had carried on put an entirely different complexion on the situation.

If he did not come forth, continued the President, and show what the real crisis was, and what it meant for the American people he would not be deserving of the best traditions of his office. Raising his voice he added: "I am here for the purpose of criminaţion not recrimination. I am not here to redeem my reputation from the unfounded accusations that have been made against my administration, or clearing my personal reputation. I am content to abide by the judgment of the American people when the clouds have rolled by, and the mists of misconception have cleared away—nor am I here for personal ambition."

Most significant was the following remark: "I have had one term and that is more than most Americans receive. I can get along without a second term and be happy; and no doubt I would be happier if I was not engaged in contending for a second term."

In his effort to refute the charges made against him by Colonel Roosevelt the President, took his audience back to his nomination at Chicago four years ago. When he now thought of the emphatic assurances, pledges and superlative praise lavished on him by Mr. Roosevelt then and his attitude now it brought the blushes to his cheeks, said Mr. Taft.

Regarding the tariff the President pointed out that it had been a most useful act and according to statistics it worked out at fifteen per cent. below the Dingley bill for which it was substituted. It gave the Philippines free trade which has trebled the trade with those islands. Then it gave him authority to say to Europe and the rest of the world, "If you don't stop trade discriminations against us I will increase the tariff against you," and in that way abolished discriminations and greatly increasted our foreign trade. Indeed, so much that it has been greater in these last three years than ever befor in history.

In the last year of Mr. Roosevelt's administration, the speaker continued, the government was running behind and there was a deficit of fifty millions. Under the tariff bill and the economies which the present administration introduced the end of the first year showed a surplus of forty millions and there had been a surplus ever since.

Speaking next of the railroad bill passed during his administration, Mr. Taft saw no reason why Mr. Roosevelt should criticise and say that such a measure was won by the progressives or "insurgents."

"If I had not signed it," said the President, "it would never have passed. That of course brought me into remote connection with the bill," he humorously added.

The President then recited in detail the achievements of his administration, declaring that they were not spectacular or of the progressive cult—which meant not talk progressiveness, but real progress. To Mr Roosevelt's assertions that he was a reactionary, an aristocrat, puzzle-witted lacking imagination and sympathy he had nothing further to say than that such empty persiflage was not worth answering. But he at least knew the difference between a surplus and a deficit.

Continuing, the President said that he opposed the Colonel for several reasons. One was on account of the campaign Roosevelt had carried on against him, another was because of the Colonel's advocacy of the recall of judicial decisions, a third reason he gave was that Mr. Roosevelt's nomination would be a departure from the third term tradition. There was a crisis confronting the country, he declared, and constitutional government was threatened.

"This republic," he said, "cannot be dependent upon any one man, and the moment that it is sugested and that suggestion followed, and the people become dependent upon one man, the glory of the republic will depart, the constitutional features will be destroyed and we shall no longer feel the pride that now throbs in every American's heart, that for 125 years we have demonstrated and vincidated the vision and permanence of popular government.'

After the theatre meeting President Taft said a few words to several hundred people congregated in Park avenue, who had been unable to get into the theatre. The President, with his party, then left for Elizabeth, making short addresses at Westfield, Fanwood and Garwood on the way.

HISTORIC ROCK MEMORIAL

ton's Rock. It is one of very large size—being about 25 feet in height and from 30 to 40 in circumference. The bold projection which nature has given it from the surface of the eminence, renders it a fine position for taking an extensive view of the country below.

"In the summer of 1777 the American Army was stationed at various places on the plain below—at New Market, Middlebrook, etc.

"After the retreat of Sir William Howe from New Brunswick—and upon his changing his movements—and marching from Amboy toward where Plainfield now is—Washington retreated to the heights in face of the enemy. The advance guard of Howe's army fell in with Lord Stirling's division. A skirmish ensued, and, upon the approach of the column under Cornwallis, Stirling was obliged to reteat. Howe pursued him to Westfield, and on the next day returned to Amboy. Washington was at this time on the Rock, inspecting the operations of the armies on the plain.

"At various times he resorted to this place to ascertain the movements of the enemy. This circumstances has given the Rock a sacred character to the people of the present day, which, in connection with the beautiful prospect if affords, has made it a place of resort for parties of pleasure.

"The scene is one of uncommon beauty. The whole country, apparently, lies level as a map at the feet of the spectator, for a circuit of sixty miles. On the left appears the spires of New York City, part of the bay, Newark, Elizabeth, Rahway and New Brighton. Directly in front are Amboy and Raritan Bays. To the right New Brunswick and heights of Princeton and Trenton; and far to the southeast the eye stretches over the plains of Monmouth to the heights of Navesink. Beautiful villages bedeck the plain; and cultivated fields, farm houses and numerous groves of verdant trees are spread around in pleasant profusion."

The time referred to in this flowery narrative is undoubtedly the summer of 1777, the latter part of that famous campaign back and forth across the Jerseys, when, as some writer observes, "Washington played his masterly game of tag with the British but managed to be always it." It was about the end of May that he broke up his camp at Morristown and shifted it to Middlebrook (now Bound Brook) ten miles from New Brunswick.

"Sullivan with his division was stationed on the right at Princeton" (I am quoting Washington Irving). "With the rest of his force Washington fortified himself in a position naturally strong among hills in the rear of the village of Middlebrook. His camp was on all sides difficult of approach and he rendered it still more so by intrenchments. The high grounds about it commanded a wide view of the country around Brunswick, the road to Philadelphia and the course of the Raritan, so that the enemy could make no important movement on land without his perceiving it."

The object of this move was, undoubtedly, to keep close watch on Sir William Howe, whose army had been in winter quarters at Amboy and New Brunswick, and to prevent his re-crossing the Delaware and moving on Philadelphia. He had not long to wait, for—

"On the night of June 13th General Howe sallied forth from New Brunswick, as if pushing for the Delaware, but his advance guard halted at Somerset Court house (now Millstone Village) eight or nine miles distant. Apprised of this movement Washington reconnoitred the enemy from the heights above the camp." (With the heavy timber growth of those early days, what spot more likely than Washington Rock?). "The enemy, however, instead of giving battle rested on their arms, took up a strong position, having Millstone creek on their left and the Raritan all along their front, an proceeded to fortify themselves with bastions."

"It was a question with Washington whether their action was a real move towards Philadelphia, or an attempt to lure his little army from their strong position."

After several moves and countermoves the before mentioned skirmish with Lord Stirling (whose division, by the way, was said to be waiting at the "Metouchin Church") took place. He was obliged to fall back on the heights, and was followed as far as Westfield by the British, where they halted, disappointed in the main object of their expedition, i. e., to draw Washington into a general engagement. The British commander reported:

"Pursuit continued as far as Westfield only, the day proving so intensely hot, the soldiers could with difficulty march no further."

(We, who know what the plains of Jersey can be on a sizzling June day cannot, under the circumstances, but compassionate the scarlet clad British soldier; nor do we wonder that he was glad to retreat, via Spanktown—now Rahway—to Amboy, board his ships and sail away, so closing the campaign in the Jerseys. A proceeding that Washington watched from the heights.)

The other reference I have chosen to prove the claims of Washington Rock to our interest and protection is even more to the point, because more intimate and local. It is an extract from a letter dated Nov. 25, 1897, written by the late George W. Fitz-Randolph to Mrs. John F. Harman; Mrs. Harman having written him at the request of the Continental Chapter of the D. A. R., Mr. Randolph says:

"In the year 1777 or '78 Washington, with 6,000 men was encamped on the Ridge at Middlebrook near and west of Bound Brook. The British army were encamped at New Brunswick, Rahway and Perth Amboy, making incursions in the surrounding country. Doubtless with an intent of guarding against a serious incursion or surprise, Washington was on his way to the top of the mountain back of Green Brook. Be that as it may, he, with an aide-de-camp, mounted, rode in the gateway and up to a group of men standing between the house and the barn on the farm now known as the Jonah Vail farm. Washington said: 'Can any of you gentlemen guide me to some spot on the mountains from whence a good view of the plain below can be obtained?' Edward Fitz-Randolph, one of the group, said: 'I know of the best point on the mountains for that purpose,' and added that, if he had his horse, he would take him to it. Thereupon the General requested his aide to dismount and await his return. Fitz-Randolph, mounted upon the aide's horse, piloted the General to the Rock, which today bears the historic name of 'Washington's Rock.'

"I have given the above nearly word for word, as given to me by Ephraim Vail, who died a few years since, aged 90 and over, on the farm where he was born and raised. Josiah Vail gave me the same version of the incident; indeed any of the old residents of Green Brook would corroborate the same, were they alive. All these Vails were Quakers, owning adjoining farms, and their word is as reliable and authentic as are similar facts which, in the same way make up history.

"Edward Fitz-Randolph (my grandfather) mentioned above, was at the time a young man, unmarried living with his parents at Piscataway and was visiting his friends at Green Brook; on this particular day he was visiting John Vail, grandfather of Josiah Vail, whose son now lives on the farm. He, Fitz-Randolph, was an ardent Quaker and sat with Ephraim Vail and others on the facing seat in the old Meeting House by the depot, which he, being a mason, helped to build in 1788."

(Signed)

"GEORGE W. FITZ-RANDOLPH."

This, then, is the story of the Rock. It cannot be called tradition, for the history quoted was written at a time hardly more distant from the Revolution than are we of today from the Civil War, and the local evidence was given viva voce.

The seeker after further proof can turn to Lossing's "Field Book of the Revolution" where, along with an unrecognizable wood-cut of Washington Rock, he will find a detailed account of its history and a description of the author's visit to the spot.

By all of these it seems to be clearly and easily established that here at our doors is an historic site, worthy that in some permanent form we should there testify our "Faith to things unseen,

To freedom's birth-right, given us in trust,
Matched with that duty, old as time and new,
Of being brave and true."

MARY I. S. McCUTCHEN.

ROOSEVELT WILL NOT PERMIT ROOT TO ACT

Colonel Declares He Will Control Republican Convention.

Chicago, May 25.—Colonel Roosevelt served notice on the Republican national committee that he would oppose the selection of United States Senator Root as temporary chairman of the national convention.

The Roosevelt message was brought to Chicago by Ormsby McHarg, who has been intrusted with the work of breaking up the Taft delegations in the "solid south" and subsequently representing the Roosevelt claims before the national committee.

Mr. McHarg, who said he spoke with the authority of Colonel Roosevelt concerning Mr. Root, declared that the senator would not be permitted to call the national convention to order if the Roosevelt men controlled the convention. The national committee's selection, Mr. McHarg said, would be ignored by Colonel Roosevelt and his followers, who would proceed to take charge of the convention immediately after the chairman of the national committee had called it to order.

SUMMER IN CONGRESS.

Washington, May 25.—Summer officially arrived in the house when Speaker Clark tucked a huge handkerchief under his chin to save a wilting collar, discarding dignity of the speaker's rostrum.

Uncle Joe Cannon, when he saw Clark's neck protector, unbuttoned the bottom button of his vest—the only one he ever fastens, while Representative Sereno Payne and dozens of other members followed suit and daringly displayed gorgeous hued suspenders.

Emperor Against Army Duels.

Berlin, May 25.—The Tagliche Rundschau says that as a result of the strong agitation against dueling in the army it is stated in high military circles that the emperor will soon issue an order forbidding duels except in rare instances where honor has been grossly offended.

STATE REJECTS PLANS; SCHOOL PARTLY BUILT

New Providence, May 25.—The New Providence Township School Board has received notification through its architect that the plans and specifications for the new school building have not been accepted by the State.

The foundation is already in place and everything is ready for the laying of the hollow tile walls. But the State insists upon concrete to the first tier of beams and the hollow tile filled with concrete to the second tier. The original specifications call for hollow tile from the foundation to roof.

Specifications for the foundation were changed by the Board to concrete and this action, saved them from the trouble of tearing down the entire foundation.

The building committee met Thursday night. President Jeffery was present together with Architect Jacob Wind, of Elizabeth. Mr. Wind admitted that the fault was his in delaying getting the plans and specifications to the State Board for its consideration. He declares, however, that he had the assurances of Inspector of the State Board, Mr. McDermit, on the strength of which he allowed the builder to commence the work of erection.

The appropriation for the building has already been exceeded and the board will have to go to the people for an additional appropriation.

All work on the new school will probably be suspended until the Board is officially notified that the State authorities have rejected the specifications, and until new ones are approved.

LA FOLLETTE NOT COMING.

Owing to the fact that he must hurry West to speak in South Dakota, United States Senator Robert M. LaFollette, the pioneer Progressive candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, has changed his plans and will not speak here. This announcement was made this morning by Howard C. Tracy, the LaFollette delegate in Union county. LaFollette, however, will address a meeting at Columbia Hall, New Brunswick, at 8 o'clock and his friends in this city are invited by Mr Tracy to attend that demonstration.

LIVELY COMEDY PRESENTED BY BORO H. S. JUNIORS

The Junior class of the North Plainfield High School presented a lively farcical comedy, "Polly in Politics," at the Park Cino, last evening. There was a good attendance. The piece was screamingly funny and the audience was kept convulsed. It was voted a big success by all who witnessed it.

The different roles were filled in excellent style and Robert Kline as "Colonel Jasper Lemmons" scored a big hit. The other characters were Thomas Fellgraton, Pierce Chalmer hill, J. LeRoy Herrman, Miss Florence Coons, Miss Helen Hughes, Miss Flora Krausse and Miss Marion Mair. At the conclusion of the comedy the High School boys and girls held an impromptu dance.

Albert Earl acted as coach for the youthful artists; D. Levitz and G. Townley were managers, and also supplied the music; Messrs. Krewson and Jackson, stage managers; property manager, Alfred Schroeder. The furniture was loaned by L. B. Van Camp.

ENJOYED DANCE.

The annual dance of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the A. O. H. Division No. 1, was held last night in Sebring's Auditorium. There were seventy-five couples present and the occasion was very much enjoyed. Miss Kate Keogh was chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements. Paroubek's orchestra, and Michael Donovan, violinist, supplied the music.

This will be the last musical service of the season. The quartet is composed of Miss Louise Samuel, soprano; Mrs. Helen B. Downer, contralto; Aleck MacGowan, tenor, and Edgar A. Cole, baritone.

ABBOTT DETROIT

"Guaranteed For All Time"

Abbottisms

MEXICO is a troublesome country to visit right now, and twice around the borders of the United States is going a long way from home, and Alaska is too far off to be a really satisfactory summer resort. But a car that has covered all this ground will do all you expect of your car—and then some.

The Abbott-Detroit "Bull-Dog" has done all this—52,000 miles of it—and is still running eagerly to the completion of the 100,000 mile run that is laid out for it.

And every Abbott "30" you buy off our salesroom floor is a duplicate of the "Bull-Dog," improved and perfected by subsequent experiments.

Chances are you'll ultimately become an Abbott owner. So you're only forestalling your needs by inspecting the line now—the seven-passenger "44" at $1800, and the five-passenger "30"—a little smaller, a little lighter—but the same wonderful car—at $1350.

DISTANCE RUNNER CATCHES SUSPECT

"Jack" Fritts' Training on Cinder Track Leads to Midnight Fugitive's Undoing.

CAPTURE ENDS CHASE

Barefooted Athlete Keeps on When Marshal Stops for Wind, and Runs Down Quarry—Attempt on Benjamin Schenk's House.

The athletic training of John Fritts, distance runner and ball player, was brought into requisition on a chase after an alleged thief late on Saturday night. Brought into action by excited shouts from outside he rushed from his house barefooted, and after a prolonged chase he captured a man who is alleged to have attempted to enter the house of Benjamin Schenck, of Mountain avenue.

Mr. Schenck and his wife were getting ready for bed when the latter heard a noise as if someone were trying to open a window. Schenck went cautiously out and after looking all around the house, could discover no one. He saw a bicycle standing against a fence and could hear the cooing of a pair of doves in an adjoining field.

This he told his wife on re-entering the house. Another noise, louder than at first, attracted their attention and Mrs. Schenck screamed. Her husband rushed upstairs and opening a window saw a man on the porch roof. Darting downstairs and out of the door, Schenck saw the man sliding down. Schenck grappled with the intruder. He realized after a bit that the other was getting the best of him and loosed his hold to hit the burglar on the point of the jaw, which sent the man reeling.

The thief took to his heels and made for the shelter of the bushes. The police were notified by telephone, and Marshal Schenck arrived and so did John Fritts. The bushes were beaten and the quarry bolted with both Schencks and Fritts in close pursuit. Several shots were fired after the retreating figure but they did not stay his flight.

The fugitive ran in the direction of Watchung avenue, darting around houses and up driveways in an endeavor to shake off his pursuers. This he would have succeeded in doing had not Fritts been on his trail. Both Schencks becoming winded, Fritts snatched his gun from Marshal Schenck and then with the speed he uses on the track at the finish of a race he shot after the fugitive and collared him as he burst into Watchung avenue. He held him prisoner until the others arrived.

The prisoner was taken to the station house, where he described himself as Robert Hersog, of South avenue. He will be given a hearing this evening. According to police records, Hersog was convicted about a year ago of attempted robbery and escaped with a $50 fine.

STABBED AND BADLY HURT AT A WEDDING

One Hun in Danger of Death and Another Held as His Assailant.

During a row with a fellow Hungarian at a wedding in Polish Hall, on East Second street, Saturday afternoon, Stephen Sago was stabbed in the abdomen and seriously injured. At Muhlenberg Hospital, to where he was taken after the stabbing, it was said today that he had a chance to recover, but that his condition was grave.

Andrew Skrasky, who lives on Johnson avenue, is being held at Police Headquarters, charged with the stabbing. He was remanded by City Judge William G. De Meza today for arraignment tomorrow, by which time the physicians may be able to make a more or less definite statement regarding the wounded man's chances.

According to the police, Skrasky and Sago quarreled at the wedding over a question of their respective abilities as laborers. Skrasky is alleged to have drawn a long knife and plunged it halfway in Sago's body. In the uproar that followed Skrasky disappeared. Fred Walsh, of McKinley place, one of those attracted to the scene by the excitement, telephoned for th police, and Patrolman Bader was sent to the hall.

Bader made a hurry-up journey to Skrasky's house. Skrasky jumped out of a window as the policeman approached, and ran into an adjoining house. Bader drew his revolver and went in after him. He was found under a bed. Bader made him captive without trouble.

OLD AND YOUNG VETERANS HEAR MEMORIAL SERMON

Members of Winfield Scott Post, Grand Army of the Republic; Camp Bagley, Spanish War Veterans, and the Sons of Veterans heard Rev. Edwin Shaw tell of the debt that the county owes them last night at their annual service in the Seventh Day Baptist church. The "boys" in blue came to the church in a body.

The text was taken from John 4, 38, "Other men labor and ye are entered into their labors." Mr. Shaw pointed out how, at the country's call these boys left the store, the plow, the shop and the school and were transported to the southern fields to labor for the freedom of others. As a result of those labors the slaves were freed and the attempt to disrupt a united country was frustrated. We, today have entered into the results of these labors and it is given us to enjoy an undivided union whose citizens have a common purpose.

Over a century ago, continued Mr. Shaw, our forefathers fought for their own freedom; one half a century ago our fathers fought that the slave within our gates might be freed, and a little more than a decade ago this country again went to war with another nation that the hand of oppression might be lifted from an alien people. Thus we have advanced, for it is in the service of others and not in our own that we fight in these advanced days of civilization. During the service J. B. Cottrell, Jr., sang a solo.

APRON SHOWER FALLS ON MISS REGER, BRIDE-TO-BE

Miss Sadie Reger, of Bloomfield, a former popular teacher in the public school of Scotch Plains, was given an apron shower, Saturday afternoon, at the home of Miss Harriett M. Squiers, Scotch Plains. The pleasant affair was in honor of Miss Reger's engagement to John Hughes, of Bloomfield. They will be married in the fall. The shower was planned as a surprise, and it was all that.

Miss Reger had been told that the gathering was to be a Saturday afternoon reunion of teachers of the past and present. Everything went splendidly. School and social chat was enjoyed, refreshments served and then it was proposed that the company sing "Should Old Acquaintances Be Forgot?" Miss Reger presided at the piano, and as the last stanza was being sung aprons and packages of all kinds and descriptions began showering about her. It was some time before Miss Reger recovered, but finally was able to enjoy the joke and admit that her former colleagues had given her one of the most pleasant surprises of her life.

ROUSING GREETING GIVEN ROOSEVELT AT CITY PARK

Candidate Himself Thrilled by the Warmth of His Welcome--Sledgehammer Impromptu Speech Inspired by the Great Ovation.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt and his automobile arm descended upon Plainfield on Saturday afternoon and were greeted by a ociferous throng, variously estimated at from seven to ten thousand people—a crowd fully three times as large as that which hailed President Taft the preceding afternoon. So delighted was the Colonel with his reception that he launched into an entirely new address, no part of which he had previously delivered in his tour of New Jersey, and he became so interested in his subject that he talked for twenty minutes after his campaign managers had given him the "high-sign," that it was time to stop.

In his address the Colonel made it plain that he expects to be nominated, and that he is going to see that an acceptable person is named as temporary chairman of the convention when it gathers at Chicago next month. He scored the bosses; said that he had not attacked the constitution, as his opponents claimed, and praised the people as a whole, expressing his great faith in their judgment.

The Colonel had been having trouble with his voice prior to reaching Plainfield, but when he saw the sea of upturned faces here, he seemed to forget all about the voice, which had its accustomed strength and vigor throughout the entire address.

Mr. Roosevelt was over an hour late when he reached City Park, where the meeting was held. The chauffeur driving his car had gotten off the road from New Brunswick to Bound Brook, and lost time that way. Then at the latter place a crowd of three or four thousand people refused to let him hurry away, because they wanted to hear the whole story.

After he had finished talking here, Colonel Roosevelt told a representative of the Daily Press that the local meeting had been one of the most gratifying of the entire campaign in New Jersey. "They said I was in the opponent's stronghold," said the former President, "but I have not had a more interested or attentive audience since the campaign began."

The first delegation of local people, headed by Mayor Moy, met Colonel Roosevelt at Bound Brook. They had gone to that place in a string of thirty-five or forty automobiles, gaily decorated with flags and bunting. There they heard his address and then joined with the big string of machines which carried the Colonel's party, making over fifty autos in line. At Dunellen the parade stopped long enough to take Mayor Moy from another car into that with the Colonel, and then came at a lively pace down Front street to Park avenue, to Ninth street, and into College place.

When the cars came to a stop the crowd set up a yell which could be heard for blocks. Chief Kiely was on hand with a group of officers in uniform and citizens clothes, and they had all they could do to keep a path through the crowd, the members of which were pushing and shoving in all directions in their efforts to see the visitor. When he went up on the speaking stand another shout went up, which lasted until those on the platform had become seated, and a fringe of small boys and girls had been removed from around the edge of the platform so all could see. In this work the Colonel assisted personally, and when he saw those in the rear crowding up to the platform he went over there and shouted. "Don't crowd, I'll talk to you all."

Mayor Moy took about ten seconds for his introductory remarks. He merely said: "I am not going to make a speech. I only want to introduce the next President of the United States." This was the signal for another prolonged cheer.

While he was talking there was frequent applause and at times laughter, especially when Mr. Roosevelt referred sarcastically to "Boss" Barnes, of New York State. Although he is said to delight in answering questions while on the stump, there was no opportunity given here. One man in the rear of the crowd did shout something which sounded like "How about Matt Quay?" The Colonel stopped, and said, "What was that?" The question came back more feebly than before, and as he was about to ask that it be repeated, a lusty lunged supporter yelled "Give it to the bosses for four years more, Teddy." The speaker turned to the crowd, which was laughing at the sally, and said, "You see he is not afraid to speak up."

At the conclusion of the speech the Colonel's party had to force their way through the jam to the autos, which were waiting to take them to Westfield. All along the streets they were greeted with cheers and the campaign hat was waving in the air the best part of the time until the party had passed Netherwood.

Colonel Roosevelt turned to address the crowd, saying "My friends and fellow citizens: It is a great pleasure to be here today." Hardly had this been spoken before some wag noticed that he was bareheaded, and shouted "Where is your hat, Teddy." The speaker smiled, and shouted back: "In the ring, but it is pretty near time to take it out because the fight is about over." He then launched into his address, which was stenographically taken in full, as follows:

"Now, friends, I have thoroughly enjoyed my three days' trip in New Jersey. I want to say this: I thought the west was quite lively, but New Jersey has given me more of the strenuous life than I ever had yet, and I doubly appreciate the greeting that you men here have given me, and I feel that I have a right to come here and ask you to stand with us, because this is your fight, it is a fight for the right of the people to rule themselves, and it has become more and more evident that that was the fight as time went on. Our opponents haven't one chance of winning by the popular vote, and they know it; our opponents haven't any thought of winning unless they can win by deliberate cheating in the national committee. And, friends, I want to point out this fact to you, where you don't follow the details of the public machinery, and I want to point out this fact in connection with the national committee: the national committee is supposed to pass upon the rights of delegations to sit in the national convention, and if it chooses to, it can turn out the people lawfully elected by the people and put in others contesting delegations in their stead. It is therefore vital to have a national committee that really represents the people.

"The language of our opponents has shown that they intend to try, if it is possible, to use the national committeemen who have been beaten in their states to sit in judgment upon the convention which represents the victory over them. For instance, we have thrashed the bosses out in Illinois and Pennsylvania. We beat them in Pennsylvania 70 to 6, we beat them in Illinois 54 to 2, but the national committeemen who go to Chicago to sit on the makeup of that convention represent, not the 70 delegates from Pennsylvania but the 6; not the 54 delegates from Illinois, but the 2, and that appears in place after place on the national committee. Now, I want our opponents to understand this, if the people are against me I have nothing to say; if you decide against me squarely and fairly I have nothing to say; but if the people decide for me and the discredited bosses and politicians try to offset their judgment and decide against me, I will have a great deal to say, and I won't stand it for a moment. (Prolonged applause).

"We intend that the people shall rule, and we will not permit the discredited bosses, the discredited politicians, the representatives of special privilege in politics and business to offset the verdict that the people themselves have come to. We mean every word we say. When we went into this fight we went into it on the issue that the people had the right to name their own candidates for President, that the people have the right to decide what their government shall be. I give you the reasons for the faith that is in me: I tried my best to convince you that the views that I hold, are the views that this people ought to hold; if I cannot convince you however, I yield to your decision. It is your government. It is for you to say what you wish done. But if I can convince you, and if you come my way, I will not permit the bosses to steal the victory from you (Applause). And the bosses, the professional politicians have been accustomed to try a strong-arm tactics and go at it with impunity, when the fight was merely between two factions of politicians. That is not the fight now.

"The fight is between the people on one side and the bosses and the bread-and-butter brigade of professional politicians on the other (Applause). And I serve notice on them that theb osses and the professional politicians will not be allowed to reap, will not be allowed to defeat the will of the people to reverse the victory that the people won. And another thing, friends, on any question of expediency I am willing to compromise; I won't compromise on a matter of principle (Applause). I have fought this fight on an issue of principle, and there will be no compromise in it. We will win it or lose it; there will be no halfway work. (A voice: You will win it). We will win it. (Applause). Whenever we appeared before the people—why, if we had had primaries in thirty States instead of only in a dozen,

ORANGE GETS A DYNAMITE SCARE

Sixteen Sticks Disappear From Freight Car.

BOYS PLAY WITH THEM.

Woman, Unsuspecting, Sweeps Pieces of Explosive Into Ash Can—Eleven Other Sticks Hidden by Youths In Sewer Pipe.

Orange, N. J., May 27.—The clearing up by the Orange police of the mystery of the disappearance of sixteen sticks of dynamite from a freight car of the Sherman street siding of the Erie railroad reveals that the explosive was kicked about the tenements of Sherman street virtually all day and that one woman, Mrs. Pasquale Zurillo, swept out pieces of one stick and dumped them into an ash can.

The boys rummaging about the box car, which had been left open, found the dynamite nicely packed in open boxes. Patsy Zullo, Edward Kelly and John Martin were the boys.

Boys Hide Explosives.

By the time the policemen had found the youngsters, neither of whom is yet ten years old, they were tired of playing with the dynamite, which they soon discovered was not good to eat. Boylike, however, they had hidden their booty, or such of it as was still intact, in some sewer pipes stored near the freight yard. They led the policemen to the sewer pipes and there revealed eleven sticks still in their original wrappers.

At the freight office it was explained that the dynamite was part of a shipment of fifty cases, some of which was intended for an Orange contractor and part for a contractor in New York state. The car had been opened by the Orange contractor to get his share of the dynamite and through carelessness it had not been closed.

Elmer's Mayor Begins Crusade That Is Pleasing to Autoists.

Elmer, N. J., May 27.—Automobilists who have had to dodge speed traps are now laughing at owners of horse driven vehicles here as the result of a crusade that is being waged by Mayor C. H. Hitchner to compel all vehicles to carry lights after dark.

An odd assortment of lanterns dangled underneath wagons and carryalls or were lashed to whip posts when the farmers drove in town to do their marketing. Officers patrolled the main street, but made fewer arrests than last week, when nine drivers had to pay fines and costs ranging from $2.50 to $5.

Mayor Hitchner's crusade is the result of a number of accidents and near accidents here recently due to the failure of team drivers to observe the state law requiring them to carry lights.

L. T. Russell,

WHY RUSSELL SHOULD GO TO BALTIMORE.

As a newspaper man he has a wide acquaintance with United States senators and congressmen throughout the United States. It is well known that National Conventions are made up largely of senators and congressmen.

Russell has owned and published newspapers in five southern and western states and territories.

He will have friends and acquaintances of long standing on the delegations from Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Kansas. Only two of these states have expressed a preference for Governor Wilson as their FIRST CHOICE. It will be the duty of the New Jersey delegates to go among the delegates from those states and do missionary work in the interest of Governor Wilson. Who can do such service better than one who is a native of that section of the United States and who can talk to those delegates on terms of personal intimacy?

This is not a contest between individuals desiring to satisfy their personal ambition for a little empty honor. It is a battle between Woodrow Wilson and the enemies of the people, and the duty of every voter is to cast his ballot for the best interest of Wilson, without any reference whatever to the individuals submitting their names.—Paid for by L. T. Russell, Elizabeth.

BATTLESHIPS OFF TO CUBAN WATERS

Emergency Orders Are Issued by Navy Department.

BIG LAND FORCE READY.

Believed That It Will Be Necessary to Use Army In Invasion of Mexico. Entire Administration Force at Work on Situation.

RAPID EVENTS IN THE MOBILIZATION OF FLEET.

Rear Admiral Hugo Osterhaus, commanding the Atlantic fleet, arrived off Tompkinsville on board his flagship, the armored cruiser Washington. A few minutes after coming to anchor he received orders to proceed south forthwith.

The battleships Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri and Ohio steamed up the Narrows at full speed, rushed marines and munitions of war aboard and turned south again a few hours later.

The Delaware proceeded up the Hudson river, off West Ninety-sixth street, and began to embark marines.

The battleships Georgia, New Jersey and Rhode Island and the cruiser Montgomery took supplies and marines aboard at Hampton Roads.

The battleship Nebraska is steaming across the gulf of Mexico to join the fleet at Key West. The supply ship Culgoa is at Hampton Roads taking on supplies for the trip south.

Washington, May 27.—Commanding officers of every battalion of marines in the United States have received emergency orders from the navy department directing them to be prepared to start for Cuba at a moment's notice. The additional marines ordered to each of the eight battleships and the armored cruiser Washington that will rendezvous at Key West were increased from 60 to 130, giving each vessel the extraordinary marine complement of 190 men.

The commanding officers of the fleet were instructed to prepare big landing forces of bluejackets.

The significance of this most unusual proceeding is that the department of state is awake to the vital necessity of suppressing the insurrection in Cuba entirely with forces from the fleet. Not one soldier will be sent to Cuba unless the marines and bluejackets are whipped, and the demand for an army becomes imperative.

Both the navy and the army are under direct orders from the department of state. The department believes that it will be compelled to use the army in an invasion of Mexico, and it is determined that every regiment shall have its entire force on American soil, ready for instant movement.

8,400 Naval Men Available.

At least 3,000 marines are available for immediate service. More than 1,000 are now aboard the Prairie, due in Guantanamo today. The marine forces aboard the eight battleships and the armored cruiser number 1,710. More than 100 marines are stationed at Guantanamo.

So big are the crews of the battleships and the cruiser that 600 bluejackets can be landed from each one for service in Cuba. Altogether the naval force now available without calling upon another ship is 8,400 men.

This most effective army will be armed with carbines and cutlasses, which are particularly adapted to the kind of service that is required. It will be supported by machine guns and automatic Colt guns.

Practically the entire administrative force of the navy department was at work. Rear Admiral C. E. Vreeland, aid for operations, was the first to arrive. He was quickly followed by Rear Admiral T. M. Potts, aid for personnel, who is in charge of the assignment of officers.

Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, chief of the bureau of navigation, in charge of the immediate movement of the ships, arrived a few minutes late.

They held an early conference with Assistant Secretary Beekman Winthrop. This is the entire fighting staff of the navy department.

Hurry Wireless Orders Go Out.

Immediately wireless orders were issued to the Third and Fourth battleship divisions to hurry up. As a result of this order the Third division, comprising the New Jersey, Georgia and Rhode Island, dashed into Hampton Roads and are loading stores. The battleship Nebraska, a member of the Third division, reported at Key West and will remain there until the rest of the fleet arrive.

The Fourth battleship division, including the Minnesota, Missouri, Mississippi and Ohio, steamed into Tompkinsville and left for the south a few hours later.

The entire eight battleships, led by the flagship Washington, with Rear Admiral Osterhaus, will be at Key West by Wednesday.

Back of this force, ready for instant service in an emergency, are the First and Second divisions of the battleship fleet, which include eight battleships of even greater strength and bigger crews. Two of these ships, the Florida and Utah, are superdreadnoughts.

The Second division is now under orders to proceed to Hampton Roads to greet and accompany the German fleet, now on its way across the sea.

MONSIGNOR HALTS PANIC WITH PRAYER

Continues Supplication as Crowded Platform Gives Way.

New York, May 27.—Mgr. Lavelle, vicar general of the diocese of New York, standing upon a platform above the unfinished walls of St. Clement's Catholic church, Fortieth street, had just raised his hands to bless the foundations of the edifice when, with a crash that shook the boards on which he stood, another platform behind him collapsed and plunged fifty men, women and children to the floor of the basement, fifteen feet below.

While the faint cries of a score of injured pinned under the debris rose above the resonant clamor of more than 3,000 spectators who had witnessed the accident, the majestic priest, immovable and commanding in his high position, continued to deliver the words of prayer that had followed the blessing.

His calm attitude in the midst of danger had a quick quieting effect upon the excited throngs on the street and inside the building and gave to the police just the few moments necessary to grip the situation and avert a panic.

At least twenty were suffering from bruises and cuts, but there were only seven who accepted the attention of the three ambulance surgeons, two from New York and one from Bellevue hospital, who had been summoned immediately after the crash.

LONDON STRIKERS ASSEMBLE.

Transport Workers Press Demands at Big Trafalgar Square Meeting.

London, May 27.—One of the biggest mass meetings ever held in London took place in Trafalgar square when the transport workers assembled to press their demands. Twenty-seven unions affiliated with the Transport Workers' federation assembled in six contingents which merged at the Mansion House and marched under police escort in a procession which was a mile long. On entering the square the marchers were cheered by a huge crowd which was in waiting. Addresses were made to the strikers from three platforms. The speakers included President Gosling of the Transport Workers' federation, Ben Tillett and others.

Resolutions were adopted insisting that dockmen, lightermen and stevedores receive 20 cents an hour, that all ship workers receive 28 cents an hour for overtime, that a day's work shall be from 7 a. m. to 5 p. m., and that there shall be full recognition of the federation. The strike was originally started because a watchman did not have a union card. Resolutions were also adopted by which the men pledged themselves not to resume work until all their grievances have been settled.

ROOT SAYS HE'LL NOT DECLINE

Expects to Serve as Chairman of Republican Convention.

Washington, May 27.—Senator Elihu Root said that he had no intention of declining the temporary chairmanship of the national Republican convention at Chicago.

Senator Root made the following formal statement: "There is no foundation whatever for the story that I contemplate declining to act as temporary chairman of the Republican national convention. The customary duty of the committee on arrangements requires them to designate some one to render that service. I was notified by the committee that they had designated me, and I accepted the designation. Unless that designation is overruled, as of course it may be by the convention, I shall serve."

Plainfield, N. J., May 27, 1912.

We are a Nation of coffee drinkers. This is quite evident from a Government report which makes the startling statement that the people of the United States drink half as much of that beverage as all Europeans. Brazil is the chief grower and the United States is the chief importer. Annually 2,500,000,000 pounds of coffee enter the international commerce of the world and one-third of it is consumed in this land. Our imports are twice the size of Germany's and three times as great as those of the Netherlands. In fact we consume ten times as much as Great Britain.

The world's leading importers of coffee, according to the latest official reports of the various countries thus far received by the Bureau of Statistics, Department of Commerce and Labor, are: The United States, 875,000,000 pounds; Germany, 404,000,000; Netherlands, 265,000,000; France, 246,000,000; Austria-Hungary, 127,000,000; Belgium, 95,000,000; the United Kingdom, 88,000,000, and Sweden, 65,000,000. Italy, Norway, Switzerland and Denmark also consume considerable quantities, ranging from 45,000,000 to 25,000,000 pounds each. Of the countries on the western hemisphere, Argentina and Cuba each import about 20,000,000 pounds per annum; Canada, about 8,000,000; Chile, 7,000,000, and Uruguray about 3,000,000, while Australia, the island continent, consumes between 1,500,000 and 2,000,000 pounds per annum. Certain of the African countries are comparatively large importers of coffee, the imports into Egypt averaging about 15,000,000 pounds a year; the Cape of Good Hope, 20,000,000, and Algeria, about 15,000,000 pounds.

Galveston was the first American city to adopt the Commission form of Government. That was in 1901. Houston followed in 1905, and in 1907 at least five other Texas cities adopted the system. General laws permitting the adoption of the commission form by cities were passed in Iowa, Kansas, North and South Dakota in 1907, in Mississippi in 1908, in Minnesota Texas and Wisconsin in 1909 and in Illinois in 1910, while in California, Colorado, Michigan, Missouri, Oklahoma, Oregon and Washington cities may adopt the commission plan without special action.

Considerable interest in the commission plan has been aroused in several other States, and in many the passage of general laws permitting the adoption of the commission form by the cities is being urged by civic organizations, officials and citizens generally. The plan is a modern development of municipal government, and as such should receive the most thoughtful consideration of all citizens.

The New York World today carries a real estate advertisement that invites attention. Offering building lots, twenty-five by 10 feet for $35—and on the installment plan at that—some may be misled as to the location of the property. Topping the "ad." in large bold letters is the word "Plainfield" and in the centre of this word in small type is "South." And we read in the tempting offer that "Plainfield and South Plainfield adjoin each other, it would have been perfectly correct for a stranger cannot tell where the dividing line is. South Plainfield is in Middlesex county and is on the Lehigh Valley line, while Plainfield is in Union county and on the Jersey Central. It's a long tramp to South Plainfield.

Remember that the Presidential primaries are open tomorrow from one o'clock in the afternoon until nine o'clock at night. All those who voted at the general election last fall and all those who failed to but have made the required affidavit are qualified to cast their ballots. A list of the polling places will be found elsewhere in this issue.

For the first time, the voters of New Jersey tomorrow will exercise the right to register their preferences for Presidential nominees. The day of the convention of the bosses has gone forever. A new era has come, the people themselves are controlling their own public affairs.

The Old Guard of the Senate is plucking up its courage to tell Lorimer to get out. But a little matter like that won't phase the notorious member from Illinois.

The contributing editor for next Saturday is a member of the Common Council and a man of large affairs. His opinions are always worth serious consideration.

It didn't need the Government forecast for us to know that it's going to be hot this week.

We've heard what both of them had to say; tomorrow they will hear what we have to say.

James Smith, Jr., is getting himself into shape for another good spanking tomorrow.

And on Wednesday, it will be "I told you so."

CROWDS GREET ROOSEVELT

this fight would have been over in April; we would have beaten them in April, if we had had a chance to get at the people. And in Chicago we will put through our program. We intend to have men who believe in the principles for which we stand guide and control that convention, and we intend that they shall declare outright for the principles of popular rule, the genuine rule of the people, and of justice to be had through popular rule.

"We are tired of the bosses, we are tired of the influence of special privilege in politics. Now mind you, friends, my opponents have said that I preach class hatred. Fiddle-de-dee. I have never preached hatred of any class in my life except the class of crooks. I am against the big crook and the little crook; I am against the financial crook and the political crook. And as for the boss, I don't hate the boss. If he will go into honest private business he shall have my blessing, but I want him to quit governing us. We are competent to govern ourselves. I wish to get this country back on the plane on which the men who founded it put it. I wish to make this country, in fact and not merely in name, live up to the ideas and the principles of Lincoln and Lincoln's time (Applause).

"We men, we progressives who are fighting this, we within the Republican party, we are not only standing for the rights of every plain citizen who is a Republican, we are also standing for the rights of every plain citizen in the country, no matter to what party he may belong, for we are standing for the elementary rights of American citizenship: we are standing for the right of every man to count for one vote and no more in public life (Applause). My opponents have said that I attack the multimillionaires. I never have. If the multimillionaire is a square man, I am for him; if he is honest I will defend him in his right to just exactly what anyone else has in politics, to his right to one vote; I will defend the boss in his right to one vote, but it must be his own vote, it mustn't be mine (Applause). I stand and I am sure I state the feeling of every man here when I say that we would jealously protect the rights of every man, the rights of the richest just as we would protect the rights of the poorest. We stand for justice. If there were tyranny of the majority, I should be the first to raise my voice against it for I am against tyranny wherever it appears. But at present, friends, we are not threatened with tyranny of the majority, we are theatened with tyranny of the minority. We are threatened with the tyranny of the boss and of the special privilege, which thrives under the boss and which in return gives to the boss his power.

"Wherever you find bosses in politics, there you find the special interests flourishing rankly, and the boss and the special interests, the beneficiary of special interests, play into one another's hands, each hands the other something that the other needs; the boss gives to the special interests the protection against the people and defrauding the people. So, friends, I hold that it is vital to the perpetuity of our institutions that we upset that combination. And remember this, that the most dangerous men in any such contest as that in which we are now engaged, are the respectable figureheads who are content to act as the tools of the bosses and of special interests, and under the cloak of whose respectability the boss and the special interests epext to rivet their power upon us.

"I feel that in this fight we are engaged in a veritable crusade. The principles I feel, I feel with all my heart and soul. I have tried everywhere in this contest to make my mind felt where the people could vote. I come into New Jersey because here you have a preference primary, the presidential primary, so that I can go over the heads of the politicians and ask the people to decide for themselves. Friends, I don't want to be president unless you, the people, want me to be, and unless you believe in what I stand for and will help me put into practice the principles for which I stand. (Applause.) There is nothing in holding the office for me, I held it. I immensely appreciate the honor conferred upon me by the American people in giving it to me to hold. I shall always be grateful to you.

"What I am concerned with now is the triumph of the principles in which I believe. I am concerned in seeing the triumph of the principle of popular rule. I am concerned in seeing the triumph of justice practically applied in political and business life alike. I am concerned in seeing genuine projects for social and industrial reform put through. I am concerned in seeing the elimination of the boss from politics and of special privilege both from politics and from our industrial life. Now, friends, in this fight, if we are successful, no one law will achieve our purpose. It is a question of the general attitude, the general attitude which is to find its expression in many different laws, both by the national and the State government.

"In the national government, I believe in a protective tariff, but I want to see the protection get into the pay envelope. I want to see the benefit go to the workingman as well as to his employer. It is all straight that a reasonable share of it should appear in dividends, but it must not all stop in the office, a fair share must go down there to the men who actually do the work. Now, so again, I believe in workmen's compensation act. I wish to see in the nation and in the several states laws that will prevent the overworking of women in factories and sweatshops. I wish to see in every State of this Union and wherever the national government has power, a stop put to the employment of children in factories or sweatshops. (Applause.)

"In every great city I wish to see laws that will mean the transformation of the old tenement house districts into regions where self-respecting men and women can live and retain their self-respect and bring up their children to be the kind of citizens that we have a right to expect in this country. (Applause.) And now, friends, in this reformation I wish to see the lead in the movement to get that taken by the men who will not themselves personally benefit from that. I want to see the lead in the movement for the betterment of the conditions of our people taken by men who have no selfish motives to serve in taking it. I ask that those to whom much has been given, take the lead in trying to work for the betterment of the conditions of life among those to whom less has been given. I ask that they do it because they are afraid not to do it. I ask that the lead be taken by the men who feel their souls stirred by the work of righteousness; that that lead be taken by the men upon whom it is borne in that they are indeed their brother's keepers, and think it is a scandal and a shame to us who are well off if we don't do all in our power to help those who are less well off and to help them in the only way in which any man be permanently helped, and help them to help themselves. (Applause.)

"I tell you, friends, I feel at this time the fervor of a crusader. I believe in the principles that I preach, with every fiber of my body; and I want to stir my fellow-countrymen so they will feel the same way. And, men and friends, you have listened to me this afternoon. Now, my opponents say that I preach anarchy. Well, you have heard what I am preaching. I am preaching commonsense and justice. (Applause.) I am preaching the antidote to anarchy. I preaching the doctrine which, if we will only apply it, will take every particle of strength away from every would-be disturber of the government of all our institutions.

"My opponents have said that I attack the constitution. I am the genuine upholder of the constitution. I am preaching Abraham Lincoln's doctrine when he said, 'The people are the masters of the constitution not to overthrow the constitution but to overthrow those who pervert the constitution.' (Applause.) The other day our opponents—sorry to say Mr. Taft himself—said that at Chicago they would be safe, because the affairs there would be in the hands of the friends of constitutional government. Now, who did that mean? That meant Mr. Penrose, of Pennsylvania; that meant Mr. Lorimer, of Illinois; that meant Mr. Guggenheim, of Colorado; that meant the Southern Pacific Railway crowd, of California, and the Amalgamated Copper crowd, of Montana, and from my own state Mr. Barnes (laughter), [illegible] generally called 'Boss' those men are the friends of the constitution, that those men are to protect the constitution. From whom? From you. From the people who made it. That those men are fitter than the people of the United States to say what the constitution should be interpreted as meaning. Whose constitution is it? Yours, the people's. The people made it. And no body of men, no special body of men in this country is so vitally concerned in protecting it as the people themselves. No other body, no small body of men in this country are so devotedly attached to it, so resolute to see it maintained as the people of this country. And all I am trying to do is to see that the constitution is interpreted as the preamble says it is to be interpreted—and I am quoting the preamble—as an instrument designed 'to secure justice and promote the general welfare.'

"Now, friends, this is an audience to which I would like to talk at length. (The crowd: 'Go on! Go on! Go on!") Now, friends, I am standing for the right of all of us collectively to do what each of us individually does in his own life. You, you, I. Yes sir, you, every one of you here. Each of us wishes to rule his own life. You do, I do. I know I will make mistakes, but I want to make them myself. I don't want anyone lse to make them for me. And so I want to have the people have the power to do their own governing. I know that now and then they will make mistakes, but they will make very many fewer mistakes than the bosses will make in governing them.

"I notice in this crowd, as in every other crowd, numbers of citizens carrying small citizens. Now, every father and mother takes a peculiar interest in the welfare of his or her children. I am in the grandfather class myself. We are concerned with their education and training. We wish to have them brought up so that they will be able to be useful and good and happy men and women. Now, what all fathers and mothers feel, I wish all of us collectively to feel. I wish us to feel that we are derelict in our duty if we don't handle the government today so that tomorrow our children and children's children will live in a land of justice. Nine-tenths of wisdom is being wise in time, and if we sit supine and selfish at ease without trying to make the government what it should be, we will be eating sour grapes and our children and children's children shall have their teeth set on edge. We will be purchasing inglorious sloth and ease at the present, it the cost of ruin to the generations that are to come after us. And I ask you people to stand with us, not only because we stand for betterment in the present, but because we stand for betterment in the future, because we stand for those principles which must obtain in this country if we are really to succeed as the men who founded the nation believed we could succeed. I ask you to stand for justice for our own sakes and for the sake of the generations that will follow us in this land of promise, this land of golden hope for the nations of the world.

"And so, friends, I feel that I have of New Jersey and say that it is your duty to yourselves to recognize that this fight is for the rights of the people throughout this country. If New Jersey goes against us, then you have put her beside Penrose and Lorimer and Guggenheim and Ballinger and Barnes and all the rest of them, and I ask you to go with us and put New Jersey on the side of the people in this lineup, of the people against the bosses, and next Tuesday to see that she takes her place alongside of Maine and California, Nebraska, Kansas and Minnesota, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Ohio." (Applause.)

IN WOMAN'S REALM

LIGHT STRAWBERRY DESSERTS.

THESE recipes supply a variety of dishes suitable for warm weather desserts. Although the recipes call for strawberries, other berries may be substituted for them in their seasons:

A Fruit Salad.

Strawberry Salad.—Take fresh, solid berries; set them on ice to chill. Then lay them in crisp lettuce leaves taken from the heart of the head. Sprinkle with chopped English walnut kernels. Cover with finely chopped celery stalks with a few red berries showing on top for ornament. Ornament with whole berries and walnut kernels. Serve with French dressing.

A Seasonable Sherbet.

Strawberry Sherbet. — Take two quarts of strawberries. Mash these and add two pounds of white sugar and the juice of a lemon. Let these stand together for an hour, then strain. Measure the juice and add an equal quantity of water. Pour this into the ice cream freezer and as it begins to freeze stir in the beaten whites of two eggs.

Iced Desserts.

Strawberry Ice Cream.—Take three pints of cream, two boxes of berries, two cups of sugar and a dash of salt. Wash and hull the berries, sprinkle with sugar, cover and let stand two hours. Mash and squeeze through cheesecloth, then add salt. Freeze the cream to the consistency of a mush, add gradually the fruit juice and finish freezing.

Strawberry Ice.—Make a meringue with two eggs stiffly beaten and a half cup of sugar cooked in a quarter of a cup of water. Boil four cupfuls of water and a cupful of sugar for five minutes. Add the juice of a lemon and two cupfuls of crushed strawberries. Strain through a cloth. Add more sugar if not sufficiently sweet. When cool, freeze. When the mixture is half frozen, add the meringue.

Strawberry Cocktail.—To the juice of two oranges and of one lemon add powdered sugar to taste. Pineapple juice may be added. Clean and chill some fine strawberries. Place them in cocktail or sherbet glasses cover with the fruit juice and add a teaspoonful of crushed ice.

A Combination Ice.

Strawberry Bomb Glace.—These ices may be made with a lining of sherbet and a center of charlotte russe filling. Let the mold, before lining it, stand to chill in a mixture of equal parts of ice and salt. Then spread the strawberry sherbet around the mold as a lining to the depth of an inch. Fill the center with the charlotte russe mixture and cover with the frozen sherbet. Then put the top on the mold and pack in ice and salt for an hour.

Collapsible Automobile Bonnets In Fascinating Variety.

GIRL'S COOKING OUTFIT.

are wonderful this year with the beauty of design and coloring that make them hard to resist. They can be made over a lawn lining and do not require a silk foundation, while the straight lines in which they can be made, following some of the latest designs, show the beauty of the material as well as the pattern of the embroidery to the best possible advantage.

Girls who are learning to cook need just such an outfit as this one. The little cap is simple and becoming, and the apron covers the skirt perfectly, and the sleeve protectors are good for their purpose. JUDIC CHOLLET.

KNITTING CURE FOR NERVES.

Berlin Doctor Prescribes Practice In Bed to Benefit Women.

Knitting in bed as an effective anti dote for nervousness is the latest remedy prescribed for women by Berlin's great specialists. Among the distinguished patients who at present are undergoing this novel cure is Mrs Leishman, wife of the American ambassador. All accounts agree that the preoccupation and concentration required for needlework, when performed in a sitting posture between pillows and coverlets, are working wonders in women afflicted with nerves. They find it vastly more agreeable and efficacious than the ordinary and sometimes tedious rest cure, and it is producing results found unattainable from the old time nerve panaceas.

"Our grandmothers," said a distinguished Berlin woman specialist commenting on the knitting cure, "were not nervous as a rule. They were placid souls, who were not easily ruffled, and were passionate knitters. What is more natural than that we should resort, for nervous women of today, to the favorite pastime of our maternal ancestors? I have at present a dozen Berlin society ladies who are spending from four to six hours a day abed knitting. If possible I require them to be alone and set themselves a task of accomplishing a fixed amount of work each day.

"Their progress is marked and apparently permanent. They are learning to become fond of knitting and tell me it is the best anti-nervousness cure they have ever tried. It remains to be seen, of course, whether the present effects, which are undoubted, will last."

—"Has that young man nerve and originality?" "Yes," replied Miss Cayenne; "but he uses them all up in selecting funny hats."—Chicago Tribune.

On behalf of the Trustees and Congregation of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, I desire to publicly acknowledge our thanks to all the young men and women and boys and girls who so kindly gave their services in our play, "A Trip to the Moon," recently presented at the Plainfield theatre. The genuine pleasure afforded to all who attended the performances may be, I trust, a recompense for the time and labor expended by you who so admirably performed your several parts. Again thanking you, I am, sincerely yours,

ROME'S COLISEUM

Majestic Even In Its Ruins Is the Historic Old Edifice.

ITS BLOOD SATURATED ARENA

On the Occasion of Its Inauguration Five Thousand Wild Animals and Ten Thousand Captives Were Slain In an Orgy That Lasted a Hundred Days.

Second only to the Acropolis at Athens in interest to the antiquarian and historian in his study of ruins of Europe is the Coliseum at Rome. This historic edifice was erected during the reigns of Vespasian and Titus and in honor of the latter. It is said that 60,000 Jews were engaged in its erection for ten years.

It was a feudal fortress for a long time and finally a quarry from which were built churches and palaces until by its consecration as holy ground on account of the number of martyrs supposed to have been immolated there, further ravages were stopped.

It is said to have given seats to 87,000 spectators and was inagurated A. D. 80, the same year in which Titus died, on which occasion 5,000 wild animals and 10,000 captives were slain. The inauguration lasted 100 days. An ecclesiastical tradition makes the architect to have been a Christian, one Gaudentius, afterward a martyr.

This structure was originally called the Amphitheatrum Flavium, but since the time of Bede it has been known as the Coliseum, probably given it because of its enormous size.

The Roman Coliseum became the spot where prince and people met together to witness those sanguinary exhibitions the degrading effect of which on the Roman character can hardly be overestimated. The circumference of the building is 1,641 feet, the height of the outer wall is 157, the length of the arena 278 feet and its width 177. It covers an area of six acres.

It is only by ascending to the upper terrace that the enormous size of the Coliseum is fully seen, and by moonlight the effect of size and massiveness is much increased. The ruins south of the Coliseum are supposed to have been the Vivarium, in which were kept the wild beasts for the combats.

As a general description of the building the following passage of Gibbon is said to be perfect: "The outside of the edifice was incrusted with marble and decorated with statues. The slopes of the vast concave which formed the inside were filled and surrounded with sixty or eighty rows of seats, of marble likewise, covered with cushions and capable of receiving with ease about 80,000 spectators. Sixty-four 'vomitories' (for by that name the doors were very aptly distinguished) poured forth the immense multitude, and the entrances, passages and staircases were contrived with such exquisite skill that each person, whether of the senatorial, the equestrian or the plebeian order, arrived at his destined place without trouble or confusion. Nothing was omitted which in any respect could be subservient to the convenience and pleasure of the spectators. They were protected from the sun and rain by an ample canopy, occasionally drawn over their heads. The air was continually refreshed by the playing of fountains and profusely impregnated by the grateful scent of aromatics.

"In the center of the edifice the arena was strewed with the finest sand and successively assumed the most different forms. At one moment it seemed to rise out of the earth like the garden of the Hesperides, and was afterward broken into the rocks and caverns of Thrace. The subterranean pipes conveyed an inexhaustible supply of water, and what had just before appeared a level plain might be suddenly converted into a wide lake, covered with armed vessels and replenished with the monsters of the deep.

"In the decoration of these scenes the Roman emperors displayed their wealth and liberality, and we read on various occasions that the whole furniture of the amphitheater consisted either of silver or of gold or of amber.

"The poet who describes the game of Carinus in the character of a shepherd attracted to the capitol by the fame of their magnificence affirms that the nets designed as a defense against the wild beasts were of gold wire, that the porticoes were gilded and that the 'belt' or circle which divided the several ranks of spectators from each other was studded with a precious mosaic of beautiful stones."

In ancient times there was hardly a town in the Roman empire which had not an amphitheater large enough to contain vast multitudes of spectators, and as specimens of architecture the amphitheaters were more remarkable for the mechanical skill and admirable adaptation to their purpose displayed in them than for any beauty of shape or decoration.—Chicago News.

The Artistic Temperament.

Millet, the painter of "The Angelus," had a standing agreement with a firm of art dealers who took all his work in exchange for regular payments of £40 a month. When he was told that they could sell a single picture for as much as £2,000 he said:

"That is their affair. As long as I have all I need and can paint what I like and as I like it I do not mind what they get for my pictures."—London Graphic.

TAFT AND T. R. NOW IN HOMESTRETCH

Make Final Pleas In New Jersey Today.

SABBATH SPENT QUIETLY.

Colonel Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill Receives Call From Senator Dixon. President Takes a Stroll Up Fifth Avenue.

New York, May 27.—Today winds up the battle for primary votes being waged by President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt in New Jersey. The primaries will be held tomorrow. President Taft's program for today includes visits to the following places: Elizabethport, Perth Amboy, Red Bank, Long Branch, Asbury Park, Manasquan, Freehold, Lakewood, Bridgeton, Millville, Vineland, Mays Landing, Pleasantville and Atlantic City.

Colonel Roosevelt leaves by automobile from Oyster Bay for the Lackawanna station at Hoboken, where his special train for the Jersey tour leaves. He will speak in Morristown, Dover, Newton, Hackettstown, Washington, Phillipsburg, Frenchtown, Lambertville, Flemington, Heightstown, Princeton, Bayonne and end up in West Hoboken.

New York Crowds See Taft.

After having struggled with New Jersey crowds for three days President Taft had looked forward with pleasure to a Sunday in New York free from turmoil. The president's anticipations had been realized most delightfully until late in the afternoon.

He had attended church in the morning, motored to Van Cortlandt park and back and had rested all the afternoon at the home of his brother, Henry W. Taft.

Late in the day Mr. Taft decided to top off his reposeful Sunday with a little stroll up Fifth avenue. He sauntered out of his brother's house. With him were his brother, Henry W. Taft, and Secretary Hilles. The president's two secret service guards, Jim Sloan and Dick Jervis, fell in behind the party as the three headed east.

The president had hardly turned north on Fifth avenue than he had been spotted by several folks who were headed downtown. Two or three turned and followed. By the time the president had reached Forty-ninth street about 100 men and women were trailing him. Then some small boys made their appearance and soon everybody in Fifth avenue between Forty ninth and Fiftieth streets knew of Mr Taft's presence.

Colonel at Sagamore Hill.

Colonel Roosevelt rested at Sagamore Hill. Not even a statement was forthcoming. Not only that, but the colonel denied himself to reporters. He didn't rest all day long, however. Senator Dixon arrived with Medill McCormick in tow. McCormick had just returned from a five days' sojourn in South Dakota. He says the state is in a healthy Roosevelt condition, and its just a case there of a repetition of Kansas, California and Nebraska.

He doesn't think it will be necessary for the colonel to go there. Senator Dixon and the colonel spent some time discussing plans, it is said, to nail down the national committee.

OLD TELEGRAPHER ENDS LIFE.

Told That He Must Use Typewriter Instead of Pen, Grew Melancholy.

Albany, May 27.—Because he believed he was not a success at manipulating a typewriter, Samuel I. Herschberger, sixty years old, a telegraph operator for the Western Union for more than forty years, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head.

The company recently took him off a wire that ran from Albany to Syracuse and on which wire a typewriter had been recently installed. Herschberger had always worked with a pen, and when told that he must use a typewriter he became melancholy. He is said to have been worth $50,000.

SIAMESE TWINS PROSPER.

Born at Holyoke—Independent of Each Other and Doing Well.

Holyoke, Mass., May 27.—The twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Griggs, born with bodies joined together at the hips, continue to thrive and to manifest almost disdainful independence of each other. While one slept the other clamored for nourishment. The attachment of the twins is known to physicians as an ilio sacral union.

The attending physicians will decide within a few days whether to attempt to separate the twins by an operation.

MAN AND WIFE SLAIN AFTER TRIP IN AUTO

Riddled With Bullets as They Enter Their Home.

San Diego, Cal., May 27.—An old grudge incited Bert G. Lewis to lie in wait for C. H. Tolliver and his wife and riddle them with bullets as they entered their home after an automobile trip. Lewis was formerly secretary for Tolliver and was familiar with his home. He coaxed away the bulldog on guard and tied the dog up. Then when the Tolliver appeared he opened fire and shot seventeen times from an automatic revolver.

Tolliver fell dead. Mrs. Tolliver had just strength enough to reach the telephone and call the police when she dropped and expired.

Lewis was found nearby greatly excited. He confessed to the murder and declared it was due to the fact that the Tollivers had induced his wife to leave him.

Tolliver was well known in San Francisco, where he induced many people to invest in his airship stock. He built an enormous dirigible balloon with an aluminium frame, and his wife helped him, stitching the silk. Just before the first trial a storm wrecked the balloon. Tolliver then went to San Diego, where he organized another company and built a second balloon, but this he never tested. Lewis sued Tolliver for alienating his wife's affections, but lost the suit. Then Tolliver sued Lewis for borrowed money and won the case.

ANNUAL NAVY YARD MASS.

Crowd of 30,000 Witnesses Religious Services.

New York, May 27.—Soldiers, sailors veterans and civic bodies, 9,850 souls by the count of Grand Marshal Mitchell formed in line from the side streets near the Brooklyn navy yard and took their places in the yard's parade grounds for the tenth annual day mass celebrated there.

What room these organizations left was taken up by guests, while the thoroughfare outside was crowded by those who were glad to catch a glimpse of the services through the iron fence. Neighboring buildings were topped by a mass of human beings. It was a big crowd, estimated at 30,000.

Drowned Off Torpedo Boat.

Newport, R. I., May 27.—Clarence Brewster Sexton of Auburn, N. Y., a first electrician on the torpedo boat destroyer McCall, was drowned in Newport harbor. Sexton, with other members of the McCall's crew, was returning to their boat in a launch. Sexton fell over the stern and disappeared almost immediately.

Lodge Keeper's Wife Dies In Fire.

Elkins, W. Va., May 27.—Fire destroyed the lodge on former United States Senator Henry Gassaway Davis' estate, Graceland, and Mrs. Belle Phares, wife of the lodge keeper, was burned to death. Phares was seriously burned in rescuing his three children.

FACTORY LEAGUE GAMES CLOSER

COL. CUTS ATTENDANCE

Commercial Team Retains the Lead in the Race by Defeating Spicer, R. G. E. Thims Public Service and Sourers Defeat Bankers.

The third round of the Manufacturers' League fight turned out much better played games and more closely contested decisions. The Commercials retained the leadership by taking the measure of the Spicer team, and the R. G. E. representatives jumped into second place by defeating the Public Service team 9 to 2. The game played by the Saurer and the Bank teams was a close one, seesawing back and forth throughout the game until the machinists walked away with the bacon in the last inning.

The games showed the effect of an increased amount of practise and were much more interesting as a result. Errors were still frequent but they were less glaring than they have been in previous games.

The presence in the city of Ex-President Roosevelt kept the attendance at all of the games low, many of the fans prefering to hear him speak than watch their favorite team plays.

TIMELY HITTING

By bunching their hits in the fourth and eighth innings the Commercials retained the lead in the Manufacturers' League race Saturday afternoon and took their game from the Spicer team by the score of 11 to 4. Freeman, who has been a large factor in the previous games, again demonstrated his ability as a box artist by holding the joint makers to five singles and fanning nine. The machinists were able to score in the first and fifth innings by timely hitting and a sprinkling of errors but aside from these two sessions they were held safe at all times.

For three innings the game went along smoothly for the Spicer team with their two runs looming up as a safe lead but Conover started the procession for the clerks in their half of the fourth with a crashing single. Scott weakened after that and hit Brofaw after which Fritts Freeman, Emmons and Randolph piled up hits, which with two errors gave the League leaders seven runs.

The joint makers added a burst of speed in their half of the ninth that threatened to develop into a rally, but Freeman tightened up and did not allow a hit and striking out McComb.

RUSHMORES' SWATFEST

The Rushmore-Garwood-Electric combination of the Manufacturers' League took another swatfest on the Myrtle avenue field Saturday afternoon when they routed the Public Service ball tossers to the tune of 9 to 2. The offensive play of the winners was steady and consistant at all times and their ability to hit the ball with men on the bases made it an easy victory. The defense was well taken care of by one Flemley, a New Market recruit, who held the Gas Company employes hitless and scoreless up to the fifth inning when he eased up. But three hits were made off his delivery, while Montross, on the other hand, was no puzzle to the winning swat smiths who got to him for thirteen healthy wallops.

Fulton, the Drexel collegian, played a brilliant game on the initial sack for the Public Service, turning many of his team mates would-be errors into spectacular putouts. DeNitzio and Kelts also gave an exhibition of speedy infield work at short and second respectively.

The hitsmith's laurels were gathered in by Limbloom with four torrid hits which were all good for an extra base. Kelts was a close runner up in the hitting line with a trio of bingles to his credit.

The large number of hits that got away from the outfielders for extra bases were in part due to the condition of the outfield which resembled an immatured jungle.

PRESENT FOR SAURERS

The Saurer team came out on the long end of an 11 to 10 score with the Banks, being forced to accept after having had the game handed to them twice before during the afternoon. The hand-over came in the ninth innings with the score tied and two out. Ricketts walked Winters and Warrick, Winters was safe at second on a short past ball by Doerenger and in an attempt to steal third Doerenger threw the ball in to left field allowing the winning run to come over.

Galloway caught a fly from Dembers bat after a long run into left fied and was as much surprised as the spectators when he realized that he held it.

The Bank boys out hit the Saurer team, but their erors kept the score close.

WESTFIELD WINS.

Westfield, May 27.—Manager Flynn's team again proved themselves the real article by defeating the strong Bay View Wheelmen team, of Newark, Saturday afternoon. The visitors did not score a run and but once, in the fourth inning, did the Bay Views reach third base. Both pitchers did fine work, holding down each team to five hits. Evan, shortstop for the home team, distinguished himself by his brilliant fielding, and Kuhn, Westfield's guardian of the initial sack, made himself solid with the fans by sending out a two-bagger with three men on bases. RARITAN TAKES GAME FROM DUNELLEN 5 TO 2

Raritan took the second game of the series from Dunellen Saturday afternoon, defeating them at Somerville by the score of 5-2.

Lou Dixon, one of the best catchers that has ever caught for Dunellen, failed to show up. Undoubtedly being hypnotized on his way to the game by Theo. Roosevelt. The Dunellen manager thus finding himself minus a player, made a tour of the grounds and picked up Metzler, who played first base for North Branch last year. As Metzler had been a catcher two years back he was placed behind the bat. Although he made an error at a critical period of the game which let in a run and turned the tide of the game he caught a very creditable game.

Dunellen lost on the one hand because the inside pay of the team was all broken up through the absence of Catcher Dixon and on the other because the Dunellen sluggers could do little or nothing with Kroft's out drop. The fact that Warry McLaughlin, one of the best batsmen outside of the big leagues, was unable to hit a ball outside of the diamond during the entire game, shows how well Kroft was pitching.

In Porter, Hickey and Conti the Raritan team has three sluggers who are going to break up many a game for them. The Raritan manager may consider himself lucky in being able to hang on to these three players during the season.

Bill Coyle played well at short for Dunellen and Bill Elliott got two bingles as usual.

The Crescent Avenues had the best of the argument until the seventh, when Foster took the box job in place of Van Deventer. Then the Congregationals began to get busy, and won the game.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

The activities of certain well-known political aspirants had rather a disastrous effect upon the attendances at all of the ball games in the city Saturday afternoon.

Two days of rooting in succession are about all the average fan can stand.

The Plainfield team met its first real opposition on Saturday afternoon in Bound Brook. A glance at the score tells us that it was some stiff at that.

Ortleib was just a trifle too severe with the local team for a starter. If he had waited until the middle of the season before treating us so badly it would not have been so bad.

But we'll get another chance at them when the year gets to be a few weeks older and then:—WOW!

It was a case of Freeman again with the Spicer team Saturday. The ball was a bashful little thing when a Spicer bat was around.

Jim Scott was back in the game and pitched good ball, although he was touched up frequently. He gets better every game, nevertheless.

The R. G. E. aggregation took the measure of the Public Service team in good shape. This gives them a berth in second place.

Hall, of the Royal Giants, pitched some game against the West Ends. Not until the last session were the boys from the sunset end able to get a bingle.

Tommy Mullen was on hand to help the West End lads swell the score but he left his batting eye at home.

The matinee races scheduled for the early part of the afternoon were not run off. Again, too much Teddie.

Four hits, a base on balls, a hit batter and two errors are enough to register seven runs. That's the way it happened in the fourth inning of the Spicer-Commercial game.

By the way, Ty Cobb is back in the game. Thus ends the baseball strike—the skies are once more clear and one more star is shining.

The Giants have a way of picking on their half-brother, Brooklyn.

The Yanks seem to have taken on new life.

Some close and exciting game on the Clinton avenue grounds, Saturday. The Motor boys took one at last and are now tied with the Bankers and Joint Makers.

A case of won in the ninth.

Flemly was there with the stuff that counts; the Service boys could only see the ball four times.

Abel R. Kiviat, the national mile champion, broke the world's record for the 1,500 meter run in the feature event at Celtic park, New York. After a splendid effort, in which he was opposed by Oscar Hedlund, the New England champion; Melvin Sheppard and Frank Riley, Kiviat broke the tape in 3 minutes 59 1-5 seconds, three-fifths of a second better than the best previous mark held by P. Wilson of England.

LEALS LOSES TO STRONG KINGSLEY SCHOOL TEAM

Leal's School lost another game Saturday afternoon to the fast Kingsley School aggregation by the score of 13 to 7. The team reached Essex Fells very much tired out but went at the game with a rush during the early innings. At the end of the fifth session it looked like a Leal's victory but in the sixth the Essex Fells team pushed seven men across the pan and held the Plainfield team scoreless for the rest of the game.

Lee pitched well during the whole game and although he gave nine bases on balls, he struck out eight. The whole Leal's team played with much more vim than they have shown before in any of the games.

BOUND BROOK ROOTERS HAVE A HAPPY TIME

Ortleib Too Much for Plainfield and Rivertown Sluggers Win.

Saturday was a joyful day in Bound Brook. Early in the afternoon Colonel Roosevelt was given a red-hot reception at the ball field and about an hour later the Plainfield team found out that a little of the warm stuff had been saved for them. Plainfield was burned 5 to 1.

Ortleib was at his best and he had the visitors at his mercy, while Frederickson was wild and ineffective, allowing the home team to get to him frequently for extra distances. The whole game was a case of Ortleib's superiority over the Plainfield twirler.

The Bound Brook team started right in to mix things up at the very beginning and Nolan, after the first man had been given his base, wielded the big stick with a resutant home run. This gave the home team an advantage which they never relinquished, adding one in the next inning and finishing up with two more in the fifth.

The Plainfield team was unable to score until the seventh, when Ortleib lost his effectiveness long enough to allow them to get their lonely tally. In all of the other innings it was one-two-three order with a generous goose-egg to score the result.

The visitors were wilder in their backing up of Frederickson, carding three errors to one by the home team.

The score:

ROYAL GIANTS BUSY OVER THE WEEK END

Take Three Games in a Row, One in Plainfield, Two in Newark.

The Royal Giants had a busy week end, they took the measure of the West Ends on Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon, romping away with the happy end of a 12 to 4 score and they added two more to the list yesterday. The Giants had everything their own way up until the ninth inning when all of their opponent's runs were scored. Until that time Hall had not allowed a hit and had kept most of the West End attempts inside of the diamond where they were taken care of in big league style.

The colored boys were able to find Miler for hits at frequent intervals and had no trouble in securing a safe lead early in the game, and covered their opponent's new uniforms with the dust of defeat.

Line up for Royals: Ford, 1b.; Kline, 2b.; Garner, ss.; Jackson, 3b.; Green, rf.; Coleman, cf.; Slocum, lf.; Jones, c., and Hall, p.

West End: Hugent, cf.; Luthman, c.; Wilson, lf.; Mullin, ss.; McClinton, 2b.; Dow, 1b.; H. Luthman, rf.; Marsh, 3b.; Miller, p.; Fulton, c.

Yesterday afternoon at Morris Park the Giants walked away with a double-header, one from the "New York Colored Giants" and the other from the Suburban A. C., 13 to 9.

SCOTCH PLAINS TAKES ANOTHER FROM A. C.

The 'Plains team defeated the strong Windsor A. C. team at the 'Plains yesterday afternoon by the score of 3-2. The game was scheduled with the Madison A. C. team, but for some reason the team was unable to keep the appointment, sending the Windsor team as a substitute. The game was one of the best the 'Plains fans have witnessed this year.

Fulton, who was on the mound, forced in the visitors tally in the seventh by hitting P. Brousse, first up. W. Brausse hit to two bases, Heller fumbled, Poff drew a pass, Katz and Wharton stepped in front of two easy ones and were given their base, forcing in Brausse.

The 'Plains backed Fulton up at critical times, two double plays coming at the right time, putting an end to the visitors crossing the plate. The home team put two over in the first and crowded home another in the fourth by timely hits.

WILL MEET TO ARRANGE FOR BIG TRACK MEET

A meeting of the recently organized committee on field and track athletics will be held in the parlors of the Young Men's Christian Association tonight, to arrange for a mammoth field meet for Independence Day. The committee consists of E. C. Ostlin, chairman; Harry Runyon, Jack Fritts and Alvah L. Conant. It is the intention of those in charge to have this meet an open affair and any athlete in the city whether he is a Y. M. C. A. member or not, will be iligible to compete. The morning will be taken up with the junior events and the seniors will be run off in the afternoon.

The meeting tonight will be held to arrange a program of events that will be applicable to both the weight classifications and ages of those competing. The officials and prizes will probably be decided upon this evening and a full attendance of the committee is desired by Mr. Ostlin.

It now seems plausible that after a lapse of nearly a year, since Parker Field was turned over to the use of the general public, this popular playground will at last have its first organized field and track meet. It also seems befitting and proper that the Y. M. C. A. should be the institution to start this managerial meet, movement, as it has perhaps done more to promote amateur athletics in this city than any other organized body.

SWIFT PIGEON FLIGHT.

Birds owned by members of the Plainfield Homing Pigeon Association engaged in a flight from Manasses, Virginia, yesterday, the distance being 206 miles. The race was won by Robert S. Parsons, of West Front street, the winning bird making the fast time of 969.08 yards per minute. Charles E. Faber, of Rockview avenue, the borough, was a close sedond with a bird making 969.04 yards per minute. Every bird sent out arrived home to its respective loft where the official time was in each case surrounded by enthusiasts, including fanciers from Boston and Cincinnati. Plainfield birds are attracting a lot of attention.

Henry C. Frick is to build his new Fifth avenue residence where the old Lenox library now stands, and work on it will be begun in a few weeks. None of the members would even hazard a guess as to what the new house will cost, but it is probably quite safe to say that it will total $5,000,000. For the site he paid, it has been reported, more than $2,000,000.

Eleven-year-old Frederick H. Anim of Camden Is Victim.

Camden, N. J., May 27.—Hit over the head with a broken bat, Frederick H Anim, eleven years old, of Second street, Camden, was killed at a base ball game at Barrington, a few miles from Camden.

The accident occurred during a game between Barrington and Lindenwall. Young Anim was standing along the third base line when Walter Githens came to the bat. As Githens struck at the ball the bat broke, striking Anim. The boy was knocked unconscious, and by the time a physician had arrived he was dead.

One of the prize-winning wolfhounds belonging to the Boreas Kennels in North Plainfield Township, broke away from a leash upon which he was being led by Rupert Anderson, Saturday night, and is still missing. Just as he was turning from the roadway to go to his home, an automobile came along and frightened the dog, and before Mr. Anderson could prevent it, the animal broke away.

JERSEY VOTERS DECIDING ISSUE

Battle for Delegates Starts on Last Stage as Polling Places Open.

EARLY VOTE IS LIGHT

No Evidence of Excitement Shown by Either Wings of the Two Big Parties—Heavy Balloting Expected After Six O'Clock.

The primaries in the city and borough opened promptly at 1 o'clock this afternoon, but as usual on primary elections during the early part of the afternoon the voting was exceedingly light. As an evidence of this there were about ten Republican and three Democratic ballots cast during the first hour that the polls were opened in the First district of the First ward. The early vote throughout the city was in about the same proportion.

The election boards did not anticipate any rush during the afternoon, counting on a heavier vote toward night and after supper from the commuters and those employed in the various shops about the city. Neither party displayed any great encitement, preferring the mohe quiet methods of getting the vote out. The same conditions prevailed in North Plainfield. The polls will close at 9 o'clock tonight and it is believed that it will be well towards the early hours of tomorrow morning when the result of the primaries is known. The local polling places are as follows:

FIRST WARD.
First District—At No. 138 North Avenue.
Second District—At rear room of store, No. 300 East Front Street.
Third District—At No. 545 East Third Street.
Fourth District—At No. 249 Johnston Avenue.

SECOND WARD.
First District—At No. 319 Watchung Avenue.
Second District—At No. 833 Webster Place, Garage.
Third District—At No. 420 Richmond Street.
Fourth District—At No. 1103 South Avenue.

THIRD WARD.
First District—At No. 440 West Fifth Street, Barn.
Second District—At Fisk's Barn on Arlington Avenue, between Seventh and Eighth Streets.
Third District—At Neumann's Barn, corner Spooner Avenue and Essex Street.
Fourth District—At No. 937 West Fourth Street, room in rear of store.

FOURTH WARD.
First District—At No. 202 West Second Street.
Second District—At No. 211 Liberty Street.
Third District—At No. 205 Grant Avenue.
Fourth District—At No. 1217 West Front Street.
Fifth District—At No. 921 West Third Street.
Sixth District—At No. 316 Lyman Place.

The polls opened at 1 o'clock this afternoon and will close at 9 o'clock in the evening. Only registered voters will be allowed to vote. All who voted at the last election and those who failed to do so, but have registered by affidavit, will be eligible.

A citizen who voted in the primary of one political party last September cannot vote in the primary of any other party today. If he is to vote at all he must vote in the box of the same party that he voted for at the last primaries.

A man who did not vote at the last primaries, but did vote at election, can vote today in the box of the party a majority of whose assembly candidates he voted for last fall.

If he did not vote at the last primaries he will be permitted to vote in the box of whichever party he desires without taking affidavit, unless his vote is challenged.

He will then have to swear that at the last election he voted for a majority of the assembly candidates of the party in whose box he wishes to vote.

If a man did not vote at the last primaries or election he may vote with whatever party he wishes, provided he is registered by affidavit.

If a man who voted at the last election has since removed to another district he will have to obtain a transfer from the court. Judges will sit in the courthouse today for this purpose. The mere change of address within the same election district does not require a transfer.

GREAT PICTURE SHOW.

The Plainfield theatre was crowded to its utmost capacity last evening on the occasion of the opening of its summer season with the first presentation in this city of the World's Travel-Drama. The pictures were presented with realistic sound effects. While the great Durbar at Delhi was easily the feature of the program there were other displays that rivalled it in iterest. As charming was the romatic photo-play "The King's Power." The pictorial attraction is announced by Manager Sanderson for twice daily, at 2:15 and 8:15, for a short season, with change of program every Monday and Thursday. On Thursday the next photo-play will be "The Fatal Lie."

PRESENT YOUR BILLS.

All bills against the city must be presented to the city clerk by tonight to insure payment at the June meeting of the Common Council.

MADE MR. TRAVELL CHANGE HIS ORDERS

Wanted Pupils to Hear Roosevelt, but Morristown Taft Leaders Vetoed Plan.

Ira W. Travell, who resigned as principal of the Plainfield High School to become Superintendent of Schools at Morristown two years ago, ran counter to powerful Taft sentiment in Morristown when he arranged to have the school pupils dismissed from classes yesterday to hear former President Roosevelt speak on his visit to Morris county's capital. When "Uncle Dan" Voorhees, county Republican leader of Morris county, who is red hot for Taft, heard that the pupils were to be dismissed to hear the Colonel, he acted swiftly in putting vetoing influences at work. It was announced that classes could go on as usual, irrespective of Roosevelt's visit. The High School pupils went on strike, and virtually all of them "cut" classes to go to the Roosevelt meeting.

In explaining his position Mr. Travell said yesterday that there was a general desire on the part of pupils to see Roosevelt, and after discussing the situation with the president and secretary of the Board of Education he had announced that if the grammar grade pupils would come at 8:30 for three mornings school would be dismissed at 10.

He says he regarded a sight of Roosevelt as educational and would just as quickly have advised the adjourment of school if President Taft or any other distinguished man had been announced to appear.

A despatch from Morristown on the incident says:

"Uncle Dan" Voorhees put down his fist when he learned that Superintendent Travell of the Morristown public schools had made arrangements to allow the 1,500 pupils of the grammar schools to leave their studies at 10 o'clock to see Roosevelt at the railroad station. The school board directed Travell not to dismiss the pupils for any such purpose.

They Had "Excuses."

Despite the order of the school board that the schools be not dismissed, hundreds of school children were at the station with flags.

Little Doris Williams explained the situation.

"We all thought the schools were going to close at 10 o'clock," she said, "but they didn't."

"Why are you here, then?" she was asked.

"Why, there are some of us here who brought excuses."

"Are all the children here who brought excuses?"

"I don't know, but thirty-one in our class did."

MAYOR NOT ASKED TO INTRODUCE PRESIDENT

His attention having been called to certain criticism of his actions last Friday upon the visit of President Taft to Plainfield, Mayor G. W. V. Moy took occasion today to explain. He asserted that he as chief executive of the city would only have been too glad to have welcomed the President of the United States to Plainfield and to have introduced him at the theatre, but the committee in charge of his visit did not invite him to do so, he stated, and he did not feel called upon to intrude at that time.

The Mayor said that he did attend the meeting at the Plainfield theatre and listened to the President. Although there were a number of empty seats on the stage, he added, he was not even invited as Mayor of the city to take a place there. He remained in the theatre he stated until the heat became almost unbearable and he then went outside. There he found a company of elderly men and volunteered to escort them into the theatre, where they could hear the President speak. At the same time he announced to all within the hearing of his voice that Mr. Taft would speak at Park and North avenues and as a result many in the waiting crowd adjourned to that point to listen to the President.

TAXPAYERS' ASSOCIATION FOR COMMISSION IDEA

The commission form of government was strongly endorsed at a meeting of the East End Taxpayers' Association last night. The meeting was held in the home of Mr. Sicarda, George street and Leland avenue.

Under the order of new business Mr. Warranka introduced a resolution endorsing commission government for the city of Plainfield. A petition for a vote on the proposition was signed by all those preseat.

Among the passengers sailing on the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm of the North German Lloyd Line today from New York for London, Paris and Bremen, were Assemblyman and Mrs. George L. Babcock.

CAMPAIGNED TO FINAL MINUTE

Taft Continue to Seek Jersey Votes Right up to Hour of Polling.

HAMMERING ROOSEVELT

Talked to 3,000 People at Perth Amboy Yesterday—Got a French Poodle for a Mascot at Red Bank.

President William H. Taft.

President Taft kept pace with Mr. Roosevelt yesterday, but did not conclude his canvass. He was scheduled to make several speeches today before the polls opened. His last speech was announced to be delivered less than an hour before the polls open. Yesterday he defended his administration and attacked Mr. Roosevelt, declaring the latter is now opposed to reciprocity "for the sake of getting votes."

Mr. Taft's trip ended last night at Atlantic City and covered the Second and Third Congressional Districts, including the counties of Middlesex, Monmouth, Ocean, Cumberland and Atlantic. The reception he received everywhere led Austen Colgate, president of the Taft League of New Jersey, to predict he would win twenty of the twenty-four district delegates and the four delegates-at-large. United States Senator Briggs made a similar statement.

Right up until 1 p. m. this afternoon when the polls open, President Taft was due to continue in lower Jersey his speech-making tour. He was expected to arrive in Philadelphia at 3 p. m.

President Taft's first stop was at Perth Amboy, where he addressed 3,000, mostly laboring men. His reception did not compare with that given Mr. Roosevelt last week.

At Matawan the President delivered two speeches from the same platform in the station square. One was to 200 school children, who welcomed him by singing "The Star-Spangled Banner" and waving flags.

"Are you going to let any one within hearing abuse the government of the United States?" asked Mr. Taft. "Are you?"

"No, we are not!" yelled the children.

"And what would you do to any one who criticised your country's government and said is wasn't a good one?"

"We'd fight him!" yelled several youngsters.

"No, don't fight him," cautioned the President. "You just pass him by and think he is not worthy of being an American. Tell him he does not know a good thing when he sees it."

The President then turned to the grown folks and after urging them to reject the "sham issues" of Mr. Roosevelt, remarked in closing:

"Go to the polls tomorrow and vote one way or another. If you don't cast a ballot you are not doing your duty as a good American should."

As the President's special was pulling out of Red Bank, Richard Connell handed a tiny French poodle to Mr. Taft. To a string around the puppy's neck was attached a tag bearing the words: "Taft's New Jersey Mascot." Mr. Taft will take the poodle to Washington and give it to his son Charles.

Long Branch's greeting was marked by great enthusiasm. Mr. Taft talked to 2,000 from a platform near the depot. "I'm sorry to be talking politics to you," he remarked, good naturedly; "I'd rather be taking a bath on your beautiful beach." While vigorously denouncing Mr. Roosevelt, the President was frequently interrupted by a curly-haired man who insisted on calling for "Three cheers for our next President!" "Thank you for your enthusiasm," finally remarked Mr. Taft, "but please let me continue."

"Well, I like that!" exclaimed the

Noteworthy Have Been His Achievements as a Printer and a Publisher.

A fine example of merited success in the printing business combined with enterprise and progressiveness is that of David J. Carney, of Plainfield, N. J., the proprietor and sole owner of the Monarch Printing Company, says the "American Bulletin" for May.

On October 5 last, Mr. Carney, knowing well his capabilities for conquering larger fields, purchased the North Plainfield Review, published for the past twelve years "across the brook" in North Plainfield. Having obtained possession of this paper, Mr. Carney proceeded forthwith to imbue it with some of his vital energy. He awoke it from the languorous slumber, in which it had dozed for so many years, shook it up, rejuvenated it and made the people of Plainfield realize the plapable fact that now they had a real paper and a live up-to-date editor among them. They responded nobly, the circulation increased by leaps and bounds and the advertising patronage took unto itself a new life. Mr. Carney's success with the paper was a natural sequence to the prosperity which attended him as a printer. Again enterprise and progressiveness were shown to be the only right royal road to prosperity.

David J. Carney is well known and highly esteemed in his native town of Plainfield. There he has spent most of his days. He is a bachelor and blushingly admits to fifty-six years. He has been many years in the printing and newspaper business and is renowned far and wide among traveling printers for his kindness and generosity.

"Uncle Dave," as many of his younger friends delight to call him, is a graduate of the University of Experience and from that University has won the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Be the day bright or cloudy, David J. is philosophical about it and pursues the even tenor of his way resolved to win.

It is not to be understood from this that Mr. Carney is full of placid tranquility. Quite the contrary. Some even go so far as to hint that in his original make-up was injected a generous volume of pepper and that the passing years have in no wise lessened the amount of that ingredient. That may all be so, but the energizing condiment is called into requisition only when it will best serve his own good purpose.

Perhaps his vocabulary is not as extensive as that of Shakespeare, but one thing is certain, he can use good old Anglo-Saxon in a way of which the Bard of Avon never dreamed.

His heart is as big as a house, but a word to the unwary is this: "Never try to play him for an 'easy mark.'"

Many experiences can be related of Mr. Carney's varied acts of kindness. Some have been appreciated to the full, while other recipients of his willing charity have given their benefactor what he is pleased to characterize as "many a jolt."

T. R. CONFIDENT OF NEW JERSEY

Said Last Night He Was Sure He Would Win Today.

NOT BREAKING PARTY

Big Meetings Yesterday in Numerous Towns and Cities in North Jersey. Denied Taft Deficit Story at Morristown.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt completed his campaign tour of New Jersey late last night at Hoboken, after a day fully as strenuous as had been the three preceding ones of his trip through the State. At every place that he stopped he addressed enormous crowds, and in the many speeches he took occasion to reply to charges made against him by President Taft, and to defend the progressive policies which have characterized his speeches throughout the campaign. He declared after the day was over that he was confident he would get the New Jersey preference vote today.

Colonel Roosevelt's first speech was at Morristown, Morris county, of which it is the seat, and most of the counties that the ex-president visited are supposedly Taft strongholds. They form the Fifth congressional district. The Republican leader of Morris county, Dan Voorhees, is reported to be bending every effort to capture the district for Taft.

From Morris county the colonel swung up to the mining district; Sussex, northwesternmost county in New Jersey; Warren, next south of it; Mercer, Hunterdon, Somerset and Hudson counties.

Colonel Roosevelt's Mercer county speech was in Princeton. President Hibben of Princeton university made an order against any anti-Taft speeches when he gave a permit for a meeting at Alexander hall. Colonel Roosevelt's followers refused to abide by any such restriction and promptly made arrangements for the meeting elsewhere. The students cheered him.

Tours of candidates across New Jersey have aroused the state to a political enthusiasm scarcely ever known before. Three Republican candidates for the presidency have traversed the state by automobile and train for four days until there is scarcely a hamlet where the voice of one of the aspirants has not been heard.

Denies Breaking Up Party.

At Lambertville the colonel denied that he was breaking up the Republican party. He said:

"Our opponents have said that we are breaking up the Republican party. That is the direct reverse of the truth. We are building up the Republican party. The only chance for the Republican party lies in our success. The success of our opponents would mean the absolute ruin of the party. And they know it. They are willing to ruin the party if they can keep their hands upon the machinery. They are fighting to keep control for themselves at the expense of any disaster to the party. The party is controlled by its rank and file, and my fight is to give the party back to the rank and file.

"My fight is to make the party what it was in the days of Lincoln, what it was when men went to the war because Lincoln called them; to make it the party of the plain people, owned by the plain people. I ask you to compare in this the attitudes of myself and of Mr. Taft in your own state. Just the other day, here in New Jersey, he said he expected to win because the national committee is with him. I have told you that I expect to win because the people are with me. [Applause.]

"The national committee was chosen by the politicians four years ago, and those forty or fifty men, representing the choice of the politicians in 1908, are to be used, forsooth, to overthrow the wishes of the Republican party in 1912. I am loyal to the Republican party when I say that we represent the rank and file of today and not the politicians of four years ago. Remember, friends, that many of those national committeemen of whom Mr. Taft

MISTAKE IS MADE IN PRINTING OF BALLOTS

Through a mistake on the part of the printer who prepared the sample and official ballots for today's primary election, a change has been made in the arrangement of the groups of delegates on the Republican ticket. The names of the candidates for delegates at large correspond with those on the official ballot, and the candidates for alternates at large for Mr. Taft are in the same position on both ballots. The candidates for alternates at large for Mr. LaFollette and Colonel Roosevelt are transposed in position, but are properly grouped opposite the names of the men whom they favor.

In the case of the Fifth district delegates the names of Hamilton Fish Kean and William Francis Redmond are grouped opposite the name ofMr . Taft, and are inserted at the top of the Fifth district subdivision on the official ballot, while on the sample ballot these names are at the bottom of the subdivision. They are transposed with the names of Mr. LaFollette on the sample, the LaFollette delegates occupying the top position. The rest of the ballots correspond exactly.

City Clerk MacMurray was only shown one proof, that of the sample ballot, which should have corresponded exactly with the original ballot.

AUTOMOBILE PARTY CALLS ON MISS JANET MURRAY

A merry party, including a bridal couple fresh from the heather hills of Scotland, left Ridgefield Park, Saturday morning, in two automobiles with Plainfield as their destination. The course took them through Arlington, Rutherford, Newark and Elizabeth, Plainfield being reached in good season where the party were guests of Miss Janet Murray. After "seeing Plainfield" in the afternoon the return journey was made by way of Springfield, Milburn and Hackensack.

The party included Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair, Mr. and Mrs. MacLinnan and Miss Gertrude McDaniels, of the Bronx; Charles McDonald and daughter, Mrs. Duncan, of Wilmington, Del.; Mrs. Robert Murray, of this city; Mrs. William Murray, of Ridgefield Park, and Mr. and Mrs. Redpath, of Boswells, of Scotland.

MRS. ELIZABETH SEARS DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

EFFORTS TO MARK FAMOUS ROCK

Regent of Continental Chapter Says That Movement Was Started in 1867.

ASSOCIATION FORMED

But the Organization Perished and Now Patriotic Women Undertake to Place Tablet on the Historic Spot.

Susan R. Read, regent of Continental Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, of this city, tells today of the history of the movement to suitably mark Washington Rock. The historic significance of this spot on the southern slope of the Watchung Mountain, back of Dunellen, was well related by Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen in Saturday's issue of the Daily Press. Mrs. Read's article follows:

The marking of sites and localities made interesting and important by anything pertaining to the American Revolution has become a very popular method of expressing present-day patriotism, and fittingly so.

Throughout the part of the country which served as the background for the making of so much history in so short a time, are to be found monuments, tablets and memorials of every description, to say nothing of the many fine old colonial homes converted into museums with Washingtonia always in the foreground.

For the sake of those who follow this generation, these localities with their varied traditions so dear to the heart of every true American cannot be too well preserved nor too substantially memorialized. Not alone must the descendants of those sturdy

CARNIVAL ATTRACTS LARGE ATTENDANCE

Shows Numerous and Varied, and Offer Lots of Opportunity for Amusement.

The annual carnival under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus opened last night on the grounds at Front street, near Grant avenue. There was a big attendance of local and out-of-town people and all the shows and numerous diversions were much enjoyed.

There are shows of all kinds, and attractions too numerous to mention. Chief among them are the Museum of Wonders, Minstrel Show, Flea Circus, Diving Girls, Wild West and Oriental Theatre.

Captain Bonavito's Wild Animal Theatre is one of the special drawing cards, with Ora Cecil, the young woman animal trainer. The Dog, Pony and Monkey Hippodrome, under the charge of Joseph Ferrari, is also an attractive feature. The Diving Girls did not perform last night owing to some delay in getting the water tank ready. They will be prominent tonight, and for the remainder of the week.

Minnie Ha-Ha, that strange girl whose vocabulary is limited to the pronunciation of her name, makes up for her lack of speech by the cute and whimsical antics. The string of other shows, too numerous to detail, all provide much amusement.

HERSOG HELD FOR GRAND JURY ON BURGLARY CHARGE

Robert Hersog, of South avenue, was held for the Grand Jury last evening, after a hearing before Recorder Gano in the borough court on a charge of attempted burglary of Benjamin Schenck's house last Saturday night. Lawyer F. J. Blatz appeared for Hersog, and entered a plea of not guilty. The evidence was strong that Hersog was the man who was discovered on the porch roof and after an exciting chase, as was told yesterday, was captured by John Fritts, the distance runner.

ROOSEVELT RALLY.

Colored Roosevelt enthusiasts to the number of fifty met last night in Kunzman's Hall and expressed their feelings by lustily cheering the speakers as they sounded the Colonel's praises. Rev. G. W. Bailey, of the Calvary Baptist church, presided, and introduced the following speakers: Dr. James F. Lawson, Rev. John Banks, of Jersey City; Richard Norwood and George Ganaway.

OPEN IN THE EVENING.

To accommodate such of their customers who may have no opportunity to shop during the day in anticipation for the Memorial Day suspension of business, the merchants of the city have agreed to keep their stores open tomorrow night.

MR. BUTTFIELD CRITICISM FOR

Bound Brook Sewer "Defenders" Say He Has Been Acting in Bad Faith.

WHERE THE BLAME LIES

Garet Garrett and Henry G. Opdycke Put Responsibility for North Plainfield's Sewerless Condition on Chairman of the Sewer Committee.

In an effort to make clear where lies the responsibility, as they view it, of the failure to relieve North Plainfield of its sewerless condition, Garet Garrett and Henry G. Opdycke of Bound Brook, have written the subjoined communication for publication; it is somewhat severe on W. J. Buttfield, chairman of the North Plainfield Council's Sewer Committee. They say of Mr. Buttfield, among other things: "We should like to be able to say that Mr. Buttfield could not help it; that he was merely temperamentally unsuited to the work he attempted to carry on; that being un-American and alien to our ways he fell into errors of understanding; but there is another reason which we are constrained to mention. Mr. Buttfield has not proceeded always in good faith."

The communication reads as follows:

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

Before anything has happened gravely detrimental to the health of people in North Plainfield Borough and environs, in consequence of the long unnecessary delay in establishing for North Plainfield Borough a sewage disposal plant, we propose to speak a few plain words.

In various public hearings at Trenton, before the State Board of Health and before the Governor, the statement has been made on behalf of North Plainfield Borough that the people were annually exposed to the risk of an epidemic, owing to the continued use of cesspools. We trust that the risk is not so great as has been represented for purposes of argument, but in the event of an epidemic there are those who, to conceal their own responsibility, might attempt to pace the blame where it does not belong. They might try to unload it upon the people of Bound Brook, your neighbors, who have opposed the location of a sewage disposal plant on the Zvolenck site, or upon the State Board of Health, which has twice vetoed that site; or upon the Governor of the State, who vetoed a bill (Senate 301) which would have enabled North Plainfield Borough's Sewage Commission to locate upon that site in spite of the Board of Health; or upon the Attorney General, who reported adversely upon that bill; or upon the Hon. W. W. Smalley, Senator from Somerset county, who has believed the Board of Health to be the proper source of authority in sewage disposal matters or upon the City of Plainfield, whose Council have refused to be dictated to by North Plainfield Borough's representatives, or upon the North Plainfield Township Committee, which, after the Board of Health had vetoed the Zvolenck site, rescinded its permit to the use of that site, or anywhere else, only to be rid of it themselves.

We submit to the intelligence of every fair thinking man that it would be ridiculous to suppose that all of the persons, people and bodies referred to have been in a conspiracy to prevent the Borough of North Plainfield from going to a proper site with a sewage disposal plant. So much to the contrary, all of them are very anxious to have the vexed matter settled for good. Speaking for ourselves we cannot sleep for watching North Plainfield Borough's present Sewage Commission and wish very much to stop our little excursions to Trenton. We fancy the North Plainfield Township people to be in much the same mind. We know the State Board of Health is anxious to get the thing done—it should be done. The anxiety of the Watchung Water Company is aroused, because the continued disposition of North Plainfield Borough's sewage in cesspools threatens to polute an important source of potable water. Indeed, it is quite inconceivable that anybody should maliciously stand in the way of North Plainfield Borough's getting what it so sorely needs.

Why is North Painfield Borough in this deplorable situation, though other communities, working under existing laws and with topographical and geographical conditions no better or not so favorable, have solved their problems amicably?

Why, in short, in what is now the fifth year of Wm. J. Buttfield's responsibility, does North Plainfield Borough find itself not one step nearer a solution than when it started?

To begin at the point where our interest arose, Mr. Buttfield tried to do an unfair thing when he came five miles from North Plainfield Borough to the very door of Bound Brook and pitched there upon a site which he proposed to have in spite of any objection. That was the Zvolenck site. The State Board of Health rejected his plans for several very strong reasons, one of which was that it was bad practice to carry sewage so far when it was quite unnecessary, and that it was bound to be a nuisance to Bound Brook. Failing before the Board of Health, Mr. Buttfield attempted to procure special legislation, which would enable him to locate upon the Zvoenck site in spite of the decision of the Board of Health. Failing in that he made some move toward another site, but abandoned it and went again before the Board of Health demanding the Zvolenck site, which was a waste of precious time. The Board of Health turned him down a second time, leaving him where he started.

It would be unbecoming in us to allege our suspicions as to the motives underlying Mr. Buttfield's singular and obstinate course with reference to this one site in an area of so many square miles, but we do know that by pursuing this course he has succeeded first and last only in antagonizing everyone with whom he has come in contract—the City of Plainfield, the Legislature, the Governor, North Plainfield Township, the people of Bound Brook and his own representatives at Trenton, with the possible exception of Assemblyman Anderson, who antagonized his own people in North Plainfield Township to support Mr. Buttfield and get nothing in the end for Mr. Buttfield.

We should like to be able to say that Mr. Buttfield could not help it; that he was merely temperamentally unsuited to the work he attempted to carry on; that being un-American and alien to our ways he fell into errors of understanding; but there is another reason which we are constrained to mention. Mr. Buttfield has not proceeded always in good faith.

After the election of the Hon. W. W. Smalley to the Senate last autumn an effort was made to effect a compromise. Mr. Smalley took the initiative, and the result was that Bound Brook withdrew its opposition to any site not nearer to us than the Kramer site, which though only a little less objectionable to us than the Zvolenck site, was thought at that time to be available. We are not now discussing sites; we are discussing Mr. Buttfield. He promised to locate North Plainfield Borough's sewage disposal plant on a site not nearer to Bound Brook than the Kramer site. He then applied to North Plainfield Township Committee for permission to go on the Kramer site, and while the application was pending he proposed to the City of Plainfield that it go jointly with North Plainfield Borough to the Kramer site. He spoke publicly for the Kramer site, and said that the Zvolenck site was quite out of the question.

One evening he called us up on the telephone to say that the City of Plainfield had declined his proposition for a joint plant, that the Kramer site was not available and that he had reapplied to the Board of Health for the Zvolenck site. We were astonished. Speaking to Mr. Garrett he said:

"I want you to understand that I have acted in good faith with you over there."

To which Mr. Garrett replied: "So we had begun to think when we saw you quoted publicly to the effect that the Zvolenck site had been definitely abandoned, and was quite out of consideration."

Mr. Buttfield stuttered and said: "Well, you understand, I was keeping faith with you and with the Senator (Mr. Smalley) in saying that, but I was not talking in good faith to the City of Plainfield."

A man who will protest as a mark of good faith to one side that he has been acting in bad faith with the other side may not be presumed to be acting in good faith at all. Possibly the Council of the City of Plainfield were shrewd enough to guess, it was certainly not a mark of either good faith or neighborly feeling that after the City of Plainfield had declined Mr. Buttfield's proposition as it had a right to do, Mr. Buttfield attacked, or inspired others to attack, the plans of the City of Plainfield for a sewage disposal plant elsewhere.

Mr. Buttfield has proceeded invariably upon wrong assumptions, one of which has been the assumption on his part that other people were not acting in good faith. He has held strong cards and has played them badly—for that reason. His chief qualification has been the obstinacy which he inherited, and it has availed him nothing. He has so far been beaten at every point, and is exactly where he started.

What are the people of North Plainfield Borough going to do about it?

GARET GARRETT.

EFFORTS TO MARK ROCK

men and women who were the founders of our nation be reminded of their glorious inheritance, but the day is fully here when the stranger and foreigner must be taught both the ideals of America and the bitter struggles and costly sacrifices through which these ideals came into being.

These reminders of our part must be our landmarks during the period which is and which is increasingly to be, when the problems of assimilating and amalgamating the immigrant are hurled upon us with such force and rapidity that we have time for little more than the prayer, "God save our State!"

To these our successors then we bequeath such memorials to guard them well against the warring of time and the hand of the thoughtless destroyer.

The marking of the route taken by the American forces in January, 1777, as they sought winter quarters at Morristown is of interest to all, but especially worthy of commemoration is the rock on the range of hills near here, called "Washington's Rock;" our great General having made many observations from this point of vantage during the anxious months of 1777.

The history of this particular spot and period has been reveiwed in a recent issue of this paper.

The desire to erect some monument at "Washington's Rock" is no new one, for we find in Snell's "History of Hunterdon and Somerset Counties" that the "Washington Monument and Historical Association" was formed Jan. 25, 1867. This association was duly incorporated and on "July 4, 1867, in the presence of an immense concourse of people, and with Masonic ceremonies, the corner-stone of the monument was laid, the president, Mr. Nathan Harper delivering an address." From the same source we learn of a celebration of the Centennial Fourth of July at Washington Rock, conducted "in a manner worthy of the time and place." Rev. John H. Vincent, D. D., delivering "one of the best orations that ever fell from mortal lips." The account closes with the assurance that "the celebration was a fine affair, and the number of visitors at the Rock was immense."

From "The Constitutionalist," of Feb. 27, 1868, it is learned that this "Association" held its first annual meeting and dinner on Washington's Birthday of that year; the president, Mr. Harper stated in his address that although "A plot of ground suitable for the erection and preservation of the proposed monument and including both rocks, was deeded to the Association for such purpose," on account of two mortgages executed prior to the conveyance of this deed and the holders of the first mortgage refusing to release the required portion of ground, a perfect title could not be obtained. Mr. Harper continued, "The association cannot be expected to go on and build a monument unless undisputed owners of the small piece of ground whereupon it is to stand, and the lack of such title is why, and only why, we are at a temporary standstill. The motto suggested for the inscription was, "New Jersey gratefully remembers her defenders in the dark and bloody days of the Revolution.

These quotations clearly anticipate the inevitable death of this association, and necessarily its main purpose was unaccomplished.

Still the desire to properly mark "Washington Rock" lived in the hearts of many of Plainfield's patriotic citizens and finally the women took up the matter; for the annals of Continental Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution state that since 1897 this organization has been gathering a fund for this object.

The "Rock" still stands as aggravatingly mute as all its kin, patiently awaiting the coming of its interpreter and translator. There is nothing new about it per se, but there are new conditions pertaining to it.

First. The Rock has been purchased by Charles W. McCutchen, and there need be no more fear as to the surety of its future; for not only the Rock, but any memorial there placed to enhance its significance, beauty and accessibility will be handed down to succeeding generations as a precious legacy.

Second. The Continental Chapter of the D. A. R. has voted the expenditure of their fund already alluded to, and hopes in the near future to carry into substantial reality its fond dreams.

The kind of a memorial which the Chapter has selected will be depicted and plans concerning it brought before the community's loyal citizens in a subsequent issue of this paper.

FORTY-TWO CASES ON DISTRICT COURT CALENDAR

There was a list of forty-two cases cited for a hearing before Judge Isaac P. Runyon in the District Court in Somerville, yesterday, and in a majority of them judgment was given the plaintiff.

Among the important cases was a damage suit in which Mrs. Anna R. Stocker, of Newark, sought to recover $500 from Frederick Ballentine, of Bernardsville, for damages to her automobile. Mr. Lynn, of Newark, represented the plaintiff and Alvah A. Clark represented the defendant. The plaintiff's case is in and the court continued the same until June 12, on account of the absence of a witness for the defense. The plaintiff's witnesses testified that they were descending a hill near Bernardsville, and the defendant was ascending the hill behind another automobile and without warning came from behind the machine to pass the auto going in the same direction and ran into the plaintiff.

Judgments were given in the following contract cases:

William N. Adine & Co., vs. Guisippe Borone, $70.31; Andrew Harcar vs. Albert Baker, et al., $26.-33; Raffaelo Pizzo vs. Saranio Lupica, $79; Nischwitz and Heath vs. Hiram O. Hance, $189.04; the Williamson Foundry vs. William Dall, $149.-44; Mushone & Bennett vs. Johnty Higgins, $18.76; W. W. Warnock vs. H. Demler, $152.33.

Judge Runyon announced yesterday that the next session of his court would be on Wednesday, June 5, and that the court will meet on Wednesdays thereafter until further notice.

Why is the commission form of government popular. Well, under the present antiquated system here are the facts:

Government by a Mayor, or someone else, some minor elective officers and a debating society caled a "Council."

Each officer has power to block the other officers. They call it "Checks and Balances." Each officer blames the next if you complain.

Needs a "boss" to hold the ramshackle together.

The citizen has to "go into politics" at the sacrifice of his earning power, before he counts.

Citizenship is a learned profession.

Government by politicians instead of government by the people—oligarchy instead of democracy.

Petty officers elective—resulting in ambush ballots.

Good officials getting no credit.

Bad officials safely lost in the shuffle and getting no personal blame.

When a municipal corporation's affairs are conducted the same as any wise business is managed here is he situation:

Government by a single compact "Commission" of five men elected at large. No other elective officers.

Nobody they can blame but themselves if you complain.

No lost motion—no pulling and hauling.

Conspicuous responsibility—(there is no such thing as inconspicuous responsibility).

Each elective officer a shining mark for criticism—hence sensitive responsive government.

A short ballot. Every citizen easily masters his job on election day, makes up his own ticket and knows what he is doing. Every citizen is a complete politician because the new politics is so simple and clear.

Politicians out of business—no need for them.

No confusion, no obscurity, no chance for rascals to slip through at election time without detection.

Non-partisan ballot. Nominations all by petition.

The people, without any moral revolution or sacrifice of earning power, sitting comfortably in the boss' chair.

Officials give good government because that's the way to keep popular.

Initiative, referendum and recall for emergencies, but you never use them because the "Commission" responds so eagerly and deferentially to public opinion.

President Taft closed his campaign for votes in today's election of delegates to the National Republican convention, when he spoke at several South Jersey towns during the morning. Colonel Roosevelt, after a lively day traveling through North and Central Jersey, went back to New York late last night, confident that he would win the majority of the delegates of the State. The two men closed the most strenuous and picturesque campaign that has ever been held in the State, and now the public is waiting with much interest the result of the struggle. There are great difference of opinions as to the ultimate result. Of course the supporters of both sides claim that they will have a majority of the twenty-eight votes of New Jersey in the convention, and some of the Roosevelt shouters have even claimed that they will get all of the votes. On the Taft side the greatest claim made is that he will have twenty votes. Although the metropolitan newspapers are a unit in opposing Mr. Roosevelt, all admit that he will get many of the votes, and nearly every newspaper in New York says that the indications are that he will get a majority. A safe estimate, judging from reports from all sections of the State would be to say that the most Mr. Taft can hope for will be an even break, while Mr. Roosevelt's supporters are not making extravagant claims when they state they will have at least twenty of the delegates.

The Elks have won in their fight to prevent the use of the name of their fraternal order by those not identified with it. A colored organization, calling itself the Improved Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of the World, was made the defendant in an action to restrain it from making use of the title "Elks" and to prevent it from adopting the Elks emblem. The proceedings were instituted in the New York courts and a decision has just been handed down by the Court of Appeals of that State. The action was based on the contention that "the name so closely resembles that of the original order of Elks as to be calculated to deceive the public." In holding that the colored organization must adopt another name which contains no reference to the Elks, the Court stated that if the negroes "desire the name of an animal there is a long list of beasts, birds and fishes not yet appropriated." Now that the Elks have succeeded in preserving their title to their own use, it may be reasonably expected that the Masonic fraternity will resort to some like action.

Undoubtedly our readers were interested in Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen's excellent article on Washington Rock and the part it played in the American Revolution, as published in Saturday's issue. Today, Mrs. Read throws some light on the movement begun in 1867 to properly mark the Rock and assures us that the society of which she and Mrs. McCutchen are members, Continental Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, purposes to carry out the plans. It is indeed satisfying to know that Charles W. McCutchen holds title to the tract upon which the Rock stands for that insures its preservation for all time.

Every voter has received sample ballots for the Presidential primaries. Any man who can read the English language can readily understand the ballot and can speedily and intelligent mark it according to his judgment. These sample ballots are an exact fac-simile of the ones to be used at today's primaries but the samples themselves can not be used. The polls were opened promptly at 1 o'clock this afternoon. They will remain open until 9 o'clock tonight. It is your duty as an American citizen to exercise your right today to register your choice for President. If you do not vote you are not worthy of enjoying the right to vote.

New Jersey acts today. The pleas of the respective candidates for Presidential preference have been heard in every city and crossroads in the State. The issues are clearly defined. A vote for William Howard Taft means one thing; a vote for Theodore Roosevelt means another thing. Each of these exalted countrymen proclaims that this campaign marks the greatest crisis since the Civil War. The eyes of the whole people of this Nation are upon New Jersey. What will be her verdict?

Rev. A. C. Nickerson leaves for Europe on Thursday for the purpose of taking a needed rest from his labors and to recoup his health. He takes with him the best wishes of the people of this community among whom he has made his home and enjoyed their respect and esteem for many years.

The people demand that a newspaper shall print the news honestly, fully and impartially and that it shall not inject its own editorial opinions into its news columns. The newspaper that prints both sides without bias is the paper to receive popular approval.

Someone asks "Who is 'Jim' Smith for?" Why, 'Jim' Smith is for "Jim" Smith every time.

COMING EVENTS.

TODAY — Presidential preference primaries from 1 until 9 o'clock.

TOMORROW NIGHT—T. A. B. Minstrels.

T. R. CONFIDENT OF N. J.

speaks as the friends of constitutional government [laughter], as the men who are to save the party, are to save it from who? From you! It is to save the party if you vote for us. [Laughter.] It is to save the party from the Republicans of Illinois and Pennsylvania, who repudiated Lorimer and Penrose.

Says He's Loyal to Party.

"That is the proposal of Mr. Taft on behalf of the national committee. I am loyal to the party. I am loyal to its great traditions when I stand for the principle that the machinery of the party is to be put at the disposal of the voters of the party, when I stand for the principle that the leaders of the party are to lead the people and not drive them; that the leaders of the party are to endeavor to show the people what the right principles are, but loyally to abide by the decision of the people when it has once been made. Understand me clearly, whatever the decision of the people is that I will stand by; whatever the decision of the people is. If you are against me. I am sorry, but it is all right. [Laughter]. I won't have a word to say.

"But if the people are for me, and worn out politicians, with commissions four years old, endeavor to upset the verdict of the people, I'll have a great deal to say. [Applause]. Now, friends, I call that party loyalty of the real kind, party loyalty of the highest type, for my loyalty is to the great bulk of the men who make up the Republican party, and not to any little group of bosses at the head of it. I ask you, who are the men who talk of my party disloyalty. Mr. Barnes of New York, cruelly known as Boss Barnes; Mr. Lorimer of Illinois, the Southern Pacific crowd in California, the Amalgamated Copper crowd in Montana, the Penrose crowd in Pennsylvania?

"In short, the only men who impeach my loyalty to the Republican party are the bosses who are themselves being repudiated by the Republican party wherever the rank and file have the chance to vote. I hold myself bound to be loyal to you. I hold myself bound to be loyal to your interests, but I am not bound to be loyal to the interests of the bosses who betray you. I am not bound to be loyal to the interests of those who misrepresent your honest and deliberate judgment. So, friends, my withers are wrung when they talk of me not being loyal to the party. I am being loyal to the party, for I am trying to make the leaders of the party loyal to the rank and file."

Is Fight For the People.

At Phillipsburg the colonel was received by another great crowd. He said in part: "Friends, I feel that in this contest we have a right to appeal to you, for this is your fight. This is a fight for the right of the people to rule themselves. It is your government, and it is not only your right, but it is your duty yourselves to control it, and, friends, that means that you must take some pains to do so—some trouble to do so. If you won't take the trouble to govern yourselves you can rest assured that some one else will take the trouble to govern you, surely. [Applause.] And then, friends, there is no use in complaining about the boss. There is no use in complaining about the boss if you let him boss you [Applause.] I do not either feel particularly hostile to the boss. I want to knock him out, that is all. [Applause.]

"People have said that I hate them. I do not. If the boss will go into some private business he will have my blessing. I wish him well, only I want him to quit governing us, that is all. [Applause.] And throughout here in New Jersey I want you men to remember that this is a nation wide contest, that we are appealing throughout this country, from the Atlantic to the Pacific we are making the fight in every state of the Union for the plain people and against the powers that prey. We have against us at least 95 per cent of the old school professional politicians. We have against us at least 99 per cent of all that form of business which rests on a basis of privilege. We have against us practically every boss of importance. Every man who represents the combination between crooked politics and crooked business, which has been the chief source of corruption in American political life. We have against us practically every newspaper that is either directly or indirectly subsidized. We have not got anybody with us at all except the people, and we are going to knock them out on that basis." [Applause.]

Favors Protective Tariff.

The colonel got another big reception at Newton. He said in part: "This country will not be a good place for any one to live in if we do not make it a fairly good place for every one to live in, and we owe it to the children that are to come after us to shape our government so that there shall be justice—real justice—in the land. That is not to be achieved by any one law. Many different laws are necessary and the popular sentiment that will stand behind the law, partly produced by it and partly producing it. There are a dozen different ways in which I wish to see the effort made by law to get justice. Take, for instance, the tariff in speaking to this industrial community. I believe in a protective tariff, but I wish to see the benefit get into the pay envelope. I do not want to see it all stop in the office.

"It is right and proper that a legitimate share should take the shape of dividends, but a legitimate share must go into the pay envelopes as wages or the protective tariff is not justified. And I would like to see it—if we succeed we will see it—made the business of some governmental body to keep information before the president and congress, therefore before the people, of the conditions of life and labor in every protected industry, so that we may be sure that the protection really benefits those whom we inend to have it benefit.

4,000 Cheer at Morristown.

After practically ignoring President Taft during the first three days of his New Jersey trip, Colonel Roosevelt in his speech here to a crowd of more than 4,000 opened up again on the president. He replied sharply to Mr. Taft's declaration that Roosevelt had left the country with a deficit, while the Taft administration had shown a surplus.

The colonel made the fact plain that at the close of his administration the government's income was from $200,000,000 to $300,000,000 in excess of its expenditures, much of this money being used for the Panama canal instead of making the authorized bond issues.

"There are just one or two points that I want to speak to you about," said Colonel Roosevelt. "Recently Mr. Taft has dwelt upon the fact that my administration left a deficit. It did not. Mr. Taft can say that only by taking one year and omitting the other six and one-half. On the whole in the seven and one-half years of my administration the income exceeded the expenditures by somewhere between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000. So much so that we almost had too much surplus and, although congress authorized us to issue bonds for building the Panama canal during my administration, most of the expenditures on the Panama canal until the last year were paid for out of the surplus.

Used Surplus For Canal.

"We had more than we needed for our own running expenses, and instead of putting it away we used it to pay for the Panama canal digging and economizing upon the bond issues, which we were allowed to make."

"Taft was the deficit!" yelled a man.

"And the other day Mr. Taft said that the national committee would do him justice," went on Mr. Roosevelt. "I want the people to do me justice, and that illustrates the difference between us. I appeal to the people and he to the national committee with the expectation that it will misrepresent the people.

"I appeal to the people to control themselves. Remember, the national committee was elected not by the people, but by the politicians, four years ago. Mr. Taft appealed to the national committee, elected by the politicians, four years ago, and I appeal to the people in this year 1912.

"Now, friends, this is your fight. I have come here to ask that you stand by yourselves."

Roosevelt is doing no worrying about New Jersey. With the Sixth and Seventh congressional districts as the only spots in the state that are conceded to be at all doubtful, Roosevelt believes he will land all of New Jersey's twenty-eight delegates.

Senator Dixon, discussing the outlook, would say little about the plans of Roosevelt for getting control of the Republican national committee in time to prevent the seating of all contesting delegates in favor of Taft.

"We set a little hen yesterday that may hatch out something," said Mr. Dixon significantly.

After Murphy's Scalp.

Though Senator Dixon would not talk on the subject, it is known that Roosevelt intends to try to drive off the national committee every man whose sentiment for Taft has been repudiated by the people. This will include Franklin Murphy of New Jersey if Roosevelt wins this state.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

WITH GRAHAM FLOUR.

GOOD graham flour is not easy to get. What is often sold under this name is really an inferior quality of flour that is indigestible and unpalatable. Graham flour is wheat ground, but not passed through the screen through which flour is ordinarily run after it has been crushed and the bran removed.

For Weak Stomachs.

Graham Wafers.—These are excellent for those who are troubled with indigestion. Take a pint of graham flour, a pint of white flour, a third of a cup each of butter and sugar, a saltspoonful of salt and sweet milk enough to mix to a paste. Roll thin and cut out. Bake quickly.

Fruit In This.

Graham Mush.—Take a pint of graham flour, a quart and a half of boiling water and a teaspoonful of salt. Stir the flour into the water and let it boil for twenty minutes. Keep it free from lumps.

Turn out in a dish that has been dipped into cold water to prevent the mush from sticking. Cut into slices and serve with sugar and cream. A dozen or more stoned and chopped dates or a few raisins may be stirred into the mush just before it is to be taken off the fire.

When cold this mush may be dipped in beaten egg and cracker crumbs and fried in hot lard.

Nice Hot Breads.

Graham Biscuit.—Stir together one and one-third cups of wheat flour, two-thirds of a cup of graham flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Sift two or three times. Work two tablespoons of butter into this; add three-fourths cup of milk. Toss on a floured board, pat and roll to one-half an inch in thickness. Cut out and bake in a hot oven from twelve to fifteen minutes.

Graham Gems.—Take a cup and a half of graham flour, three eggs, a pint of warm milk, a tablespoonful of melted butter and a teaspoonful of sugar. Whip the eggs, without having first beaten them, into the warm milk. Add the butter and sugar. Gradually stir in the graham flour and beat hard for several minutes. Turn into heated gem pans and bake in a very hot oven. Serve immediately.

A Tasty Dessert.

Graham Pudding.—Take two cupfuls of graham flour, a cupful of bread-crumbs, a cupful of stoned raisins, a cupful of sour milk, a half cupful of molasses, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, a small teaspoonful of soda in a little milk and a little salt. Stir these together, steam three hours and let stand in a hot oven to dry off. Serve with lemon sauce.

ON THE WING.

Materials That Are Fashionable For Separate Tub Skirts.

Wash corduroy, thin pique and linen duck are all used this year for separate skirts. The former is not very widely known, and it is an experiment of the manufacturers, and whether or not it will become popular it is too early to tell. It washes in the piece very well, but whether it will wash as a made up skirt only a few tubbings can prove.

Pique is an old friend that has returned to fashion because of the popularity of any fabric that has a diagonal cord in it, including serge, silk and cloth. We know that it washes well; that it has some advantages over linen, although coolness is not one of them. It holds its lines better than linen, and it does not show creases so quickly.

SEMIPRINCESS GOWN.

Simple gowns in semiprincess style are much worn. They are very easy to slip on and to adjust. This one includes the newest features, for it is closed at the left of the front and is finished with a rolled collar and deep cuffs. JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 44 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7448, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

MAYOR MOY TO SUFFRAGE LEAGUE

Votes for Women Biggest Subject He has Been Called on to Discuss.

SQUARE DEAL QUESTION

No Doubt As to Women's Mental Capacity, Mayor Tells His Audience —Speaks a Word For Commission Government.

The Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield closed the most successful year of its existance with a parlor meeting at the home of Mrs. David L. Thompson, of Rockview terrace, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Kathleen Ryder, third vice president, presided in the absence of the president.

Mrs. Louise Bryan Dorr made an earnest plea for deeper interest for the coming year. The speaker of the afternoon was Mayor Moy. In the course of his address, which, of course, was chiefly devoted to suffrage, he strongly advocated commission government.

Mr. Moy said in part:

"Woman's place in government should be a very large place. This is the very largest subject that I have been called upon to discuss. The question of the square deal for women has never been considered by politicians. I am not a politician. I am what is known as the Apostle of the Square Deal.

"If there is anything on earth I can do or say so that the women of the land can secure the right to vote, I am willing to do or say it. Women are dealing with a question which is larger than they know. They should seriously consider the effect upon the state, the city, the individual and the home, and whether they are qualified to take up the burden and responsibilities which are carried with the vote.

"The question should be looked at in relation to its heighth, its depth and its breadth. What will be the effect on the women themelves? Is it going to develop masculinity? If I thought for one minute it would I would vote against it every time.

"There is one condition in which woman is now placed which is essentially wrong. A woman sacrifices her independence of property when she marries because she cannot dispose of her property without the signature of her husband. Women owners pay taxes on property. Beyond that they have not a word to say. A hundred Italians without a cent can vote to impose a tax upon it which must be paid.

"Women must be better educated in the laws which govern mere man before they can better the condition of women. If sixty years ago, this woman's suffrage movement could have been carried to complete fruition, the state would have been far better than it is now.

"There is no question of woman's mental capacity; there is a power in women for infinite detail without which there can be no success. This was shown by the woman's committee in the Parent-Teacher Association which discovered and brought to the attention of the Board a matter which had been going on for ten years and which was then obviated."

Mr. Moy asked many questions and gave many valuable suggestions, after which there was a lively discussion of municipal affairs. The subject being garbage disposal and kindred questions.

James Evans, of Lenox avenue, has been discharged from Muhlenberg Hospital, after having undergone several weeks' treatment for an infection of the knee.

Miss Ella Blair, granddaughter of Mrs. John L. Anderson, of Lincoln, is recovering slowly from a severe illness. She has been under the care of Dr. Robinson, of Bound Brook.

—"I think she will make a fine wife. I have been calling on her for several months now, and nearly always find her darning one of her father's socks." "That caught me, too, until I found out that it was the same sock."—Kansas City Journal.

PETITIONS BOARD FOR NEW SCHOOL

Parent-Teacher Association Says Another Grammar Building is Needed.

SO DOES THE MAYOR

He Attends Stillman-Franklin-Whittier Meeting and Approves Reforms Members Advocate—Plea for Roller-Skating on Walks.

Information that according to the provisions of a new law Mayor G. W. V. Moy will hereafter appoint members of the Board of Education; that the Frelinghuysen bill was changed so that State examinations are not required for promotion to the High School and that the city needs a new grammar school, was brought out at the annual meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Stillman-Franklin-Whittier Schools, held at the Franklin School, last night.

Great interest was aroused in the subjects presented, and especially in the report of the chairman of the committee on sanitation. The object of the report was to stimulate the interest of parents in the sanitary conditions of the school buildings and to arouse public sentiment enough to demand that the building be kept safe, with the amount of space per pupil required by law, and that rooms be properly equipped for school work. The conditions of the Franklin and Stillman buildings were referred to especially.

A resolution was adopted providing that a committee be appointed to present a copy of the report to the Board of Education, requesting that new floors be laid in the Franklin building, overcrowded conditions be relieved, and the ventilation improved as soon as possible, and further that steps be taken immediately to provide a new grammar school.

Mayor Moy was present and heartily approved the petition and the report.

The question of allowing children to roller-skate on the concrete walks about the school building was discussed, and it was recommended that the Board of Education allow the children this privilege until some other suitable place can be provided. A committee will be appointed to confer with the Common Council regarding roller-skating on the school properties. H. W. Marshall suggested that the City Park be turned over to the care of the Playground Commission, so that children can be permitted to enjoy this open space under proper conditions, but not with the idea of marring it as a beauty spot.

Howard Williams, chairman of the legislative committee, of which Mayor G. W. V. Moy and Councilman F. L. Holt are also members, reported that the law providing for the appointment of members of the Board of Education by Mayors was in effect and applied to Plainfield.

These officers were elected for the coming year:

President, Mrs. Stephen H. Voorhees; first vice president, Miss Noel J. Bullock; second vice president Miss Anna M. Day; third vice president, Mrs. Frank L. Holt; secretary Mrs. Warren B. Travell; treasurer Mrs. W. H. P. Veyvey.

After the business an excellent program of music was enjoyed. There were vocal duets by Miss Ruth Sadler and Miss Pearl Knapp and soprano solos by Miss Sadler; piano solos by Miss Knapp; vocal solos by Mrs. John B. Cottrell, with violin obligato by Mrs. Violet Truell Johnston, with Mrs. Frank Hubbard at the piano and Miss Eason added to the interest of the entertainment with dialect stories.

Refreshments were served by the following special committee: Mr. Joseph Smith, Mrs. H. M. Douglas, Mrs. L. M. Davis, Mrs. E. V. French, Mrs. Charles C. Dellchunt, Mrs. Samuel P. Case, Mrs. G. W. V. Moy, Mrs. L. R. Williams, Mrs. Betty Williams and Mrs. Arthur Venable.

COURT UNION, I. O. F. HOLDS CLASS INITIATION

Nine candidates were initiated by a uniformed degree team from Court Elizabeth, No. 1, at the class initiation and smoker of Court Union, Independent Order of Foresters, last night. W. T. Bingham, Supreme Court organizer, addressed the meeting, as did L. T. Titsworth, Supreme Court deputy, and Henry Hansen, recording secretary of Court Plainfield.

Following the business session a quoit contest was participated in by a number of the members, LeRoy Opdyke and Ethan Rogers winning. A smoker was also enjoyed as was the music rendered by Statt's orchestra.

BENJAMIN HUGHES PARALYZED.

Rahway, May 28.—Benjamin Hughes, street commissioner for many years, had a paralytic stroke yesterday morning, just as his daughter, Mrs. Fred Cayers, was passing his door at her home. He is unconscious and the physicians give but little hope. The entire right side is affected. He was one of the most active and interested members of Barry Post, G. A. R., at its church service Sunday night. He is about seventy-eight years old.

SAGO RECOVERING.

The condition of Stephen Sago, a Hungarian who was stabbed by a compatriot on Saturday afternoon at a wedding in the Polish Hall on East Second street, is improved. The physicians at Muhlenberg Hospital have hopes of his recovery. His alleged assailant, Andrew Skrasy, was again remanded by City Judge William De Meza in the city court this morning, this time until Friday.

CAMPAIGNED TO LAST MINUTE

man, shoving his way out of the crowd. "I'm going to vote for Roosevelt now."

An extremely pretty girl, attired in white except for a ribbon in her hat, approached Major Rhodes, the President's military aide:

"I must give these to the President," she said, and with that she delivered an armful of roses and carnations to the Major.

Fully 6,000 persons were assembled in the postoffice square at Asbury Park. Automobiles and stylish equipages brought hundreds of early summer visitors from Deal and nearby resorts. Mr. Taft spoke from the steps of the Federal Building. There was great enthusiasm for him.

The audience at Manasquan was very small. At Freehold the President addressed 1,000 from the platform of his train. His reception was better than that accorded Mr. Roosevelt last week.

At Lakewood and Bridgeton Mr. Taft was generously cheered by large crowds.

"How about Champ Clark?" cried a man at Millville, the home town of Gov. Stokes, leader of the Roosevelt forces.

"We'll attend to him later," the President yelled back. Vineland, Mays Landing and Pleasantville all welcomed Mr. Taft cordially.

PERSONAL.

Clifford Coad, of East Third street, is detained at home by a severe cold.

Mrs. L. M. Leek, of East Second street, is detained at home by a severe cold.

Mrs. John Kingston, of Elizabethport, spent the week-end with Mrs. John Hammond, of East Second street.

Miss Lola Downin, of Chicago, Ill., spent the week-end with her cousin, Mrs. F. B. Newell, of West Seventh street.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Penn and their son, A. C. Penn, Jr., of West Seventh street, removed to Philadelphia, Pa., on Saturday.

Mrs. Ellen Trainor, of Newark, and Mrs. Garrett Corrothy, of Bayonne, who have been visiting Mrs. John Hammond, of East Second street, have returned home.

Mrs. J. L. Sabine, of Philadelphia, Pa., mother of H. N. McMennin, general manager of the Vitaphone Company, has removed from Philadelphia to this city. Mrs. Sabine's residence is on Leland avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leveridge, of Sherman avenue, who have been attending the electrical convention at Atlantic City, held during the past week, stopped at Asbury Park for several days on the way home.

Mrs. John J. Shafer, of East Front street, who was summoned to Oberlin, Ohio, to attend the funeral of her sister-in-law, Miss Mary Shafer, returned home today. Miss Shafer, who was 76 years old, was a sister of Miss Helen Shafer, the first woman president of Wellesley College.

Frank B. Newell, of West Seventh street, general export agent of the Washburn-Crosby Gold Medal Flour Company, has returned home from an extended business trip to Buffalo, N. Y., Chicago, Ill., and Minneapolis, Minn. Mr. Newell was accompanied by Seno Julio Escurio, of Havana, Cuba.

THE FORUM.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

I wish to present to your readers some information of a plan to aid a memorial tone to Memorial Day. In many places the day is little more than a holiday, which, with the passing of the old soldiers, is likely to become more so, and it is my idea that if every one in this country, young and old, were to wear on that day a sprig of evergreen, a flower or a little knot of red, white and blue silk ribbon to show to all that they had an "evergreen" memory for the sailors and soldier dead of the Nation from 1776 to date, it would add a metiorial tone to the day that would be lasting in its effects. This plan has already been started by the State Superintendents of Education in Illinois and Wisconsin having circularized their teachers last year and again this for the benefit of the school children, to which will be added the efforts of some twenty other State superintendents for this year.

The G. A. R. and many other patriotic societies have given it their approval, including one Confederate society; and a number of papers will publish articles on the subject this year.

There is no sectionalism in this plan. Just the reverse, and it is my hope that the entire country will soon adopt this idea. I wish to have you publish this and do all you can through your paper to spread this movement.

Very truly yours,
HALSEY B. GREENE.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

There will be no games played in the Manufacturers' League, Thursday.

That will give all of the fans a chance to see the Cuban Giants at Crescent Oval both morning and afternoon.

Manager Dorflinger will strengthen his pitching staff for the occasion and endeavor to give them a taste of the ame medicine given the Lincoln Giants.

The Commercial team will be deprived of Freeman's services from now on. He has left for a trip through the New England States and will then go West.

That will probably make some difference in the results of some of the future games played by the Clerks.

The Bankers evidently were not over anxious for the game with the Truckers, Saturday. They gave it away twice and finally insisted that they keep it.

The Truckers were generous and gave it back twice and were rather surprised when they were compelled to take home the bacon.

The Street Lighters were very cautious how they allowed their bats to come in contact with the assortment offered by Lumley, the new R. G. E. recruit.

Someone in the crowd said before the game began, "Where did he come from?" The answer is New Market.

If the plans are carried out, the first track and field meet ever held on Parker Field will be pulled Thursday. The committee at the Y. M. C. A. is trying hard to make this opening event an auspicious one.

It wouldn't be a bad idea to have an interscholastic meet of the same nature. With three schools of prep school calibre here in Plainfield some excellent athletes should be found, who in another year could get a look-in at some of the scholastic meets conducted by the eastern colleges.

Many a small college would be glad to possess a field so well equipped as the public playground on Randolph road. You can find one of the best tracks and fields in the State there and you are always welcome.

The Spicer team appeared upon the field in their spotless new suits in their game with the Clerks. They are just the opposite color of Phoebie Snow's traveling suit.

Four teams are now tied at .333 for the cellar championship.

Jack Martin, who was quite severell injured by being hit with one of Walter Johnson's fast ones, is improving nicely at his home and expects to get back with the Yanks the latter part of the week.

The P. H. S.-Somerville game scheduled for yesterday afternoon was cancelled by the county seaters. Ineligibility of certain of their players was the excuse given.

The Freshmen baseball team seems to have it on the rest of the classes in the inter-class series at the High School. The only one dropped by them is the one they were compelled to forfeit.

CUBAN GIANTS TO PLAY HERE TWICE THURSDAY

The original Cuban Giants will be here for both the morning and afternoon fracas at Crescent Oval on Decoration Day. The morning game will start at 10:30, while in the afternoon the fun will start at half-past three.

Manager Dorflinger will have three flinging artists on hand to take care of the dusky tossers. Sam Smith, who defeated the Lincoln Giants, will be one of them, Lou Slocum will be another and Frederickson will be the third. With this array things should look up for the Plainfield team.

Home Run Johnson and Clarence Miller will be on hand to keep the crowd amused and help the game along. These two players are not strangers to the Plainfield fans and with the rest of the regular lineup present Dorflinger's bunch will have to go some. It is sure to be interesting so make your plans to see both games.

Saturday afternoon will find the Scotch Plains team here for the first of a series of three games. Weiss, who pitched for the Wheeling, W. Va., team, will put them over for the 'Plains aggregation, while Slocum or Frederickson will be on the mound for Plainfield.

SCOTCH PLAINS' GAME.

The Scotch Plains grammer school team won an exciting game from the Garwood school boys Saturday by the score of 4 to 3. This is the first game lost by the Garwood team this year and it was not until the last man was put out that the game was decided. A return game will be played June 8.

FRESHMEN TRIUMPH OVER JUNIOR TEAM

First Class Men too Much for Upper Class Men and Break Tie.

The Freshmen and Junior class baseball teams of Plainfield High School clashed yesterday afternoon, with a resulting victory for the Freshmen with a close score of 13 to 11. These are the two strongest teams taking part in the inter-class series and the victory gave the Freshmen the lead after a tie between the two teams.

The Freshmen brought across five of their runs in the first two innings while the Juniors could only bring one over the pan in two periods. The Juniors hoisted their colors again in the sixth, however, when they scored four runs. This spurt followed by three runs in the seventh came within one point of tieing the score, which stood at 10 to 9 in favor of the lower classmen. Peacock, who was twirling for the Freshmen, tightened up in the next inning and allowed only one tally and another run in the ninth.

A feature of the game was a double play executed by the Freshmen in the second inning, when Burdick filed to Linke at second and a throw from Linke to LaRue, who was covering second, caught Dennison off base. Bryniarski did the best work with the stick for the Juniors, getting four hits, while De Hart got three hits for the Freshmen. The line-up follows:

WOMEN SEE DARING BANDITS ROB MAN

Bold Daylight Crime Puzzles New York Police.

New York, May 28.—The Jackson avenue station on the elevated subway extension in the Bronx was the scene of an amazingly bold crime in broad daylight when two highwaymen attacked Isaac Stern, a salesman, with a blackjack, inflicting mortal injuries, and robbed him of a diamond stickpin and $80 in cash. The assault and robbery was committed on the downtown station platform in view of scores of men and women waiting for trains and looking on from the rows of apartment houses that wall both sides of Jackson avenue.

A policeman stood on post directly beneath, a bicycle policeman was half a block away. Throngs filled the pavements on both sides of the avenue indeed, there was nothing wanting in the setting to lend melodramatic thrill, and after the robbers had accomplished their purpose they slipped away with the utmost facility, leaving a shrieking neighborhood behind them and a multitude of policemen and detectives running round in circles.

NO DRINKING BY CAPTAIN.

Titanic Skipper Didn't Drink on Night of Disaster.

Washington, May 28.—Chairman Smith of the senate Titanic investigation committee returned from New York and immediately began revision of the committee's report to include some of the evidence which he developed during his taking of testimony in the metropolis. The report will be presented to the senate today.

Smith declared that the charges that Captain Smith of the Titanic had drank liquor on the night of the disaster had been proved absolutely unfounded.

SUCCESSOR TO MR. KREBS AS BOROUGH SCHOOL HEAD

A. B. Vosseler, of Great Neck, L. I., was appointed at last night's meeting of the Borough Board of Education as supervising principal of the North Plainfield schools to succeed H. C. Krebs, who will devote his entire time to the office of county superintendent.

Mr. Vosseler will take charge at the beginning of the next term in September.

STATE-WIDE LAW IS SOUGHT AGAINST RABIES

Atlantic City, May 28.—Means of preventing rabies and a proposed State law regulating the muzzling of dogs were considered at a meeting of the Health Officers' Association of New Jersey at the Marlborough-Blenheim. It was said that while these subjects received more or less attention from local health officers, it was necessary that legislation should be enacted for a uniform manner of procedure. The problem was left with the legislative committee to have a bill drafted that will answer the requirements sought.

The association went on record as favoring a law that will make it compulsory for physicians to report all cases of measles to their local health authorities.

Dr. John J. Cronin, of the Division of Child Hygiene in the New York Health Board, read a paper on infant mortality, showing among other things the large number of deaths in New York among those under two years of age. He said that the question of food was not properly considered by parents in the tenement districts, although he declared that considerable advance had been made in the last few years. He said that heat caused the deaths of more babies in New York than any other cause, and then described conditions during very hot weather.

Health Officer Brown, of Paterson, did not favor what he called the "butting in" of civic societies in the work of the health authorities. Exception to this statement was taken by Dr. Cronin, whose declared that some of these societies were doing valuable work and subscribing liberally to funds for fighting disease.

Jacob C. Taylor, secretary of the United Trades Tuberculosis Association of Essex county, spoke of the work of that society in fighting for better sanitary conditions.

TALK TO C. O. S. WORKERS.

The friendly visiting committee of the Charity Organization Society met at the society's rooms this morning and listened to an instructive talk by Dr. W. H. Murray on the subject of "How the Friendly Visiting Committee Can Help the Board of Health." Dr. Murray said that the best way the people of Plainfield could help to establish sanitary conditions and improve health was to refuse to buy uncooked foodstoffs unless they were protected by a cover.

Martin, who were first and second in the 100 miles tryout at Newark on Saturday cycled over from that city yesterday afternoon and called on Jack Horner, who gave their a right royal welcome. They were accompanied by Manager "Bennie" Hill and had a look over the course which they are to traverse on Decoration Day.

MACHINIST HURT.

Homer Richmond, aged 34 years, of West Front street and Jefferson avenue, employed as a machinist at the plant of the International Motor Company, was treated at Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday for cuts on the head and about the eye. He was working on a multiple drill and in trying to loosen the saddle on the table when several sharp drills struck him.

WIFE SLASHED.

During an altercation between himself and his wife yesterday George Gilbert, colored, of 318 East Fourth street, pulled a knife, it is alleged, and slashed his spouse on the face. The screams of the woman attracted attention and the police were notified. When patrolman Bader arrived he found that Gilbert had fled. A warrant has been issued fro his arrest.

ROUTINE MEETING.

The Borough Board of Education at its meeting last night transacted only routine business.

—Wigg—"Who originated the expression about blood being thicker than water?" Wagg—"I give it up, but I'll bet he never saw the Schuylkill after the spring rains."

—Many a man who wiuld give a dollar to know what we thing of him ought to be willing to sacrifice two dollars not to.

WILBUR WRIGHT.

Little Hope Now Held Out For Life of the Noted Aviator.

Physicians attending Wilbur Wright at Dayton, O., stated that their patient was rapidly approaching death. Dr. D. R. Conklin, Wright's principal physician, stated that heroic treatment was being resorted to in a last effort to save the life of the patient.

PRICE OF BEEF TAKES ANOTHER BIG JUMP

Housewives Will Have to Meet Wholesalers' Raise.

New York, May 28.—Beef prices continued to go up in the wholesale market, and housewives contemplated a corresponding advance in the prices they will have to pay at the retail stores. In general the retailers charge from 1 to 2 cents a pound more for prime meats than they pay.

The wholesalers were getting from 12 to 13 cents a pound for beef.

Wholesale prices for prime cuts of beef were from 2½ to 3½ cents a pound higher than they were a year ago, and common cuts which brought from 7 to 8 cents a pound last year were bringing 10 and 11 cents. Calves and lambs show the same increase in prices. The best lamb brought 12½ cents last year; 16 cents was demanded for the poorest kinds. It is said that retail dealers are carrying them only to accommodate regular customers.

Dealers describe the rise in prices to a shortage in shipments from the west The production of native steers is said to be 25 per cent less than it was a year ago. Corn is bringing a high price in the west, and farmers are not feeding cattle as they do under ordinary circumstances. The consumer is bearing the brunt of these conditions.

FOSS AIDS WOMAN SLAYER.

Will Present Woman's Case to Council For Clemency.

Boston, May 28.—The petition of Mrs. Lena Cusumano for commutation of her sentence to death by electricity will be referred to the executive council for a hearing by Governor Foss. The governor made that announcement after consulting with the attorneys for the condemned, and the council will give a hearing on the matter at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Cusumano and Enrico Mascioli were sentenced to death for the murder of Mrs. Cusumano's husband at Hull in September, 1910, and their executions were set for the week of June 2.

Mascioli has already been transferred to the death cell at the Charlestown state prison, but Mrs. Cusumano is still in the Plymouth county jail.

JERSEY BALLOTS FALLING TODAY

Final Pleas Made by Taft and Roosevelt.

PRINCETON CHEERS TEDDY

Undergraduates Pack Road in Nassau Street—State Senator Austen Colgate Claims Twenty Delegates For President Taft.

Trenton, N. J., May 28.—It is expected that a big vote will be polled in the primaries today. The polls open at 1 o'clock this afternoon and close at 9 o'clock tonight. President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt put in another strenuous day.

"My withers are wrung when they talk of men being loyal to the Republican party," Colonel Roosevelt said in his final argument before a big meeting at Bayonne. He vehemently attacked the Taft wing, as those trying to break up the Republican party and said: "If we had not made this fight the Republican party would have died of dry rot."

Colonel at Princeton.

Princeton was the interesting point of the day. The colonel did not speak in Alexander hall, on which President Hibben had laid his ban against criticism of the president. He spoke from the balcony of the Nassau inn to a crowd, chiefly of undergraduates, who packed the road in Nassau street in front of the ancient and honorable postroad hostelry of John Renwick.

The colonel said not a word about President Taft. He did not mention his name, nor did he say a word about President Hibben.

Claims Twenty For Taft.

Lakewood, N. J., May 28.—Declaration that Mr. Taft would get twenty of New Jersey's twenty-eight delegates was made by Austin Colgate, president of the Taft League of New Jersey, who has traveled through the state with the president.

Mr. Taft urged a crowd at Asbury Park to vote to sustain the constitution and our present institutions and to suppress the third term. Speaking in Freehold, he said he would not take a third term, no matter how many Mr. Roosevelt would take. The president declared this was one of the most critical elections in a half century.

Colonel Preaches Discontent.

"Mr. Roosevelt is preaching discontent," said the president. "He is trying to arouse those who are discontented against the more fortunate, a doctrine, which, if successful, will be the beginning of the breaking down of the republic. I don't claim that I make the crops grow; I don't claim that I make the rain fall, but my administration does not interfere with business.

"I understand that somebody is afraid that I have not promised that I would not take a third term. I have not directly said so," said the president, in Freehold. "I have opposed the third term for everybody else, I would certainly oppose it for myself, and I won't change my mind."

Nearly 10,000 persons were on hand to greet the president at Long Branch, and the enthusiasm was about the greatest of the day.

MATTHEW C. D. BORDEN DEAD

Prominent Cotton Mill Man Succumbs at Red Bank, N. J.

Red Bank, N. J., May 28.—Matthew C. D. Borden, president of the Fall River Iron Works company, died at his summer home here after a long illness. He was seventy years old. His family had recently been called to his bedside from the Borden town residence in New York.

Mr. Borden, who was one of the most prominent cotton mill men in the country, was born at Fall River, Mass. His father, Colonel Richard Borden, was a cloth manufacturer of large interests and also the builder of several railroads and director of a steamboat line between Fall River and New York.

Mr. Borden was always devoted to his native town, as his father had been before him, and he gave liberally to charity. Associated with him in business was his son, Bertram H. Borden, who represents the ninth generation of Fall River Bordens.

CLARK COHORTS ORGANIZE.

A Thousand Missouri Leaders to Go to Baltimore by Special Train.

St. Louis, May 28.—Plans to help Speaker Clark to win the nomination for the presidency were discussed at a meeting of the Democratic state committee. Arrangements were made for 1,000 Democratic leaders from the various counties of Missouri to attend the Baltimore convention.

Three special trains, to be known as the Champ Clark Special No. 1, the Champ Clark Special No. 2 and the Houn' Dog special, will depart from St. Louis for Baltimore Saturday, June 22, with part of the Champ Clark rooters

Mott Not Pursuing Son.

Plymouth, England, May 28.—Jordan L. Mott of New York arrived here and started at once for London. He denied that he was pursuing his son. He admitted that he had heard by wireless that his son had eloped, but added that he did not believe the story.

RUTGERS COLLEGE MEN SUSPENDED

Are Charged With Holding a "Beer Keg Party."

FORTY-NINE UNDER BAN.

Student Body Indignant, as No Warning Was Given Not to Participate in Party, a Thing That Has Been Customary For Years.

New Brunswick, N. J., May 28.—Forty-nine of the sixty-five members of the graduating class of Rutgers college were suspended until further notice by order of President Demarest, made known at a meeting of himself and the entire class. The cause is a beer keg party held at the Raritan Landing bridge after the class banquet.

Great indignation exists among the student body generally at this proceeding, for it is pointed out that no warning was given the students not to participate in the party, a thing that has been customary for the past years and which was considered by the students as a necessary adjunct to graduation. Also it is known generally that these parties are held and that the college authorities were well aware of them, but have previously to this not molested the students in any way.

Prohibition Men There.

Among the forty-nine members suspended and who have admitted that they were present at the beer keg party are an officer of the Prohibition club of the college, officers of the Y. M. C. A. and members of the Targum association.

It has been customary for a number of years for the seniors to adjourn to Raritan Landing after their annual banquet and there end up with a jollification by imbibing beer from kegs. By going practically outside the city nobody was particularly disturbed by this ancient midnight custom.

Who brought the matter to the attention of President Demarest is not known, but the proceeding was not a novelty for a Rutgers graduating class.

CYCLES IN HEAD-ON COLLISION

Two Riders Found Unconscious In Road Near Perth Amboy.

Perth Amboy, N. J., May 28.—As he was passing the Mullen farm, between Metuchen and this city, Fred Cox, an insurance agent of this city, saw two men lying in the roadway unconscious. A demolished motorcycle and a bicycle lay beside them. The men were taken to the City hospital, where it is said that both may die.

Louis Clark, nineteen years old, of Metuchen, the motorcyclist, was coming to Perth Amboy and had reached the base of the hill when N. C. Madsen, forty-seven years old, of this city, who was riding his bicycle toward Metuchen, collided with him. Clark has a fractured skull. Madsen is injured internally and his right shoulder is broken.

CARRY SICK GIRL FROM FIRE

Rescuers Nearly Suffocated by Thick Clouds of Smoke.

Paterson, N. J., May 28.—Miss Rose A. Waks, a high school student, who was ill in bed, narrowly escaped being burned to death at a fire here. The girl was carried from the house through thick clouds of smoke and her rescuers were nearly suffocated. She was taken to the home of a neighbor.

The fire was discovered in the apartments of Henry Raskin, on the first floor. Miss Waks lives on the upper floor of the house with her parents. While neighbors rushed into the house the fire gained headway, and by the time they had wrapped the girl up the smoke had filled the hallway, and it was with difficulty that they were able to carry her from the building.

LABORERS IN A. F. OF L. FOLD

Affiliation of Strikers Changes Situation—Disorder Likely to Cease.

Newark, N. J., May 28.—The strike of the laborers, now entering its fourth week, has assumed an entirely new aspect through the action of the strikers in voting to become affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. The announcement was made by H. T. Keating of New York, a general organizer for the federation, that the affiliation is now an accomplished fact.

Immediate results of this development are the cessation of the picketing operations that have caused all the trouble since the strike began and the return to work of strikers in all cases where employers agree to recognize the union and pay the demanded 25 cents an hour.

BOY IS DROWNED.

On Way to Decorate Grave When Fatality Occurred.

Camden, N. J., May 28.—Charles Korsan, nine years old, was drowned in Newton creek, near Woodlynne park. The boy was watching other boys fishing and fell from the bridge. Two of the young fishermen had a narrow escape in efforts to save Korsan. The latter carried a bouquet of flowers and held on to it while he was struggling in the water. The little fellow was on his way to decorate the graves of relatives.

MANY ACTIVITIES IN 1ST BAPTIST SCHOOL

They Include Tennis Club for Young Women and Ball Club for Men.

Fifty of the officers and teachers of the First Baptist Bible School met at the home of the pastor, Rev. Philip B. Strong 124 West Eighth street, last night for their monthly business meeting. Plans for summer work were made.

A large tennis club composed of young women in the school has been formed, and they will play at regular times after the middle of June on the court at the home of Supt. Arthur M. Harris, on Central avenue. The men have a baseball team, which will soon begin playing.

The school expects to send a delegate to the World's Sunday-school Convention at Zurich, Switzerland, in the summer of 1913, and a committee is making plans for the event. During the course of the evening it was proposed that a bicycle be purchased by the school for the church missionary, Mrs. Rising, for use in her work visiting among the members of the school and congregation. The funds were immediately appropriated for the purpose.

After the serving of refreshments and a social hour the meeting adjourned to meet again the first Monday night in October. The school is in a highly flourishing condition and the teachers are earnest and enthusiastic. Under the splendid leadership of Supt. Harris great things are being accomplished and greater things hoped for the future.

LOCAL CHESS PLAYERS TO MEET CHADWICK TONIGHT

Stanley H. Chadwick will engage a strong aggregation of chess enthusiasts this evening at 8 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A in a simultaneous exhibition. Those who have signified their intention of playing are: Henry D. Hibbard, Hollis Cubberly, Warren B. Travell, Chas. L. Goodrich, S. S. Carvalho, Lindsay Best, Arthur Denton, Leo Slonim Carl Silbert, Sidney Rockwell, A. Hoagland and W. Morehouse, of Westfield.

There will probably be others who could not say definitely that they would take boards. The High School Chess Club will endeavor to have two of its strongest representatives take part. There is still room for others. All players will bring their own men and boards. Play will start promptly at 8 o'clock.

CHOIR BOYS OF GRACE TO APPEAR IN CANTATA

The cantata, "Jack and the Baked Bean Stalk," by Bullard, will be presented by the boys of Grace church choir, assisted by Bert Tallamy, at the Grace church parish house Friday evening of this week at eight o'clock, for the benefit of the summer camp at Manasquan Beach, where the boys spend their annual vacation under the care and supervision of the choirmaster, S. Frederick Smith. Among the soloists for the cantata are Eugene Martin (Princess), Carlyle Wright (Jack), Irving Manley (the little old lady), David Patterson (the dwarf), Bert Tallamy (the Ogre). The music is very pretty, bright and catchy and the boys have worked hard to make the concert a big success.

POLISH SOCIETY WILL HOLD BIG CELEBRATION

The first big local celebration of the granting of the constitution of May 3 to the Polish people is being arranged by the John III. Sobieski Society for Decoration Day in their hall on East Second street. A solemn requim mass will be attended in St. Joseph's church at ten o'clock and prayers will be said for all Polish people who gave up their lives as members of the Union Army.

The chairman of the celebration committee will open another meeting at 2:30 with a speech which will be followed by an address by Ferdinand Zimkiewicz and other prominent Poles. Visiting societies will be present from Bound Brook, South Plainfield, Perth Amboy, Elizabeth, Milburn and several other towns.

The delegates at large for Governor Wilson are:

Trenton, N. J., May 29.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt and Governor Woodrow Wilson are the victors in the presidential primary election in New Jersey.

Indications based on returns from all parts of the state indicate that Roosevelt will get all the twenty-eight delegates of the state. He has apparently made a clean sweep, beating Taft worse than in Ohio, Pennsylvania or Illinois. His preference, with plurality, is about 30,000.

The victory of Governor Wilson in the Democratic primary over the Smith-Nugent machine, which had made a contest against him in every one of the twenty-one counties of New Jersey was more decisive.

The vote for Senator La Follette was scattering and small.

The returns indicated in the Democratic primaries that the Wilson delegates at large and the district delegates from all but two congressional districts in Essex county had been elected. The governor was beaten in Essex by 5,000.

Returns were exceedingly slow in coming in. In some of the rural sections the vote for the Wilson delegates at large and the district delegates ran as high as 10 to 1 cast for the uninstructed delegates placed in the field by the Smith-Nugent combine. In the preferential space on the ballot Governor Wilson ran without a rival.

Opposition in Essex.

The only section of the state where anything approximating a strong opposition to Colonel Roosevelt and Governor Wilson made itself felt was in Essex county and more particularly the city of Newark, the county seat and principal industrial and business center of the state.

This is the headquarters both of the Taft Business Men's league, which bore the brunt of the primary battle for President Taft and also the center from which ex-United States Senator James Smith, Jr., and his chief lieutenant, James R. Nugent, conducted their operations against Governor Wilson.

In some election districts in the city of Newark Colonel Roosevelt did not receive a single vote, while Governor Wilson was snowed under by the primary ballots cast by the followers of Smith and Nugent for their uninstructed delegates at large and district delegates.

Concedes Roosevelt's Victory.

The early returns from some sections of New Jersey, notably from Essex county, Atlantic City and Trenton, strongholds of some potential politicians supporting the president, gave comfort to the campaign managers for President Taft, but as the returns began to come in from the southern portion of the state and from certain of the industrial cities, such as Paterson, Jersey City and Elizabeth, these hopes were extinguished.

Edward W. Gray, secretary of the state Republican committee, conceded that Colonel Roosevelt had carried the state on the preferential vote and that he would have the delegates at large and the delegates from ten of the congressional districts, leaving only eight

ACTION FOR SLANDER DISMISSED BY COURT

Mrs. Waldron Unsuccessful in Suit Against Wm. Goff Before Judge Hetfield.

In the District Court this morning, before Judge Walter L. Hetfield, Mrs. Alice Waldron, of Manson place, brought suit against William Goff, of Manson place, for $500 for alleged slander. The action was based on a conversation that was alleged to have taken place in a saloon between the defendant and a man named Waldron, in which words were alleged to have passed reflecting on the character of the plaintiff.

After hearing the evidence Judge Hetfield dismissed the action on the ground of no cause for action. The plaintiff was represented by Lawyer Robert Newton Crane, and the defendant by J. H. Crane.

In the suit of Charles Geibeler, of this city, against Emmanuel Kapelsohn, of Arlington avenue, for the sum of $300, on foot of a promissory note, the defence put in a recoupment, claiming that the work for which the note was given was not properly done. The court awarded a verdict for the full amount of the note with interest and costs.

J. H. Crane represented Charles Geibeler, and R. N. Crane appeared for Emanuel Kapelsohn.

CHARLES NYSTROM WEDS MISS ANNA E. KERWIN

Father Dunphy, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony in the presence of about one hundred relatives and friends.

The bride was gowned in white satin, trimmed with Irish point lace and carried white carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Anna O'Donnell, of Newark, wore a gown of white marquisette and carried pink carnations. The best man was Daniel Quinlivan.

A reception will be given to the couple at the home of the bride's parents tonight. Mr. and Mrs. Nystrom will spend their honeymoon in Washington and later return to this city to live. The bride received a large collection of gifts from relatives and friends.

MISS HATTIE VAN NEST BRIDE OF J. D. ROBERTS

Miss Hattie Harber VanNest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John VanNest, of Martinsville, and John D. Roberts, of Duer street, the borough, were married at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon by Rev. J. Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church. The ceremony was performed at the home of the officiating clergyman. The couple were unattended.

The bride was gowned in grey whip-cord, with hat to match and she carried a bouquet of bride roses. Immediately following the ceremony the couple went to their new home on Stone street. They will be "at home" to their friends after June 1.

The bride, who is a niece of Mrs. Martha B. Colthar, of Duer street, has many friends in the city and borough. Mr. Roberts is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Roberts, of Martinsville. He is employed as foreman for the contracting firm of Rouse & Fulleger of this city.

PLAINFIELD GAVE TAFT A MAJORITY

President's Delegates-at-large Get 289 Votes More Than Roosevelt's.

WILSON WINS EASILY

Only Feeble Opposition to Governor—Total Vote 75 Per Cent. of That Cast at the Last General Election.

Plainfield was one of the few larger communities in the state that was not swept into the Roosevelt column in yesterday's battle for delegates to the National Conventions.

The Republican organization forces made good their promise to the county leaders and got out a Taft vote that produced a majority for the President. The Taft district delegates received a vote of 820 in the four wards, and the Roosevelt district delegates 554, a Taft majority of 266. The Taft delegates-at-large recived 854 votes and the Roosevelt delegates 565, a majority of 289 for Taft.

La Follette, candidate of the "simon pure" Progressives ran weakly, his district delegates receiving 31 votes, and the delegates-at-large 27.

Governor Wilson was an overwhelming victor in the Democratic primary. His district delegates got 198 votes, and the candidates put up by the Smith forces received 85, a Wilson majority of 113. The Wilson delegates-at-large received 295 votes and the opposition ticket 68, a majority of 227 for the Governor. The delegates that ran against the Wilson men were uninstructed.

Roosevelt carried three districts in the city—the Third district of the First ward and the Third and Sixth of the Fourth ward. The Taft leaders in the city were pleased with the result here, although, as one of them said today, they would liked to have turned out a Taft vote big enough to nullify the Roosevelt vote in Elizabeth. Of that result, however, they admit now there was never any real hope.

Two Plainfielders were on the Republican ticket. Mayor Moy is elected an alternate Roosevelt delegate; former City Judge William N. Runyon was defeated for alternate Taft delegate.

At the last election, approximately 2,500 votes were cast. The Republican ballots numbered then some 1,700. Accepting this as a basis, the Republicans yesterday cast seventy-five per cent. of their vote. The Democratic strength was sixty-one per cent. of what it represented at the last election. Taken as a whole, both parties being included, the vote yesterday was seventy-five per cent. of that cast at the last election.

The election was generally quiet, except for the flutter of excitement that stirred the Taft leaders when they detected the printer's error on the official ballot, as told yesterday, which put Taft's name in the space where La Follette's name apepared on the sample ballot.

The vote in Plainfield in detail is given in a table elsewhere in the paper.

BORO ALSO GOES FOR PRESIDENT

President Taft was the Presidential choice of the voters of North Plainfield by 178 to Roosevelt 148. Senator Robert M. La Follette received two votes. Governor Woodrow Wilson was high man on the Democratic ticket with 148; while Champ Clark received 2 and William Jennings Bryan one.

The interest taken in the primaries was not so manifest as in the city. Yet there was a fairly strong endorsement which gave little evidence of its trend.

From the moment the polling booths were opened at one o'clock till they closed at nine nothing unusual transpired. Voters straggled in at irregular intervals. The polling was light in all five districts, the heaviest being recorded from 6 o'clock on.

Voting by districts resulted as follows:

REPUBLICAN.

First District—Taft, 54; Roosevelt, 28; La Follette, 0.

Second District—Taft, 37; Roosevelt, 35; La Follette, 0.

Fourth District—Taft, 54; Roosevelt, 52; La Follette, 2.

Fifth District—Taft, 14; Roosevelt, 19; La Follette, 0.

Totals—Taft, 178; Roosevelt, 148; La Follette, 2.

DEMOCRATIC.

First District—Wilson, 38; Clark and Bryan, 0.

Second District—Wilson, 26; Clark

Arrowsmith Unable to Get $15,000 Bond Required by Chancery Court.

HIS SIDE OF THE CASE

Says His Arrest At Instigation of Liscombe Heir Is a Result of Family Quarrel—Denies He Intended to Leave Country.

Unable to secure a bondsman in the sum of $15,000, James L. Arrowsmith, of West Seventh street, near Plainfield avenue, is still a prisoner at the county jail in Elizabeth. He was arrested on a writ issued by the Court of Chancery on the information that he was about to leave the country but as an accounting is alleged to be due from him as executor of the estate of Mrs. Sarah E. Liscombe, the heirs compelled him to postpone the trip.

Monday night was the first time that the prisoner had taken anything to eat since being locked up. His fast extended from Saturday morning's breakfast. He also consistently refused to have anything to do with the other prisoners when allowed the freedom of the corridor until last night. Then he wrote a letter for a Plainfield negro prisoner.

To a reporter Mr. Arrowsmith yesterday told his side of the predicament in which he finds himself. He said it was the culmination of a family quarrel that has been going on for several years, and at the proper time will be straightened out, vindicating him and freeing his name of the stigma of arrest and incarceration.

Those whom Mr. Arrowsmith blames for his embarrassment are two half brothers, an alf sister and their father, who is his stepfather. It was on affidavits made by them and another person, whom the prisoner said he never knew or heard of before, that the chancery writ was secured fixing $15,000 as the bond under which he is to answer when wanted in the matter of the estate of Mrs. Sarah E. Liscombe, of which he is executor and his half sister and brothers, heirs.

Mr. Arrowsmith was arrested at his luxuriously furnished home on West Seventh street Saturday morning before breakfast by Sheriff Wright and Deputy George Peck, Jr. The sheriff and his deputy were driven to the Arrowsmith home in an automobile and were accompanied by M. Casewell Heine, of Jersey City, counsel for the heirs.

Before becoming private secretary to Mrs. Liscombe several years prior to her death, Mr. Arrowsmith was engaged in prominent financial positions in New York and at one time was in the brokerage business for himself. Previous to that he acted as paying teller, cashier and bookkeeper in some of the large metropolitan banking institutions.

The legatees filed a caveat against the will left by Mrs. Liscombe, but it was dismissed after a hearing and the will admitted to probate, along with an inventory of the estate which was filed at the same time. The heirs then filed exceptions to the inventory, as it indicated to them a surprising shrinkage in the five years between the death of Mr. Liscombe and Mrs. Liscombe, who was her husband's sole heir. The exception hearings have been held in the Orphans Court for several weeks and Judge Atwater gave permission to have a number of witnesses who reside out of state give their testimony by deposition.

It was while this was being done that the affidavits were made accusing the executor. Then information was received that he was contemplating going to Europe and the restraining order secured and executed. Mr. Arrowsmith flatly denied that he had any intention of leaving the country or the State, except to go to New York on business, as had been his usual custom.

GRAND JURY'S FINAL REPORT LAID REFORE THE COURT

Elizabeth, May 29 (Special).—The Union County Grand Jury, of which B. F. Coriell, of Plainfield, is foreman, appeared before Judge Atwater, of the Court of Common Pleas, this morning, with their final report. During their term a total of 42 indictments had been brought in, 23 being reported at this time and no indictments.

Previous to handing in their report the jury made an inspection of the jail, being escorted on their tour by Warden Dodd. They included in their statement the fact that they had found the jail in a most satisfactory condition.

DON'T LEAVE FLAG FLYING AFTER SUNSET

Rules Camp Bagley Urges to Insure Proper Respect for Old Glory.

The Flag Committee of Ensign Bagley Post, No. 21, Spanish War Veterans, has issued a brief guide to the proper display of the colors and other points of flag etiquette. These are the rules:

1. Under no circumstances should the flag be raised before sunrise, or left flying after sunset.

2. The flag should never be used as a table or stand covering. A person should never stand or sit upon the flag, nor should objects ever be placed upon it.

3. When a single flag is used in decorating, the field (that portion containing the stars) should be uppermost and outermost. If the flag is suspended as from a porch, for instance, with the stripes vertical, the field should be away from the steps or entrance. If the stripes are horizontal the field is then towards the entrance. As a guide to the proper way note where the field would be if the flag were fastened to a pole and you stood at the entrance or vantage point holding it.

4. The flag should always be neatly folded, and never bunched up and thrown into a corner or upon the floor. It should never be permitted to touch the floor or ground.

5. On Memorial Day the flag should be raised to the top of the staff at sunrise, and then immediately lowered to a point about two-thirds the distance from the base of the staff. At noon the flag should be raised to the top of the staff and left there until sunset.

6. To indicate mourning the flag should be first raised to the top of the staff, and then lowered to a point about two-thirds the distance from the base. At sunset it should be first raised to the top of the staff before lowering.

7. In a parade the leading, and other important national colors should be saluted by uncovering (holding the hat at the left shoulder with the right hand, elbow close to the body, left arm falling naturally at the side) on the part of all men and boys; and by saluting (bringing the right hand, fingers extended and joined wrist straight, to a point just above the right eye) on the part of all women and gril, if seated rise.

8. Any organization composed of veterans, such as the Grand Army of the Republic, etc., is entitled to the honors mentioned in paragraph 7 whether carrying colors or not.

9. In addition to the regular holidays the flag should be displayed on June 14, Flag Day.

10. Every good American citizen, actual or prospective, should be thoroughly familiar with the words of "The Star Spangled Banner," and should rise promptly at the first note and remain standing until the end.

SEN. MARTINE IN TOWN.

United States Senator James E. Martine came from Washington yesterday for the purpose of voting at the primaries. He spent the afternoon and evening in town calling on his many friends. He returned to Washington at midnight.

"FINE PIECE OF WORK."

Oyster, Bay, May 29.—"A fine piece of work. It speaks for itself," was the comment of Theodore Roosevelt today in reference to the results of the New Jersey primaries yesterday.

Union county gave its verdict in favor of Col. Roosevelt. Among the district delegates, the Roosevelt candidates ran over 400 ahead of the Taft men.

In Morris county the Taft

Mayor Geo. W. V. Moy,
T. R. District Alternate.

delegates in the district received some 100 more votes than did the Roosevelt bunch. Hence, the T. R. representatives won in the Fifth district by about 300 votes.

For delegates at large, the Roosevelt people carried Union county by over 300. This was much to the surprise of the President's friends who predicted freely that Union would be solid for their man.

Rahway went for T. R. Summit was for Taft by 61 votes. As for Westfield, there was a majority of 30 for Taft. Cranford registered its preference for Taft. It was a landslide for Roosevelt in Elizabeth, the Colonel having a majority of about 600. In Roselle the result was favorable to Roosevelt. Plainfield was for Taft by 266.

The complete tabulated results for both parties in Union county follow:

MACHINISTS WANT AN EIGHT-HOUR DAY

Local Union Will Hold Meeting Monday To Formulate Demand on Employers.

Plainfield Lodge, No. 167, International Association of Machinists, will hold a special meeting Monday night to take final action on voicing their demands for the eight-hour work day. At the regular meeting last Monday night the members of the association here sent to headquarters for a strike sanction. It is expected that this will be granted so that action can be taken at the special meeting Monday night.

The international association at its last annual convention held in Davenport, Iowa, last September, endorsed the eight-hour day for the shops engaged in the manufacture of printing press machinery. The idea is to have the shorter work day put in force gradually. The immediate demands of the men are for an eight and a half hour work day with a further reduction of another quarter hour on January 1 and have the flat eight-hour day go into effect June 1, 1913. The shorter hour work day is now in force in the three largest factories, namely, R. H. Hoe & Co., New York, printing press manufacturers; Wessel, of Brooklyn, printing press manufacturers, and the plant of the Mergenthaler Lynotype Company, Brooklyn.

STANLEY CHADWICK IS REMARKABLE CHESS PLAYER

A highly interesting chess gathering was held at the Y. M. C. A. last night, when Stanley H. Chadwick, of Cranford, formerly secretary of the Brooklyn Chess Club, engaged ten players in a simultaneous exhibition. The lone-player carried off the honors without losing a game. To many of the spectators this was a remarkable achievement inasmuch as Mr. Chadwick was playing ten games.

Two of the games are worthy of special mention. Henry D. Hibbard at the first board kept Mr. Chadwick on his mettle through the entire game. At a late hour, with pieces and position about equal, it was agreed to consider the game as drawn. Tis was the only game not won by Mr. Chadwick.

At board ten, Arthur Denton played a splendid opening and middle game, proving himself a player of merit. He finally succumbed to a beautiful combination as the game was working into the end-game.

The High School was represented by Lindsey Best, Joseph Sattels and Rufus Tilden. A strong chess club will be organized and a team entered against representatives from Cranford, Westfield and Elizabeth.

The following were the players together with their openings and scores:

1—Henry D. Hibbard, Sicilian, drawn.
2—A. E. Hoagland, Irregular, lost.
3—Lindsey Best, Ginecco, Piano lost.
4—George E. Webster, Irregular, lost.
5—A. W. Hauck, In Gambit Dee, lost.
6—Rufus Tilden, Scotch, lost.
7—Joseph Sattels, Vienna, lost.
8—W. Morehouse, Evans, lost.
9—Sidney J. Rockwell, Scotch, lost.
10—Arthur Denton, Ruy Lopez, lost.

Another match will be arranged to which the women enthusiasts will also be invited.

ANOTHER MERRY THRONG DRAWN TO CARNIVAL

The Knights of Columbus carnival grounds on West Front street, near Grant avenue, were crowded with a merry throng until a late hour last evening. The policy of the committee in discontinuing the charge for admission to the grounds has helped to swell the numbers attending.

Pattee's Diving Girls and the Boxing Kangaroo drew a large number of people to their tents, and the other major attractions reported capacity audiences at each performance. Ferari's hippodrome, showing dog, monkey and pony acts, augmented by a special number by the famous mule "Maud," proved to be a feature of considerable interest. There will be matinee performances on Memorial Day and Saturday afternoons.

The grounds were dusty last evening, but this difficulty will be avoided in the future by having them well sprinkled.

The Auxiliary Tent, which is well supplied with refreshments, is patronized by everybody entering the grounds. It is very tastefully decorated.

He was first observed on Springfield avenue by a party of women, who were returning on foot from a funeral at West Summit. He chased it up Springfield avenue to the residence of Assessor William Woodruff, where the dog turned in and he killed it, after firing several shots. A good many persons had narrow escapes.

ROCKEFELLER IS WARY.

Cool and Smiling Under Cross Examination by Mr. Untermeyer.

New York, May 29.—John D. Rockefeller, cool, smiling and ingenuous, was subjected for two hours to the sharpest kind of an examination at the hands of Samuel Untermeyer, in connection with the litigation between the Standard Oil interests and the Pierce faction in the Waters-Pierce Oil company, without giving a direct and positive answer to much more than a dozen questions of consequence.

This lack of definiteness on his part seemed to grieve him almost as much as it exasperated Mr. Untermeyer. He said several times that he wanted to answer to the best of his ability. He seemed disappointed when Mr. Untermeyer announced that he was finished, and as the hearing broke up he put his arm on the lawyer's shoulder and said:

"I'm afraid I was a little stupid today and didn't understand all of your questions thoroughly."

WAITING WORD TO MOVE INTO CUBA

Marines Are Ready to Perform Police Duty.

BLUEJACKETS NOT LANDED

Advices Are That Government Troops and Insurrectionists Are Avoiding a Meeting—Gomez May Treat With Rebels.

Washington, May 29.—Seven hundred and fifty marines arrived at Guantanamo bay on the Prairie, and the mobilization of half the Atlantic fleet at Key West is proceeding without a hitch. With the stage all set for the United States to step into Cuba to perform police duty, the situation, so far as Washington is concerned, hangs upon the intentions of the leaders of the negro revolt in the island republic.

Yet so far as the navy department is informed not a single bluejacket or marine has yet set foot on Cuban soil—the Guantanamo bay naval station being constructively American territory. Furthermore, no orders have been sent any officer of the navy or marine corps to send any men into Cuban territory, nor is such an order under consideration at the moment. Neither have orders been issued or taken into consideration for the dispatch of the Atlantic fleet to Key West within a week. Reports to this effect circulated here were most emphatically denied by all officials at the navy department.

Situation at Standstill.

The fact is that the Cuban situation has come to a standstill so far as the United States government is concerned. Advices from Cuba state that the government troops do not seem to be seeking out the negroes to disperse them, while the negroes are assiduously avoiding encounter with President Gomez's troops.

There is, however, a good deal of pillaging being indulged in by the negroes. Positive information came to the state department to the effect that, contrary reports notwithstanding, there has been no destruction of valuable property in all the disaffected regions.

Money Paid Under Threats.

Involuntary contributions have been extracted by threats of violence from the manager of the San Miguel sugar mill to the extent of $1,000, while $1,500 was stolen from a Spanish shop in El Caney del Sillo.

Estenoz has begun a discussion with the Gomez government, and it is believed by many that President Gomez will ultimately treat with the rebels. Estenoz is demanding the repeal of the Morua law, which prohibits the organization of a negro political party. Unless this demand is complied with Estenoz has informed President Gomez he will demand money contributions from the railroad owners and owners of the large estates to prolong the conflict.

PASTOR DIES SAYING GRACE.

Dr. Arthur A. King Fatally Stricken While at Breakfast Table.

New York, May 29.—While he was saying grace at breakfast in the rectory of the Emanuel English Lutheran church, the Rev. Arthur A. King, pastor of the church, suddenly collapsed.

His wife hurriedly summoned Dr. E. M. Raynor, but when the physician arrived the preacher was dead. Heart failure was given in the report to the coroner as the cause of death.

Dr. King was thirty-five years old and was well known in the neighborhood, where he had lived for the past twelve years. He was one of the founders of the Samuel English church and had been pastor for nearly twelve years.

Mrs. King said that her husband had been up several nights with their son, Arthur junior, who has been ill, and she thinks the strain may have weakened her husband.

TIM HURST IS DYING.

Former Baseball Expert and Boxing Referee Pneumonia Victim.

New York, May 29.—Tim Hurst, former baseball expert and boxing referee and manager of the Madison Square Athletic club, is dying at his home in Rockaway Park.

Dr. Garrett K. Schenck, his physician, said there was practically no hope that Hurst would recover.

Hurst had a severe attack of pleuro-pneumonia two weeks ago and apparently recovered. Last Thursday he felt able to resume his work and against his physician's advice came to New York on business of the Madison Square Athletic club.

AN EXPECTED RESULT.

No careful observer of political conditions in the State expected any other result at yesterday's Republican primaries than a triumph for Theodore Roosevelt. Every fair and honest newspaper, whether favoring Mr. Taft or not, and whether located in New York, Philadelphia or within the State, predicted a Roosevelt victory, although few could forsee that it would be so sweeping. It was only in the minds of a few practical politicians, such for instance as Franklin Murphy and Frank O. Briggs, and the politician-controlled daily newspaper organs, which tried feebly but vainly to influence public sentiment, that there were any declarations to the effect that Mr. Taft would win in New Jersey.

The success of Mr. Roosevelt in New Jersey makes it possible to draw no other conclusion than that the rank and file of the Republican party want him for their standard bearer during the fall campaign, and are opposed to the renomination of Mr. Taft. The majority of the party from one end of the country to the other has shown that they approve of the candidacy and policies of the former President, and wherever they have been given a chance, through a true direct primary, such as that of this State, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Oregon, Illinois and other States, they have registered their approval of his candidacy. We are merely stating facts; not expressing opinions. Incidentally Mr. Roosevelt has been acquitted by the fairest juries in the land—the people of each State as a whole—of the charges made against him by President Taft, in the latter's splendid effort to stem the tide.

If there are any Republicans who still feel opposed to Mr. Roosevelt and will not vote for him if he is nominated, it is a safe guess that their falling away will be more than offset by the thousands of Democrats who would not vote for anyone else outside of their party except for the former President, whose personality impresses them.

Roosevelt's continued evidence of popularity demonstrates that he will control the Chicago convention, and will be nominated, for it now appears that by the eighteenth of next month the flop to Roosevelt will be little less than a procession. The delegates in the Southern States are nearly all officeholders, and they will not take a chance on having a Democrat elected, thus losing their postoffices and other jobs.

Yesterday's election was the severest blow that the Republican organization throughout the State has ever suffered. It means the retirement of many of such old line bosses as Baird, Murphy and Briggs, and the dawn of a new order of things from one end of the State to the other. It does not mean the elimination of such men as Frank H. Smith who are genuine leaders and not corrupt bosses. It means that the people now fully realize that with direct primary and honest system of elections they can control all nominations, and that in the future New Jersey will rank with the most progressive of the States of the Union.

LIVE WIRE CHURCHES.

Only very recently have the churches awakened to the fact that to prosper they must follow on the same lines of a well conducted business house and avail themselves of the advertising space of the daily newspaper. To reach the people it is absolutely necessary that the best possible medium be used and that naturally is the paper that goes into the homes every day. Our readers have observed in Saturday's issues the display advertisements of the Temple Baptist church and the First Presbyterian church and occasionally those of Grace Episcopal church. These three can rightfully claim that they are the pioneers here in sane publicity. But it will not be long before many other churches are alive to the situation and will resort to the advertising columns to get in direct communication with the people generally. This is a general, not a local movement, for it is getting to be the rule, no longer the exception, to pick up a newspaper and read in large black-faced type one or more church announcements.

"If interest in church affairs in Newport, Rhode Island, is livelier than in other places of corresponding size," says the Philadelphia Record, "we can easily account for that fact by a glance at a recent issue of a Newport newspaper. One advertisement announces that 'Army and Navy Men Will Find a Welcome at the First Presbyterian Church, Broadway,' etc.; another calls attention to a musical recital under religious auspices; a third exploits a 'Salad Supper' at a parish house; and a strawberry festival and other church events are advertised in much the same manner as secular entertainment enterprises are exploited in newspaper space in other citites."

The church needs the help of the advertising columns of the newspapers for the promotion of its spiritual and social welfare. The business men who are interested in church work should to a greater extent apply ordinary business principles to the problem of making it successful. The churches can effectively send their messages into the homes through Plainfield's progressive paper, the Daily Press.

"The New Jersey primaries must be accepted as fair test of the sentiment and interest of the voters in the Presidential contest," says the New York World, which is opposed to Taft and bitterly opposed to Roosevelt. That paper goes on to say: "In no other State has money or political organization played so small a part in the campaign. With a strict Registration law and a drastic Corrupt-Practices law the opportunities for corruption were reduced to a minimum. The ballot was so simple and the issue was so plain that no obstacles lay in the way of the voter's expressing his Presidential choice."

Saturday's editorial writer will be a New York lawyer of note; a Plainfield councilman of much distinction and above all a man respected and admired by everyone in the community. We can't tell you what he will discuss for we don't know ourselves. We do known one thing—it will be something to make you think. To make one think is the fundamental idea of the contributed editorial.

Certainly Plainfield gave sufficient evidence of the popularity of the direct primaries. The vote cast here yesterday was seventy-five per cent. of that at the last general election. On the Republican side, eighty-five per cent. of the total Republican vote at the general election was cast at this primary.

Tomorrow will be Memorial Day a day set apart for honoring the memory of those brave men who fought and died that the Union be one and inseparable. It will be a public holiday, therefore, the Daily Press will not be issued.

We are not for Taft, we are not for Roosevelt, we are not tied up to any man—we're for publishing a newspaper giving the people all the news, unbiased and fully, letting them form their own conclusions.

"On the cold gray dawn of the morning after" the newspaper organ, whose opinions are not its own but those of the powers to which it bends the knee in abject servitude, has a lot of explaining to do.

The newspaper business is the same as any other business—its conduct must be on the level if it proposes to command respect. Ulterior influences never did win the favor of the people.

In saying a good word for the commission form of government, the Elizabeth Journal asserts that "the people will rule sooner or later in our American municipalities."

It wasn't difficult to pick out the Roosevelt man today, was it?

LANDSLIDE FOR ROOSEVELT

delegates for President Taft at the best.

"It looks as though the president had been badly defeated," said Mr. Gray.

A little later Mr. Gray, at the Taft headquarters in Newark, conceded that Colonel Roosevelt had carried Essex and Hudson counties, the latter by a vote of two to one in favor of the colonel. The Taft people also admitted that the colonel had carried the Eighth, Ninth and Tenth congressional districts. These take in Essex and Hudson counties.

The Taft people, on the other hand, claimed to have carried Somerset, Atlantic and Bergen counties. The Roosevelt people claimed Passaic and Mercer counties and declared that in all probability Union county would be carried for the colonel's delegates.

In Burlington county two-thirds of the election districts reported Roosevelt leads of not less than three to one on the preferential vote, while it appeared that the Roosevelt delegates and alternates would win by similar majorities.

The polls did not open until 1 p. m., and they remained open until 9. This made the returns very late.

What the Returns Show.

The vote in Burlington showed that Roosevelt and Wilson easily won. Roosevelt carried Burlington county by from three to four to one. Wilson delegates will have about the same lead. About 65 per cent of the registered vote was polled in the county.

Returns from Hackensack indicated that Governor Wilson carried Bergen county by eight to one. Without about one-quarter of the districts heard from Taft was leading Roosevelt by a small margin. Taft's vote in 65 out of 108 districts is 2,760 and Roosevelt's 2,789. Taft will probably carry the county by about 800.

Twenty precincts out of thirty-eight in Gloucester county give Roosevelt 754 and Taft 377. Governor Wilson received 950 votes out of 1,000 cast in Woodbury.

Morris county will give Roosevelt a small majority. The voting was close all over the county. In the rural districts the colonel piled up good majorities, while Morristown gave Taft 131 majority.

Hunterdon county will give Taft a majority of about 200. The county polled about 30 per cent of its usual vote today. Governor Wilson carried Flemington by 115 majority and President Taft by about 200. The Roosevelt supporters claim the county by 300 majority. Because of the inability to get into telephone communication with many towns and villages the result will not be known until today.

Only One Vote For Taft.

Early returns in Hoboken indicated that the city had gone overwhelmingly for Wilson. Hoboken is a small part of the Eleventh congressional district, which includes the Second ward of Jersey City and all of North Hudson. In the Third district of the First ward of Hoboken Taft received one vote to seventeen for Roosevelt.

The vote in Hackettstown was very light. Taft polled thirty-six and Roosevelt ninety-one. Wilson's vote in the two districts was 103 and the anti-Wilson vote thirteen.

Out of 587 votes cast at South Amboy Wilson received 500 and the anti-Wilson 87. Of the 223 Republican votes Roosevelt received 123 and Taft 100. Sayreville favors both Wilson and Roosevelt.

La Follette's Vote Very Small.

Little interest was taken in the voting at Bayonne. The indications were that Roosevelt delegates had defeated the Taft delegates by two to one and that the Governor Wilson delegates would win over the anti-Wilson delegates by two to one also. Bayonne is in the Eighth congressional district.

Roosevelt carried Dover, which contains six districts, by a majority of 65. Taft carried only one district, the Second, by a majority of 4.

In five districts in Passaic Taft received 242, Roosevelt 184 and La Follette 18. In four districts, Wilson 112, uninstructed 19.

In Washington, Warren county, Taft received 65 and Roosevelt 99 on the preferential vote, the district delegate vote being practically the same.

Phillipsburg goes about two to one in favor of Roosevelt. John F. Reiley, the Taft district delegate in Phillipsburg, was beaten by 13 in his own ward.

The vote in Ocean City was about two to one in favor of Roosevelt, who also carried Cape May by 550 majority. Governor Wilson easily carried both places.

Roosevelt carried Paterson by a large majority, and his vote in Vineland was two to one over Taft.

Roosevelt carried Mercer and Hunterdon counties, which, with Somerset, embrace the Fourth congressional district, by about 1,000 over President Taft, and Governor Wilson has swept them by an overwhelming vote.

The first twenty of Trenton's sixty-six precincts gave the colonel 649 preferential votes to Taft's 442. The vote for delegates on the Republican tickets followed closely the preferential results.

Senator La Follette's vote is so nominal as to be unworthy of consideration.

In several of the big industrial centers of New Jersey Colonel Roosevelt ran very strongly. In Paterson, Elizabeth and Jersey City the early returns gave him a decided advantage over his rival. In the rural counties, too, Colonel Roosevelt got large majorities on the preferential vote, as did the delegates at large and district delegates pledged to his candidacy.

Monmouth Returns Slow.

Returns from Monmouth county were very incomplete, but the indications were that Roosevelt was successful. President Taft carried Manasquan by a vote of 71 to 47. Spring Lake gave a majority of 15 for Roosevelt, and Belmar followed with a majority for the colonel of 40. Taft carried Brielle by 2 majority. In Wall township Roosevelt carried the First, Third and Fourth districts by about two to one.

Indications also pointed to the election of Roosevelt delegates in the Seventh congressional district by a large majority.

In some of the commuting centers in the suburban districts of New Jersey Colonel Roosevelt developed more strength than had been expected. Returns received indicate that in Montclair, for instance, the colonel ran about 5 per cent ahead of President Taft in both the preferential vote and the vote for delegates to the national convention.

Joseph P. Tumulty, Governor Wilson's private secretary, said that Governor Wilson's majority in the state would be about 30,000. This would mean, he said, that the governor would get the four delegates, with the possible exception of the four delegates in Essex county.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

ROAST SPRING LAMB.

If you purchase a fore quarter of the lamb you will get it cheaper.

Wrapped in glazed paper and placed in the refrigerator, the portions which are not used at once may be kept for a few days.

The butcher will cut off the shoulder and take out the bones. This can be stuffed and rolled.

The ribs or rack may be cut and trimmed to make French lamb chops.

The neck and breast may be used for a stew.

Ask for the bones trimmed from the meat and use these making soup.

An Easy Way.

Roast Leg of Lamb.—Wash dry and season. Lay a minced onion, a clove and a bay leaf in the bottom of the pan for flavoring. Baste the meat often to make it juicy. When done serve with mashed potatoes, creamed onions, fried apples and the gravy strained and thickened; also use a good mint sauce.

Fit For a Feast.

Stuffed Loin of Lamb.—Wipe the meat well with a cloth wrung out of borax water.

Make a stuffing with half a pound of crumbed bread and two ounces of chopped suet, two ounces of lean boiled bacon which has been minced. Add a teaspoonful of chopped onion, a tablespoonful of parsley, salt, pepper, a little grated nutmeg and sufficient beaten egg to moisten.

Spread this evenly over the meat, then roll it up, tie at intervals with fine white string to keep it in place and bake it in a well heated oven, basting it frequently. Serve with either thick or clear brown sauce.

Well Seasoned Lamb.

Stuffed Shoulder of Lamb.—The meat should be boned. Make a stuffing of four ounces of breadcrumbs, two ounces of raw lamb chopped fine, two tablespoons of melted butter, a tablespoon of finely chopped parsley, a tablespoon of onion juice and salt and pepper to taste.

Mix all together and stuff the meat. Roast in a hot oven. Make a sauce of two tablespoons of melted butter mixed with a tablespoon each of chopped parsley, lemon juice, onion and beef extract. Draw the meat when done from the oven, baste with the sauce, return to the oven until it is melted, then serve.

SOME TRUE FEMININE INDUSTRIES EXPLAINED

While talk of Equal Suffrage is in everyone's mouth, it is interesting to note that some industries, distinctly "feminine," are having a special impetus at present. Well-to-do women are taking in hand the problems of their "less fortunate" sisters, and by means of their larger opportunities are putting their work on a better financial basis. A particularly good instance of this is Queen Margherita's development of the industries of the Italian peasant women—always known for their beautiful hand-work.

In different villages, and on the noblewomen's estate, "schools" were started some years ago, and artists employed to reproduce the beautiful fabrics and designs of the Italian renaissance. At these places, sometimes in an 11th century castle, the older peasant women weave the fabric, which is then worked or embroidered by the younger ones, the children helping in the foundation work. Each school has its own designs, and sometimes a special mark—as in Assisi, the cowl and head of St. Francis and the coat-of-arms of Assisi.

Queen Margherita and her friends have personally supervised this work, as the exquisite taste and artistic beauty of it attest, and have created quite a foreign market for it. Everywhere it goes, it calls forth enthusiastic admiration. Already it has greatly improved the condition of the peasants. The wonderful drawn-work of the Porto Rican women on hand-woven linens is now being brought to America, also, and their industry directed by American women of taste to improve its scope and style. Lace-making, too, is having a new life.

An enterprising New Bedford woman has started "The Lavender Shop," where lavender and bay-berry candles and all sorts of original fantasies of most fascinating daintiness are put up in attractive forms for gifts and bridge prizes. Two young New England women have started "The Natalie Baby-Shop," which supplies every garment a baby or young child needs. The work is all done by hand on exquisite materials.

All these industries, representing a revival of the beautiful hand-work of the women of the past, at a time when the "modern woman" is supposed to be a thing of cane and spectacles, seeking to displace men in their lines of work, make interesting matter for thought.

An excellent opportunity to see this work is being given this week at the home of Miss Vermilye, 415 East Seventh street, and she will be glad to show it to anyone who is interested.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR UNION HOLDS ITS ANNUAL RALLY

"Efficiency" was the subject of an address delivered by the Rev. J. Francis Morgan, of Jersey City, at the annual rally of the Plainfield Christian Endeavor Union held in the Seventh-Daly Baptist church last night. The speaker said in part. "There are five fundamental elements necessary to Christian efficiency. First, the real Christian life, which can come only by the new birth or regeneration spoken about in Christ's conversation with Nichodemus; second, the grafting of the Christian's life with the life of Christ; third, the training and controlling of the Christian's life; fourth, the absolute surrender of the life to God and fifth, consecrated enthusiasm."

The union attendance banner was awarded to the Temple Baptist Society and the C. E. workers literary was awarded to the recently organized Bethel chapel society.

The officers elected for the coming year are: President Frank Stewart; vice-president, Charles Neagle; secretary, Walter Firstbrook; treasurer, Miss Bertha Jones; chairman missionary committee, Robert Love; chairman temperance committee, Elmer Hunting; chairman lookout committee, Clarence B. LaRue.

The officers were installed by the county president, George W. Mingus, of Rahway. Miss Nellie K. Foote and the members of the Union county efficiency committee explained the object of the efficiency campaign. It is probable that most of the societies of the Plainfield Union will take up the contests which were suggested in Miss Foote's address.

WARREN CHAPEL JUNIORS HOLD CLOSING EXERCISES

The closing exercises of the Junior Christian Endeavor Society of Warren chapel were held yesterday afternoon in the church parlors with about 70 Juniors in attendance. Mrs. Lewis Ely, the superintendent, was in charge of the meeting with Bertha Bodine, president of the society, presiding.

The program consisted of songs and recitations by different members of the society Mrs. J. O. McKelvey accompanying them on the piano. After this part of the program had been rendered the Juniors all adjourned to their own room where refreshments were served, after which Lewis Ely took a picture of the group.

Woman's World

The New Queen of Denmark's Marriage a Love Match.

QUEEN ALEXANDRINA OF DENMARK.

Christian Charles Frederick Albert Alexander William, the new king of Denmark, has lived a life that has been notable for its domestic happiness rather than for any spectacular incidents. To the public outside of his own country he is known particularly for his happy marriage with Princess Alexandrina, the elder daughter of the Grand Duchess Anastasia of Mecklenburg-Schwerin.

It was a pure love match, differing from the unions between royal families which are usually arranged for political expediency. They were wedded at Cannes on April 26, 1898, and have two sons, Christian Frederick Francis Michael Charles Waldemar George, born March 11, 1899, now the crown prince, and Knut Christian Frederick Michael, born July 27, 1900.

The new queen of Denmark is just three months younger than her husband, having been born on Dec. 24, 1870. King Christian X. was born at Charlottenlund on Sept. 26, 1870.

It is interesting to note that the flag under which Christian X. will reign is the oldest national ensign in Europe. Its origin is much mixed up with legend, but it is certain that it dates back to the thirteenth century.

According to the legendary origin of the flag of Denmark, King Waldemar was leading his forces to battle in the year 1219 when a cross suddenly appeared to him in the sky. He adopted the cross as his emblem, went to victory, and thereupon the cross became the dannebrog, or "strength," of Denmark.

The present king is colonel of the Fourteenth regiment of Prussian hussars and a knight of many orders, among them the Golden Fleece, the Black Eagle, the Elephant, the Annunciad, St. Andrew and the Seraphim.

The repetition of the names Frederick and Christian in the members of the royal family of Denmark is notable. This repetition is due to a family law which requires that each son shall bear the name of either Frederick Christian or Christian Frederick. By the same law the monarchs are crowned alternately as Frederick or Christian. Thus the successor of the present king, whichever of his sons it may be, will be known as Frederick IX.

The name Knut, or Canute, reappears frequently also in the royal line of Denmark, being borne by the younger son of the present king. This is out of respect for the original King Canute the Great, who, besides ineffectually commanding the waters of the ocean to roll back from his throne, crossed over to England with a host, gained effective control of that island and was named king there subsequent to the death of Edmund Ironside.

What Women Are Doing.

Vassar college has just been given a prize fund of $1,375 for honor reading in memory of Miss E. Elizabeth Dana. This fund was contributed by the students and graduates of the school which Miss Dana founded in Morristown, N. J. Miss Louise L. Newell, Vassar, '86, is now the principal of the school. Vassar has also just received a collection of butterflies from Miss Lucy Tappan, class of '80, who is now in India.

To Miss Julia E. Hamblet of Florence, Mass., has been awarded the Mary Lanning scholarship at Smith's college.

Mother Mary Stanislaus of the St. John's Wood convent, England, and Mother St. George, at the Convent of the Faithful Virgin, Norwood, are said to be the only survivors of the band of young nuns who accompanied Florence Nightingale as nurses to the Crimean war.

Fashions In Perfumes.

These are going up in price. Essential oils become dearer and dearer every year. Bergamot has gone up by leaps and bounds, and attar of roses never was so dear. There are fleeting modes as to perfumes. Sweet peas had a great vogue. Now this has given place to lilies of the valley. Violet is never out of date, while in sickness eau de cologne and lavender water are always in demand, and for the bath rose, lily of the valley, violet and sweet pea are ever in favor. For burning, oriental scents are preferred.

MEMORIAL DAY EVENTS

Brook in the afternoon; where they will endeavor to show up the team that had the pinch on the Plainfield team last Saturday afternoon. Slocum is carded to pitch for Bound Brook, with Warry on the rubber for Dunellen.

Another event of importance will be the bicycle races conducted by the Plainfield Cycling Club, tomorrow morning. This organization is a live wire here in the city and the race over the Mountain avenue course attracts the attention of wheelmen from all over the east. It will pay you to take this race in, for cycling is a sport that is on the "come-back," and the crowds that attend the races at the Valedrome in Newark each week show that the back to the wheel movement is a popular one. 10:30 o'clock over the Mountain avenue course.

At the Driving Park those who like horse racing will find plenty of excitement to keep them amused during the afternoon. Three races will be run and all of them will bring out the last word in horseflesh in this section of the country.

The Young Men's Christian Association rooms will be open as usual with a special moving picture show carded for the afternoon and evening. The members of the Young Women's Christian Association are going to enjoy a picnic.

Both the Country Club and Park Golf Club will be open for business. The greens on both courses are in good shape and a large crowd will undoubtedly flock the courses and the tennis courts at both clubs.

The Independent Gun Club will hold a shoot in the afternoon which will draw its share of interested spectators.

There is no reason why the sporting blood in every fan should not tingle all day long. The choice is varied and all of the amusements promised are sure to warrant your attention. Be you lover of the National game, rasing or golf tomorrow's offerings should satisfy you.

SAYS CHESTNUT TREES ARE BEING KILLED BY A WORM

Albert G. Thorn, of East Front street, who has been making a study of the subject, claims that the reason so many chestnut trees are dying not only in this vicinity, but throughout the country, is that a worm is working around the roots and lower part of the trunk. He discovered this condition in several trees on his place, and in his opinion the trouble is not to be found in the branches and upper part of the trees as generally supposed.

Mr. Thorn believes that if the trees are properly treated at the base and about the roots they may be saved from further destruction. He says that he has read a number of articles in newspapers on the subject, but not one of the writers have made any reference to the trouble being at the base or roots of the trees.

The Loyal Band of Trinity Reformed church will hold a festival in the lecture room of the church, Tuesday evening, June 11. Proceeds will be applied to paying off $100 pledge to church debt.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church will hold a birthday social and informal entertainment in the lecture room Tuesday night, June 4. There will be music by a male quartet and refreshments will be served.

That Girl Minnie Ha-Ha.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

All kinds of things happening tomorrow.

Go out to the Crescent Oval tomorrow afternoon and watch the Cuban Giants gambol.

They will have to go some with Sammy Smith in the box. He got their Lincoln brothers and will be loaded for them.

Do not miss the Plainfield Cycling Club races over the Mountain avenue course. They will be well worth seeing for some of the speed boys who hope to go to Sweeden with the Olympic team will use this race as a try-out.

Jack Horner's window is full of prizes offered to the winners. They are well worth trying for.

This is an annual event here in Plainfield and one that attracts the attention of all.

The Borough High School is matched with High Bridge H. S. this afternoon on Hyde Field. The visitors took the first game by a one-sided score but will have to work harder this time.

Slocum is reported as saying that he is through with league ball for a while. He told Manager Dorflinger that he could count on his services for a while at least.

Low and Nibs Hand didn't think much of the U. S. League.

Speaking of the new league, the Chicago Club refused to play Tuesday with the New York team because the crowd was small.

Looks like one of the dying gasps.

Scotch Plains will take a look at us Saturday afternoon at the Oval. The first one in a series of three.

Bound Brook, Scotch Plains, probably Westfield later—Sounds like old times—Eh?

High Bridge and Somerville are the only ones missing, but we understand that last year's team cleaned out all the shekels in the Somerset county seat.

Mid-week reminder for Factory League games.

Commercials vs. Saurer on Clinton grounds, Spicer vs. R. G. E. on Myrtle avenue grounds. Banks vs. Public Service at Scotch Plains.

One more for the Giants, Brooklyn came near to getting Matty's goat yesterday, but the old stand-by Crandall was there with the stuff as of old.

Walter Johnson stopped the Yankees after their short lived winning streak. Enough bingles were garnered from him to have won most games but they did not come in convenient bundles.

The Y. M. C. A. track meet is planned for the Fourth of July and not for tomorrow as erroneously stated in this column yesterday.

Wat-cha goin' t' do tomorro'?

CRESCENT AVENUE S. S. DEFEATS P. H. S. JUNIORS

The Crescent Avenue Sunday-school baseball team won an exciting and close game from the P. H. S. Juniors on Hyde Field yesterday afternoon by the score of 12 to 11. Mills had the Indian sign on the High School lads causing 13 of them to whiff lustily. While Cottrell and Brymarski succeeded in getting three apiece of the Crescents. The score:

THREATENS SUIT.

On a warrant issued by City Judge William G. De Meza on the complaint of Rosa LaCosta, of East Third street, Detective Sergeant Flynn arrested Joseph Manhattan, a Pole, of East Third street, for alleged larceny of a number of flagstones valued at $50. Judge De Meza in the city court this morning held him in $100 bail—which was immediately forthcoming—for the Grand Jury. Manhattan has declared his intention of bringing suit against Rosa LaCosta for $5,000 for false arrest.

DECORATION DAY!

The years pass, as years will, and after every white milestone on the highway of time, we find a graven memory of some brave, gallant, daring, dauntless soul who has gone "hence." One more grave upon which we throw a flower, blessed with a prayer from our heart that the Power which looked after him HERE will not forsake him THERE.

Martyrs were they who fell amidst shot and shell—heroes were those who lived to tell.

Alike, one and all, tomorrow we stand uncovered in silent benediction for those valiant men.

How beautiful it is to commemorate such an event.

DECIDE YOURSELF.

The Opportunity Is Here, Backed By Plainfield Testimony.

Don't take our word for it.

Don't depend on a stranger's statement.

Read Plainfield endorsement.

Read the statements of Plainfield citizens.

And decide for yourself.

Here is one case of it:

C. L. Treat, painter and paperhanger, 411 East Third street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I suffered for a long time from kidney trouble and for years could not find anything that would give me relief. My back ached constantly and there was pain across my kidneys. My kidneys were in bad shape and I became all run down, in fact, was almost a physical wreck. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply and they made a different man out of me. I got this remedy at Randolph's Drug Store and my experience was so satisfactory that I cannot make my endorsement of it too strong. I simply would not be without a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills on hand."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

COLLEGE BOYS PLAN TO STRIKE

Rutgers Students May Walk Out Thursday.

WANT SENIORS REINSTATED

Classes Combine and Give President Demarest a "Silence" With Ultimatum—Will Be No Closing Exercises if Ban Is Not Lifted.

New Brunswick, N. J., May 29.—The 400 students of Rutgers college will walk out on strike on Thursday unless the faculty decides at its special meeting today to reinstate the forty-nine seniors who were suspended for having participated in a "beer bust" last Friday night at Landing Bridge, on the banks of the Raritan river.

The junior, sophomore and freshman classes held meetings, at which a strike vote was taken. There was not a dissenting vote, so if Prexy Demarest fails to lift the ban that has been put upon all the college heroes and upon the presidents of the Y. M. C. A. and Prohibition league there will be no commencement exercises or any other function to wind up the college year.

As evidence of the unanimous sentiment against the action of President Demarest in suspending all but sixteen members of the senior class the entire student body subjected him to a silence in chapel.

Sings Hymn as a Solo.

It is the custom for President Demarest to open the chapel exercises with a hymn. He did so, but he sang the hymn as a solo. Even the Y. M. C. A. and Prohibition league went back on him, and it was the same with the recitation of the Lord's prayer. From the moment the students filed into chapel until the exercises were over their lips were sealed. Prexy Demarest might as well have been off by himself on an uninhabited isle.

That little affair at Landing Bridge, held by the student body at Rutgers, was a time honored custom hallowed by tradition. The class banquet at the Mansion House preceded the jollification at the historic spot where George Washington crossed the Raritan in his retreat from New Jersey. Harmless "red ink" and a modicum of bubble water were served at the banquet. Then a wagon was commandeered, and two quarter kegs hoisted upon it, and forty-nine young men marched a joyous lockstep to Landing Bridge.

APPEALS $25,000 SUIT.

Paterson Man's Case Against the Erie Thrown Out by Judge Block.

Paterson, N. J., May 29.—William A. Jacobus gave notice that he would appeal from the decision of Judge Block, throwing out of court his suit for $25,000 against the Erie railroad because Conductor Dody ejected him, his wife and eight-year-old daughter from a train.

The testimony shows that Mr. Jacobus and his family, going to New York, boarded an express that stops at Paterson only to let off passengers. A footnote on the through time card explains that no one is allowed to board that train here, but the train is not on the suburban time card. The train was more than two hours late that day and came in about the time the train Mr. Jacobus expected to take was due.

DIES AFTER VISITING GRAVE.

Walk to and From Cemetery Fatal to Sorrowing Man.

Newton, N. J., May 29.—After having returned from the Newton cemetery, to which he had gone, accompanied by his son Asa, to visit the grave of his wife, Martin Devore, fifty-four years old, entered the barber shop of the Lackawanna House, seated himself in a chair and died almost instantly.

Mr. Devore had not been in ill health, but the walk to and from the cemetery had apparently tired him, and he went into the barber shop, where he was well known, to take a short rest. He had been there scarcely more than a minutes when the barber, Edsall Davenport, heard him breathing heavily, and before he could reach his side Mr. Devore was dead, sitting upright in his chair.

CYCLIST KILLED BY FLIER.

Boy Run Down at Grade Crossing at Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 29.—Riding under lowered gates on his bicycle in an attempt to cross the tracks ahead of a Reading flier, Dominick George, aged sixteen years, of this city, was struck by the engine and fatally injured. His skull was crushed and one leg cut off. He died in the City hospital shortly afterward.

Passengers on the train which had just entered the city were thrown from their seats when the engineman threw on emergency brakes in a desperate attempt to save the boy, and several women fainted. The boy's mother collapsed when told of the accident and is in a serious condition.

Rahway Man's Sudden Death.

Rahway, N. J., May 29.—Word was received here by H. C. Gore-Kelley of the sudden death in Savannah, Ga., of Thomas I. Andrews, for many years a prominent resident of this city.

ELECTRICITY IS EFFICIENT.

A most satisfactory and most economical power drive is that which can be regulated so that it will do exactly the work required without loss or without wasted energy.

A steam engine hooked up to belts and shafting has to spend part of its power running the shafting.

When a machine is stopped the shafting and the engine keep on moving.

With the use of Electric Motors and Central Station Electric Power there is no necessity for belts and heavy shafting.

When a motor driven machine is stopped the motor stops also, and the power expense stops with it.

Which is the better way? Which the cheaper?

Our representative will give you facts and figures about your own power plant. The information will cost you only the effort to send us word that you are interested. A phone call or postal will do.

VETERANS HONOR DEPARTED HEROES

Solemn Observance of Memorial Day by Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R.

PARADE TO CEMETERIES

Annual Exercises in Reform Hall at Which Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews, Orator of the Day, Praises General Lee's Patriotism.

Memorial Day was observed by the members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., Women's Relief Corps and other patriotic organizations, when the many valiant deeds of those gone before as well as the living were recalled, the graves of the soldier dead were decorated and in speech and song the significance of the day was impressed upon all those who attended the exercises and took part in the program.

In the morning about fifty members of Winfield Scott Post, with Co. K as an escort, and led by a brass band, engaged in a short parade, visiting the North Plainfield and Plainfield avenue and Scotch Plains cemeteries, where graves were decorated and short exercises were held. Patrolmen George Muir and Richard Birmingham, representing the local police department marched at the head of the procession in the city, with Captain William Hand as marshal of the day. Then Co. K in charge of Captain Charles Peterson, following the band, preceded the veterans. Each one wore a white ribbon and white carnation provided by the Women's Relief Corps.

The Memorial Day exercises were held in Reform Hall in the afternoon, following a dinner served to the veterans and their friends in the basement of the building. Commander Stephen R. Struthers was in charge of the program. A large chorus of children, dressed in white, with the American colors, occupied seats on the stage, and sang patriotic songs, gave recitations and a flag drill under the direction of Mrs. John Manley.

There were exercises for the "unknown dead" an imitation appropriately marked being placed on the stage. The children as they marched by dropped flowers on the grave. Adjutant H. Craig Smith read Lincoln's Gettysburg address, an annual custom, and there were selections by the band.

The address of the afternoon was given by Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews, pastor of the Baptist church at Scotch Plains. He made a strong plea for reuniting the north and the south, and expressed the hope that the veterans present would do all in their power to bridge the "gulf" which has appeared to exist between the people of the north and south for so many years.

Recalling the deeds of General Lee and other famous officers of the Confederacy, he praised those men for their patriotism. He declared that while the north was fighting for the preservation of the Union, the Confederacy was fighting for state rights.

Referring to the recent Titanic disaster, which he called an overwhelming calamity, in which 1,500 lives were lost, he said that it seemed trifling as compared to the losses of the Civil War, with 12,000 wounded or killed at Shiloh, 14,000 killed at Murphysboro, 12,000 killed in one day at Antietam, 13,000 killed at Fredericksburg and 17,000 killed at Gettysburg.

"Why was all this loss of life?" said the speaker. "It was not to free the slave, but to preserve the Union. Lincoln said that the Union must be preserved and it was for that that men fought and died, a sacrifice for their country. But step by step the wide breach that has existed between the north and south is being bridged. A great step was taken in this direction during the Spanish-American War, when brave men of the north and south fought side by side. I hope that you, veterans, will leave as a heritage to your children a united country.

"While the sacrifice of the north was great and noble, that of the south was even greater for they gave all that they had. In some instances families gave as many as forty fathers and sons to fight for what they thought was right. The south is entitled to recognition for its patriotism, for truly they were patriots. You had worthy foeman and with equal forces and resources the war would still be on. We had our Grant, Sheridan and Sherman, but let us honor those brave men of the south. My hope is that you will all live so that you can go to Gettysburg next year and join in the great peace reunion."

TO ATTEND GENERAL SYNOD.

Rev. J. Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, has been appointed a delegate to the General Synod of the Reformed church, which meets at Grand Rapids, Michigan, June 6-12. He will leave on June 5 in company with Rev. Dr. and Mrs. W. H. DeHart, of this city. Dr. DeHart is stated clerk of the General Synod.

WANT PLAINFIELD MAN REMOVED AS EXECUTOR

Hearing on the application for the removal of William Hepburn Clark, of this city, as executor of the estate of Dorothy S. Clark, has been postponed by Judge Atwater until June 27 on the application of William D. Wolfskeil, counsel for the legatees, and J. Howard Conover, for the petitioners. William A. Coddington appeared for Mr. Clark.

Mr. Clark has been executor of his wife's estate since her death in 1907, having been named in her will along with Charles L. Laudy and Emma F. Turtle, of Brooklyn, who with several of the legatees are the petitioners for his removal. They allege that it has been impossible to secure an accounting from him; that he declines to confer with the other executors, and being in control of the estate, which is in this city, they deemed the ousting process advisable or the furnishing of a bond as a guarantee of good faith.

A solemn requiem mass will be offered on Saturday morning at 8:30 and the interment will be made in St. Mary's cemetery.

A FEW WORDS FROM LENTZ.

Major Carl Lentz, the deposed Essex county Republican boss, had hard work keeping his equilibrium yesterday while striving to show at the same moment proper regret for the defeat of Taft, and great joy for the overthrow of former Governor Murphy and County Chairman Dalrymple. "I knew the landslide was coming," said the major, "when former Governor Murphy drew ballot Number 13 when he voted. You may say for the Down and Out Club that we welcome Murphy, Dalrymple, Briggs and the rest of the defeated guardians to our midst."

CANTATA TONIGHT.

"Jack and the Baked Bean Stalk," by Bullard, will be given at the Grace Church Parish House this evening by the boys of the choir, assisted by Bert Tallamy, in aid of the summer camp at Manasquan. Those taking solo parts in the cantata are Eugene Martin (Princess), Carlyle Wright (Jack), Irving Manley (The Little Old Lady), Bert Tallamy (The Ogre).

—Neuman Bros. will have a large and choice assortment of fruit and fresh vegetables for tomorrow's trade.

ILLINOIS MEN TO SEE ROOSEVELT

Delegates From That State at Sagamore Hill Tomorrow.

New York, May 31 (Special).—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, with his mind on the victory which he won in New Jersey on Tuesday, returned to his desk at the Outlook office here today, and said that he was going to attend strictly to his duties as the contributing editor until the convention which meets at Chicago in less than three weeks, has given it's decision. He, of course, will direct the campaign, which he expects will end with his nomination, but has said he does not expect to go to Chicago. He says that he knows of no circumstance which might arise which would call him to the windy city. There are politicians who seem to doubt this statement, but the Colonel says they are wrong in their assumption.

There was a lot of interest today in the fact that in one of his numerous deviations from his set speech to the old soldiers at Gettysburg yesterday the Colonel remarked:

"I need not take the trouble to tell you that you are in no danger of a dictator. Any man who tells you that just get him a nurse and a perambulator. He's not fit to be at large."

In the course of his remarks the Colonel gave a new twist, also, to his now famous "hat and ring" phrase. "Your hat's in the ring!" sang out an enthusiast, to which the orator made answer: "No, the ring's in the hat now."

Col. Roosevelt will received a visit from the fifty-six Illinois national delegates committed to him by their state primary at Oyster Bay tomorrow. The fifty-six will, in all probability, be entertained by the Rough Rider at luncheon. They will be personally conducted by Medill McCormick, one of the Roosevelt leaders in Illinois.

As to the significance of this visit from the Illinoisans Col. Roosevelt has maintained absolute silence. According to one hypothesis advanced the delegates are journeying to Oyster Bay to confer as to ways and means for throwing out of the national committee prior to the convention the Illinois national committeeman, Frank O. Lowden, an avowed conservative. Mr. Lowden's term will not expire until after the nominating is over, but it is suggested that the rumored move against him may be part of a general attempt on the part of the Roosevelt factionists to oust most of the conservatives from the committee in order to facilitate the seating of the Roosevelt contestants for delegates.

According to another report, there has been much friction among the Roosevelt delegates from Illinois and they are coming East for a talk with their candidate in the hope that he can smooth out the wrinkles for them. In any event, it is pointed out the pilgrimage of a solid block of delegates to Sagamore Hill will form a very impressive spectacle for the Southern delegates whom the Colonel is now endeavoring to pry loose from their instructions for President Taft.

CONDUCTOR SLIGHTLY HURT WHEN TROLLEYS BUMP

Patrick Fahey, a conductor on the Arlington avenue trolley line, one of the veterans of the service, received a slight cut on the head, and two small children, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goldsack, passengers on the car, were thrown off their seats in a rear-end collision of cars on Arlington avenue, near Muhlenberg Hospital, at noon, yesterday.

Mr. Fahey's car, a "regular," had made a stop, and an extra car, in charge of Motorman Peter Daley, following about fifty feet behind, bumped into the forward car. Daley was unable to stop his car quick enough to avoid the collision.

Mr. Fahey's head was thrown against a stanchion, receiving a slight cut. The children of Mr. and Mrs. Goldsack were not injured, simply being thrown from their seats. Mr. Fahey was taken to a physician and had his wound dressed.

HELD IN $1,000 BAIL.

In the police court this morning before City Judge William G. DeMeza, Andrew Drasco, an Austrian, was held for the Grand Jury in $1,000 bail for stabbing Stephen Sago, a compatriot, several days ago, in an altercation at a wedding in Polish Hall. Sago was taken to the Muhlenberg Hospital, where a successful operation was performed. He is now considered out of danger.

RAILROADER HURT.

Norman Goodell, a workman employed on the Central Railroad, jumped off a freight car near the depot early this morning and ran into a signal post, injuring his shoulder and arm. He was treated by Dr. N. H. Probasco and sent to his home in Elizabeth.

MAYOR SPEAKS AT POLISH CELEBRATION

John Sobrieski III. Society Observes the Granting of the Constitution of May 3.

The John III Sobieski Society celebrated yesterday the granting of the Constitution of May 3. The constitution granted in 1791 freed the Poles from serfdom.

Mayor Moy was one of the speakers at the exercises. The celebration began in Polish Hall, East Second street, near Johnson avenue, at 9 o'clock, with a reception by the committee in charge to visiting societies and delegations from this city and out of town. The visitors numbered 500.

At 10:30 a parade was formed and the celebrators marched to St. Joseph's R. C. church, where mass was celebrated by Father John Sheja, of Bound Brook. After mass the celebrators returned to the hall, where dinner was served from 12 to 2.

After dinner Mayor Moy arrived at the hall. He was introduced by Stanislaus Stroke, chairman of the reception committee. The Mayor spoke of the significance of the day for Americans and adopted Americans, detailing the history of the struggle to preserve the Union and free the slaves. He was vigorously applauded when introduced, and after his speech.

A program of music by a brass band was enjoyed, following which Fank Somlack, president of the society, explained the Constitution. Andrew Ryglewicz sang "My Loving, Dear Republic of America" in Polish. Rev. John Sheja delivered a declamation, and Mme. Pani Trebowiecka sang "God Save Our Poland." The musical program ended with the singing of "America." At 7 o'clock the floor was cleared for dancing.

BOY SCOUTS HUNT SPIES AND INDIANS ON FIRST HIKE

The Wetumpka Sentinels, a Boy Scouts troop, took their first hike yesterday from Johnson's drive to Scotch Plains notch. Twenty-two scouts took part in a miniature government war game, the first part of which was in the nature of an Indian chase across country and the second half of which was the pursuit of three alleged Japanese spies. One of the spies was caught by Carlton Dunham, but the other two won the race for freedom.

The afternoon was featured by exhibitions of horseback riding, with saddle and bareback, rope climbing, a tug of war, a game of medicine ball and examinations for tenderfeet in which Byron Farland passed with 100 per cent honors. There was also a demonstration of first-aid bandaging.

The return trip was made at 3:30. The hike was in charge of Scoutmaster Allen E. Beals and Adjutants Wendell C. Glover and A. V. Searing, Jr.

BURNS LANDS ON MORE GRAFTERS

Atlantic City Councilmen Caught in Trap by Wily Detective.

Atlantic City, May 31 (Special).—Detective William J. Burns has brought another gang of municipal grafters to light here, and as a result charges more sensational than any ever before made about corrupt politics in Atlantic City are being discussed from one end of the resort to the other today. Of the nine men whom the charges involve, four have confessed of the five already arrested.

Harry Dougherty, a member of the City Council, was the first one taken into custody, and his arrest brought forth the fact that Burns had been quietly using the same methods to clear up matters here that he used in Ohio, and in California, as well as in the famous McNamara case. The four men who have confessed were caught, when they accepted money for their support in obtaining the passage of a concrete boardwalk bill, which operation would have involved a million dollar deal, and caused great criticism when it was first up about six months ago.

Dougherty was arrested this morning on the charge of accepting a bribe of $500 in the boardwalk matter. He is a prominent politician of the resort, and a member of Council from the Third ward. He would have automatically gone out of office in a few weeks because of the recent passage by the city of a commission government referendum.

The four men said to have confessed were assisting Burns today and other arrests were expected to follow. It was said on authority that the revelations in this affair would lead to others of a more sensational nature.

Dougherty was waiting today to be arraigned before Magistrate Burgen, of Hammonton, this afternoon, afternoon.

Burns was called from New York in the early part of this year by an association of business men who determined to cleanse the resort. Considerable progress in this direction had already been made by Mayor Bacarach, who succeeded in driving most of the gamblers and bunco men from the city.

As a result of Burns' work the city was stirred today as it has never been aroused before even by the testimony adduced before the famous Macksey probing commission, which unearthed ballot debauchery of the most sordid character here in 1911, leading to the conviction of prominent politicians.

Every man involved in today's developments promised to hand in his resignation at once. While four men had admitted their guilt, according to Detective Burns, they had not yet been arrested. They handed over the alleged bribe money to him, it was said, and they are now using every influence to keep out of jail. With the exception of Dougherty, every one of the councilmen mixed up in the deal is wealthy.

Dougherty's rise in local politics has been rapid. He won out in a bitter fight for municipal control at the last general election and through his strength gained a position with the big leaders.

Ordinance No. 6, as the Concrete Boardwalk bill was officially known, had a tempestuous history in the Council. Introduced in January, it went through first and second readings and then was pigeonholed after the press had attacked it. The Boardwalk Committee for weeks declined to say anything about the bill and the impression prevailed that it was dead.

Then early in April it was warmly endorsed by one of the newspapers which had been against it at the start. On April 22 the bill was taken from its resting place and sent through the Council by a big majority.

Since that time, Detective Burns has been quietly building up his case against the men responsible for the passage of the bill.

"I came to Atlantic City shortly after the bill was introduced, at the solicitation of business men of this city," said Detective Burns today. "While the bill was in abeyance, my men were in touch with Councilmen who were holding out for money. We followed every step they took, captured every piece of writing they did, intercepted telephone messages and finally managed to introduce the dictograph into the home of one of the main men, and thus perpetuated the record of their conversations during the negotiations.

"At one stage they had agreed to accept money," said the detective, "the bribes ranging from $300 to $500, through a man of their own who was to get the money in a house of our selection. When the time came to pass the money, the leaders had reconsidered and decided that the negotiations should be consummated in the home of one of their own men.

"The dictograph played but a small part in trapping the men and, while the story of the manner in which we installed it in the home of a bribe-taker is interesting, it is too long to repeat now. The money was

OLIVE BRANCH AT ONE PRESS SHOP

Scott Company Offers Men an Eight-and-Three-quarter-Hour Day.

HALF A DAY SATURDAY

Speculation as to Whether Offer Will Satisfy Union—Latter Will Meet, as Planned, on Monday—Await Strike Sanction.

Acting on the situation created by the plans of the members of Plainfield Lodge, No. 167, International Association of Machinists, to meet Monday night, and take definite action on the request for a shorter work-day, the Walter Scott Printing Machine Company has decided to meet its employes half-way by granting an eight-and-three-quarter-hour work day, with a half-holiday on Saturday, beginning Monday, June 3. According to the new schedule the men will work fifty-two and a half hours a week, instead of fifty-four hours as at present. This notice has been posted at the works:

"Commencing Monday, June 3, 1912, this shop will work 52½ hours per week. Working hours 7 a. m. until 12 noon; 1 p. m. to 5:30 p. m.; Saturday, 7 a. m. to 12 noon. Wages will be adjusted to present scale as near as possible."

Representatives of the company declined to discuss the situation, preferring not to make any comments. Whether the concessions made by the company will satisfy the employes could not be learned this afternoon.

At the Hall Printing Press Company at Dunellen, when questioned today as to whether his company had reached any decision, Mr. Hall replied that he had absolutely nothing to say on the subject and that the company had not even considered the proposition of giving the men a shorter work-day.

David E. Titsworth, head of the Potter Printing Press Works, the other local shop affected by the union's attitude, was out of the city today and what that concern proposes to do could not be learned authoritatively or any other way.

The members of Plainfield Lodge will meet Monday night, when it is expected that a strike sanction will be received from the International officers in time to take action. What effect the action of the Walter Scott Printing Machine Company will have on the situation is not known at present.

The plan advocated by the men is to have the shorter work-day schedule go in effect gradually. The immediate demands of the men are for an eight and a half hour work-day with a further reduction of another quarter hour on January 1 and have the flat eight-hour day go into effect June 1, 1913.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

James T. Powers and his big company of singers and dancers go merrily on their way at the Casino, where Mr. Powers has made the greatest hit of his career in "Two Little Brides," the new Gustave Kerker musical comedy. The approach of summer finds the Casino once again housing a success which is sure to prove immune to hot weather. "Two Little Brides" has established itself through its dainty and tuneful music, its wholesome humor, the prettiness of the girls and the convulsing methods of the lively Mr. Powers. It is a combination difficult to beat. Even Mr. Powers admits he was never better satisfied in his life. Plot? Yes, there is an abundance of story which tells of the misadventures of two cronies who are trapped into marriage with a duo of winsome convent girls.

ROOSEVELT'S VICTORY.

Colonel Roosevelt's decisive victory in the State on Tuesday becomes more thoroughly emphasized since the details of the vote have been made public, and a chance has been given to analyze the results. The Colonel carried every county in the State on the preference vote except Morris, Somerset and Hunterdon, and his delegates carried every county but those three and Atlantic county. However, the success of the two district delegates in Atlantic county made no difference as the other three counties in the same congressional district gave the Roosevelt men big majorities.

Following so closely the defeat in Ohio it does not stand to reason that the New Jersey result can inspire any great confidence on the part of the Taft leaders that he will be nominated. He still claims that he has 579 delegates, and at the same time his campaign managers concede that Mr. Roosevelt will have 422 delegates with him in the convention when it meets in about three weeks at Chicago. The Roosevelt supporters claim that they will have 567 votes, and probably more on the first ballot, and the way things have been going recently it is much easier to believe their claims than those of the Taft adherents.

One thing is sure. The Republicans of the State of New Jersey have decisively shown that they want Roosevelt, and every member of the party who believes in the rule of the majority, especially when that majority is a good substantial one, should turn in to help the Colonel. Every indication now has it that he will be the standard bearer in the fall.

The theory which was so strongly advanced prior to the primaries that the commuter vote would all be for Taft was so effectively exploded in some parts of the State that it can never be used as an argument again. The city of East Orange, with about 35,000 population, probably has more commuters in proportion to population than any other city in the State of New Jersey. It undoubtedly has more than there are in Plainfield, and yet it gave Mr. Roosevelt a majority of about 600 votes, out of a total of 2,400 cast. Can any stronger argument be presented that all classes want Mr. Roosevelt for the party candidate? Mr. Roosevelt, in fact, had all of the Oranges with him, which has prompted the Philadelphia North American to suggest that "Mr. Taft got the lemons."

Among the plans which have been suggested to get rid of the flies, one being tried in Flushing, Long Island, has been to offer to pay for those which are turned into the Housewives' League. The plan has resulted in hundreds of quarts of the insects being delivered to the League, but it has brought an enormous amount of work upon the Board of Health, for the boys in the town have rigged up plants for breeding flies. Some of the youngsters got tainted meat for bait, and others used molasses. The members of the League cannot make up their minds whether to discontinue making the offer, or to have raids made on the breeding places.

One thing which contributed much to the great success of the Roosevelt faction in New Jersey was the splendid press bureau which was maintained. It devoted its energies to putting out matter which had real news value, while the regular machine press bureau was totally inefficient, and devoted all of its efforts to the nastiest kind of mudslinging, the "copy" furnished being so intemperate and personal that no self-respecting newspaper, regardless of its leanings, would print the billingsgate which was sent out.

One of the most amusing things of the Presidential campaign to the outsider is to watch the way the New York Sun is squirming. Now they want to abolish the direct primary, and put the power back in the hands of the bosses. They say that the spectacle has been enough "to make the gods weep, and self-respecting Americans hang their heads in shame." Perhaps if Mr. Taft had been a bit more successful in every direct primary that has been held, they would not worry so about the matter.

Judging from the number of autos running around with New York licenses on there has been mighty little attention paid to the letter of the law in the reciprocity act passed last winter. There are a number of machines to be seen on the streets here daily with foreign licenses, and those machines certainly have been around here longer than the fifteen-day period provided for in the new act.

Judging from comments made by the people who live along the thoroughfare, Prospect avenue has been turned into an automobile speedway by the machinists from the many local garages, who take cars out there to try them out after making repairs. The speed which is sometimes maintained would make the Vanderbilt cup racers turn green with envy.

Now that the detailed result of the primary is known, it is evident that Plainfield was sort of an oasis in a desert of Roosevelt sentiment.

BURNS LANDS ON GRAFTERS

handed over on April 17. The bill was passed by the council on April 22.

"The next thing we did was to call in the men, one by one, inform them of what we had on them, and advised them to confess. Nine men that we know of are implicated and I believe there are more. The men to whom we talked had plenty of time to think it over and four of them came to the conclusion that a clean breast of the whole transaction was the best way out.

PROCTOR'S GOOD SHOW.

The week-end vaudeville bill at Proctor's offers a great variety of amusement. "How Props Butted In" is the title of a clever farce comedy of stage life, full of amusing situations. Edward F. Racey Company present a domestic comedy sketch. The Muller Trio in a hoop rolling act is the best that has appeared here. Charles Harper, a monologist, has some good automobile stories and McGarry and Revere are good singers and dancers. The pictures are better than ever.

INCORPORATE COMPANY.

Elizabeth, May 31 (Special).—The Plainfield Plumbing, Hardware and Paint Supply Co. has filed papers of incorporation in the county clerk's office. The company is to deal in general merchandise, especially hardware and lumber. Its offices are at 201 Park avenue, Plainfield. The capital stock is $50,000, divided into 50,000 shares at the par value of $1 each. Of this $25,000 has been paid in. The incorporators are John Cyrus Coley, Rose Judson, Daniel J. Devoe. The heaviest part of the stock is held by Daniel J. Devoe, who has 24,000 shares.

BRIDGE IN THE COUNTRY.

Mrs. George W. Endicott, Jr., gave a bridge whist party at her farm in Piscataway Township, on Tuesday in honor of her sister, Miss Mary Elizabeth Serrell, who will be married to Ralph Williston Armstrong, of New York, on June 14, at the Park Avenue Baptist church. There were about twenty-five guests and prizes were presented to the winners at each of the five tables in play. Refreshments were served after the play.

Y. M. C. A. PICTURES.

The Y. M. C. A. motion picture program for tomorrow afternoon and evening will include the following pictures: "Ramona," an Indian tale; "The Ambitious Bootblack," "The Messenger's Dog," "Abraham's Sacrifice," "Making Arabian Pottery," "A Visit to Briska," "Y. M. C. A. Summer School at Silver Bay."

SURPRISE SHOWER.

Miss Pearl Jones, colored, was given a surprise shower yesterday afternoon, in honor of her approaching marriage to William Alston, at the home of Mrs. Mary Miller, 539 West Second street. There was a large attendance. Miss Jones received a great many useful presents.

MAN WHO CONQUERED AIR SUCCUMBS TO TYPHOID

Dayton, Ohio, May 31.—Wilbur Wright, first man to operate successfully a mechanically prepared aeroplane, and one of the world's most useful citizens, died at the home of his father, Bishop Milton Wright, at 7 Hawthorne street, yesterday. Typhoid fever was the cause of death. He had been ill four weeks. Mr. Wright was born near Millville, Ind., on April 16, 1867.

The funeral will take place from the inventor's residence at three o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The aged father is a bishop in the radical branch of the United Brethren church, and this has no congregation in this city.

The death of Mr. Wright will not affect the Wright Aeroplane Company. It is believed his stock has been devised to members of his family and that Orville Wright will continue in actual charge of affairs.

TOUEY-WATERS.

Miss Mildred Vivian Waters and James Touey, of this city, were married Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Robinson, 139 Johnson avenue. Rev. Dr. M. W. Vaughan, pastor of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, officiated. The couple will reside in this city.

COAXING THE MULES.

Methods of Stage Drivers in the Mountains of Mexico.

The drivers who pilot the stagecoaches through the mountains in Mexico have a way of their own of coaxing their mules along the rough roads. The method is described by Wallace Gillpatrick in his book, "The Man Who Likes Mexico:"

"If you have never ridden on a Mexican coach you have still a new sensation in store. The Chapala coach has a cushion on top, and if you are fortunate in sharing this seat you may ride muy a gusto, seeing the country and the manner of manipulating an eight mule team at the same time.

"There are two about the size of rabbits in the lead, a string of four in the middle and two larger ones on the wheel. The driver has a whip with a lash long enough to reach the leaders. His assistant has another shorter one, but his chief persuaders are rocks.

"The assistant earns 50 cents a day and free insurance against dyspepsia. He alights at the foot of every hill and fills his sombrero with rocks on the way up. He then shies several bowlders big enough to dislocate a hip at the leaders, and when the whole team is in a gallop he swings himself on to the box in some miraculous way. I think he stands on the hub. He could never do it if he wore shoes."

TRAINED TURTLES.

Tricks These Clumsy Creatures May Be Taught to Perform.

Of all living creatures, says a writer in the Strand Magazine, the turtle is undoubtedly the slowest in its movement and probably possesses the least brain. Yet a well known American naturalist has succeeded in training three of these creatures to do a number of little tricks. He places them, one above the other, on spools, and if a piece of cabbage or other green stuff is held out in front of them they will make a complete circuit, all moving in unison, keeping their balance and not tumbling off.

The bigger turtle will also ring a bell. This it grasps in one of its forefeet, jerks it off the ground and then gives it a shake. It is quite amusing to watch the slow, deliberate manner in which this is done. The turtles have always lived in their owner's house, spending their time in the kitchen hunting down the vermin.

One of the turtles draws a little cart about the garden, a task which he apparently does not resent in the least. Of course he is never kept harnessed for any length of time. He is quite tame, follows the children about the garden and will even eat from their fingers

When a Child Has a Convulsion.

When a child is suddenly seized with a convulsion proceed as follows: First. Loosen the clothing, but take off only the shoes and stockings. Second.—Place the child upon a bed or table, with his legs hanging over the edge from the knees down. Third.—Put his feet and lower legs in a pail of hot water to which has been added one tablespoonful of powdered mustard. If you have no mustard use hot water alone. Be very careful it is not hot enough to burn. Fourth.—Put an ice cap to the head. Lacking an ice cap, use plenty of cracked ice done up in a towel. Fifth.—Give an enema of warm soapsuds. Repeat it if it is not retained. Sixth.—As soon as the child is able to swallow give a large dose of castor oil. —Dr. R. H. Dennett in Woman's Home Companion.

Polls and Barbers' Poles.

The barber is the only professional man whose emblem is a pole. The emblem is a pun. A poll is a head. The verb "poll" means to lop off a head. The earliest barbers were removers of beards. "Barba" is Latin for beard. The French called a man who shears off beards a barbier. But the barbier also removed hair from the apex and adjoining regions of the head. With the modesty characteristic of many professional men he magnified his function and adopted for his emblem a device which taken in its fullest significance would indicate that he removed the entire head. Because "poll" is pronounced the same as "pole" he conceived that a pole would be the appropriate emblem of his profession.—New York Sun.

The special features of the performance will be a succession of highly interesting colored films and travelogue pictures.

DROWNS BEFORE FRIENDS.

Elizabeth, May 31.—Seized with cramps while swimming late yesterday afternoon in Staten island Sound Charles Irwin, 25 years old, of 328 Court street, was drowned before his three companions could give him aid. The accident happened off what is known as the "pig iron" dock, near Elizabeth avenue. The man's companions were Raymond Bennett, Harry Smith and William McNamara. They reported the accident and a detail of policement went in search of the body. It was found about an hour after the drowning occurred.

Irwin had been married less than a year and is survived by his young bride.

Upland Plover, a Useful Bird, Being Hunted to Extinction.

The upland plover, a beautiful and useful bird, is a close relative of the sandpiper. While sandpipers love the vicinity of water, the upland plover frequents dry hills and prairies and is most abundant in the interior. This so called plover breeds from Oregon, Oklahoma and Virginia north to Alaska, Mackenzie and Maine and migrates over the more southern parts of the continent, passing to the pampas of Argentina to spend the winter.

Almost half its food is made up of grasshoppers, crickets and weevils, all of which exact heavy toll from cultivated crops. These weevils injure, often seriously, such crops as wheat, corn, rye and barley, as well as forage plants of many kinds. The upland plover further makes itself useful to the farmer by devouring leaf beetles, including army worms and cutworms. They also befriend cattle by eating horse flies and cattle ticks.

Notwithstanding that the upland plover injures no crops and consumes a host of the worst enemies of agriculture, it has been hunted to the verge of extinction. It seems a great pity that one of the best friends of the farmer should be exterminated by hunters, who care only for the momentary pleasure of dropping these swift flying birds.

Blind Postman.

In this game the first thing to be done is to appoint a postmaster general and a postman. The table must then be pushed to one side, so that when the company have arranged themselves round the room there may be plenty of room to move about. The postmaster general, with paper and pencil in hand, then goes round the room and writes down each person's name, linking with it the name of the town that the owner of the name chooses to represent. As soon as the towns are chosen and all are in readiness the postman is blindfolded and placed in the middle of the room. The postmaster then announces that a letter has been sent from one town to another, perhaps from the city of London to Edinburgh. It so, the representatives of these two cities must stand up and as silently as possible change seats. While the transition is being made the postman is at liberty to secure one of the seats for himself. If he can do so, then the former occupant of the chair must submit to be blindfolded and take upon himself the office of postman.

Is Your Swastika Correct?

One of the lucky charms most generally worn recently has been the swastika. Superstitious wearers would do well to examine their reproductions of it and make sure that they are correct in form and material, for Sir George Birdwood, an authority on Indian matters, has been giving some interesting and alarming facts concerning this ancient and mystic symbol.

The right handed swastika—that is, the one whose transom or arm points to the right—is the symbol of the sun and of light, of health and happiness and other good qualities, and it alone is lucky. It should be fashioned only of gold and colored (if enameled on any other metal) only red, the color of the east, or yellow, the color of the south.

The left handed swastika is the symbol of the moon and of moonlight, of all darkness and supernatural terrors, of all mortal diseases and disgraces and other forms of ill omen.

An Amusing Trick.

A simple parlor trick is done by asking one of your audience to take two chairs and place them back to back three feet apart. Now ask him or any one in the audience whether he can take off his shoes and jump over them. Most likely he will find it an impossible task. Then tell him that you can do it very easily. Take off your two shoes, place them on the floor and jump over the shoes. This was all the other party was to do, only he did not understand it in that way.

The Artist.

My paintbox opens with a slide,
And shows the colored paints inside
With which I paint the land and sea,
The house, the mountain and the tree.
But if I do not paint them well,
I may do better—who can tell?
I do my best; if not correct,
What more can any one expect
From one so young, about to start,
And one who never studied art?
My landscapes seem as true as those
I've often seen at artists' shows,
Where I could never understand
Which was the sea and which the land.
These pictures by a boy of eight
Are not expected to be great,
I may be when I larger grow
A second Michelangelo.

HOW TO MAKE CLAM CHOWDER.

THE early settlers in this country are believed to have borrowed their skill in making chowders from the French.

These hodgepodges are supposed to have originated in the province of Brittany, where the fisher folks at public gatherings each brought his or her contribution to the general caldron and when the food was cooked received a share in his dish.

An Elaborate Chowder.

Clam Chowder With Eggs.—Take about a dozen large clams. The little neck variety is preferred. Scrub the shells before you place them in the kettle on the fire. Cover these with a quart of boiling water. When the clams open take from the fire and set aside the water in which they have been.

Chop fine five ounces of salt pork and four thinly sliced potatoes. Put the pork into the kettle and, after cooking a little, add some strained water, the juice of the clams, then the potatoes and three onions sliced thin. Let these simmer for an hour and a quarter and add a quart of milk, which should simmer for a quarter of an hour before the clams are added.

A Hodge Podge.

Clam Chowder and Veal.—Take four dozen clams, a pound of veal, a half pound bacon, one pint stewed tomatoes, one pint water, one pint milk, six water crackers and three potatoes. Line the bottom of the saucepan with the bacon cut into dice.

Pare and cut potatoes into dice; cut the veal into small pieces; chop the clams; mash the crackers.

Put a layer of potatoes on the bacon, then a layer of veal, then tomatoes, then clams. Alternate these layers until the clams are all used. Add the water boiling hot. Cover and simmer over a slow fire for half an hour.

Then add the milk and crackers; cook ten minutes; serve hot. Salt and pepper to taste.

A Baked Chowder.

Baked Clam Chowder.—Take a pint of raw clams, chopped fine, three potatoes, one onion and three crackers rolled fine. Fry about a quarter of a pound of fat pork until brown and then chop fine. Put the pork and the fat from it in the vessel in which the chowder is to be made. Then put in a layer of cracker crumbs, the shreds of potato and a little onion. Add bits of butter, dashes of pepper and salt, then a layer of clams. Alternate in this manner until the ingredients are used, finishing with cracker crumbs. Cover with clam broth and milk. Put in a pan of hot water and bake three hours. Serve hot.

A MERE MAN'S VIEWPOINT.

Public Sentiment and the School Authorities Should Discourage the Wearing of Elaborate and Expensive Graduation Gowns.

By BYRON WILLIAMS.

THE average man who has tasted something of the pleasures of this world and who knows something of the trials of the lowly and downtrodden striving to educate their children will scarcely be in favor of the stand taken by certain college girls who object to the simple graduating costume as outlined by the college officials. The story says some of the seniors declare they will forego their diplomas rather than submit to the plain and simple costumes demanded by the authorities. The marshals have posted the rules that designate a costume: To consist of a plain tailored shirt waist with long sleeves, a plain white skirt, no buttons, three inches from the ground; an academic gown two inches above the bottom of the skirt, with white linen collar, small white bow tie, white belt with either no buckle or a pearl one black oxford shoes and black stockings, no jewelry, no flowers, no ornaments for the hair, no fancy hatpins.

It would seem to the average man that these costumes were quite fitting for the commencement exercises. If any criticism could be passed upon woman it is her vain desire to outdress her less fortunate sisters. This may have its desirable features, but in many instances it might be a hardship for the parents of certain girls to provide their daughters with costly dresses for commencement time. But this is not the worst of such a custom. Some girls at graduation time—and I am speaking now of graduation in any city or village—cannot, in their circumstances, secure costumes that entail the expenditure of large sums of money. They must be content with simple gowns. To see their more favored schoolmates decked in costly fabrics, bejeweled and ornamented gives no end of heartache and, worse still, creates a germ of dissatisfaction in the heart.

It is a strange thing that women who are by nature kind and sweet and lovable are sometimes almost ghouls of fashion, striving to outdo their neighbors, to outdress their husbands' competitors, to give costly entertainments, to ride in magnificent motorcars, to luxuriate in endless luxury, all for the effect of the show. It is a thing not quite understandable by the average man—not that he is without as great faults, for in the moil of trade he goes home frequently with the financial ear or the financial scalp of his neighbor across the way. He is just as cruel and just as impracticable as the women. But it is also certain that he is not as tender hearted and by nature is not as much given to sympathy and consideration for others. The very nature of his duties in life, the fighting as the head of his family, makes him less considerate. The woman, however, is gentle and kind and sweet and should have more consideration for those not so well placed in this world.

Seed Cakes.

If you wish to make a very plain seed cake it may be built up on the recipe for a simple currant cake. Where the recipe calls for currants just substitute caraway seeds.

Another way to make a plain caraway seed cake is to use Vienna bread dough or dough with milk and add to it an ounce or two of butter or sugar and caraway seeds to taste.

The allowance of seed is usually small, a teaspoonful of them to the pound of flour being used. Too many seeds in the cake will make it dry.

Making Prunes Tempting.

For prune compote get large and nice looking prunes. They should be absolutely fresh. Use a pound of them, soaking well in lukewarm water. Then wash and cover with cold water. Add the rind of half a lemon, a small stick of cinnamon and a half cup of sugar. Boil slowly for forty-five minutes; then dissolve a half teaspoonful of corn starch with a little cold water, throw in with prunes; boil up again and add a glass of grape juice. Let cool and serve.

FAMILY OF NEW JERSEY'S GOVERNOR.

The success of Governor Woodrow Wilson in several recent Democratic presidential preference primaries has revived the hope of many of his admirers that he will be nominated as that party's standard bearer at the Baltimore convention next month. It has also awakened interest in Mr. Wilson personally, and in his family. Herewith are reproduced pictures of Mrs. Wilson and his three daughters.

MISS INEZ MILHOLLAND.

Suffrage Leader Who Will Take Up the Practice of Law.

MISS MILHOLLAND, LAWYER.

Told That She Has Passed Bar Examination With Honor.

New York, May 31.—Miss Inez Milholland, who has been one of the most ardently active advocates of "votes for women," will take up the practice of law when she returns from her summer vacation in Europe.

Miss Milholland's earnest application to her studies at the New York Law university has been rewarded, for she has been apprised by the board of examiners of the Law university that she has passed the difficult examinations with honor.

While Miss Milholland will not attend the graduating exercises of her class, which takes place next month, she will carry with her her lawyer's degree when she sails for Europe shortly.

CONVULSIONS KILL 7; DOCTORS BAFFLED

Eighth One of Family Is at Death's Door.

Philadelphia, May 31.—A mysterious disease has played havoc with the family of Frank Baumeister of Camden, resulting in the death of seven children—all under eight years of age—while the eighth child, three-and-a-half-year-old Mabel, is at death's door in the Cooper hospital, where her death is expected momentarily. Baumeister owns a farm back of Camden, but at intervals he moves into the city.

The malady has attacked each strong and healthy child in precisely the same manner. Without the slightest warning of sickness or failing health, they have collapsed and gone into convulsions from which they never recovered.

Rose was the last to die from the disease. Up until last week she was a healthy, rollicking girl. Without the slightest warning she went into convulsions and collapsed like her other sisters and brothers. A physician was summoned, but could do nothing to alleviate the pain. She was taken to the Cooper hospital and died in agony.

The disease has baffled a dozen physicians. Whenever a child has been taken ill the family have promptly summoned a doctor, but nothing has been found to check the disease.

SENATOR DIXON COMPLAINS.

Refused Tickets to Chicago Convention For Roosevelt and Family.

Washington, May 31.—Senator Dixon, Colonel Roosevelt's campaign manager, gave out a statement complaining that Harry S. New, chairman of the subcommittee of the Republican national committee on arrangements, had refused to give Colonel Roosevelt tickets of admission to the national convention for the use of his family and immediate friends.

Senator Dixon says that Colonel New has already allotted 150 tickets to Mr. Taft. Colonel Roosevelt's manager has sent a very warm telegram to New. In this telegram he announces that he will appeal over New's head to the members of the national committee themselves.

That has been my slogan for years. "HEAP NOISY INDIAN."

Elizabeth, May 31.—The voice of John Rolling Thunder reverbated through the halls of the Second Precinct station last night. Thunder is the son of an Indian chief and the grandson of a chief according to his own statements. He was arrested for creating a disturbance in a cafe on Elizabeth avenue. He had in his possession at .32-calibre revolver with one chamber empty and a return ticket from Elizabeth to New York. He was making things lively in the saloon when he was arrested. When he was taken to the station house Thunder announced in thunderous tones that he was a member of Troop L, Tenth United States Cavalry, and that he was "some" scout. He said he landed from the steamer Richmond after a protracted visit at the United States Hospital for the Insane. He said he had been cured, but he will be subjected to another examination here.

MOVING PICTURE COMBINE.

New York, May 31.—The Universal Film Manufacturing Company, composed of forty-nine moving picture factories and exchanges, representing an outlay of $5,000,000, is the name of a combination of the large motion picture interests which has been recently formed. Among the companies in it are the Bison, Imp, Rex, Powers, Victor, Gem, Itala, Ambrosia and Nestor. The stockholders in these concerns were persuaded that better results would be obtained by uniting interests.

COLLEGE VARSITY CREWS ARE BUSY

Oarsmen Hard at Work Preparing For Coming Regattas.

GRADUATION DEPLETES RANKS.

Cornell Fortunate In Losing Only One Man—Syracuse Also Lucky—Columbia Coach Having His Trouble—Penn Weak—Wisconsin Has Heavy Crew.

With the preliminary races at hand and with the championship regattas not far off, the college oarsmen are putting in their hardest practice now and building up the foundation on which the finishing touches will be put in June.

Every crew in the east has been on the water for some time, and the coaches are molding together the combinations which with no or few changes will row in the final races.

Graduation and losses from other causes have wrought havoc in the ranks of nearly all the crews that struggled in the races of June, 1911. Of the seven crews that rowed either at Poughkeepsie or New London, Cornell and Syracuse seem to have fared the best. In fact, a few weeks ago Cornell had its 1911 varsity eight intact, and only the loss of E. F. Bowen, who stroked the Ithacans both in 1910 and 1911, has broken the Cornell combination.

Syracuse lost only one man by graduation, but the work this spring began with four veterans, as three of the leftovers failed to report in their old places. On paper Columbia lost but two of its oarsmen, but as a matter of fact only four of the men who rowed last June have returned for practice this year.

Pennsylvania has five of its 1911 veterans as a nucleus for the varsity eight, and Wisconsin has six. In the New London crews Harvard has six of its 1911 oarsmen, while Yale has only three of the men who were in the varsity boat last June.

In almost every case, however, exceptional material in the 1914 freshmen crews has provided men for the vacancies in the senior combinations.

At Columbia Jim Rice, who is completing his sixth year as coach of the Blue and White crews, is having his troubles in getting together an eight to his liking because the squad from which he has had to draw has been almost the smallest in years.

Wisconsin is planning to have the heaviest eight that has ever represented the Badgers, and for that reason Harry Vail, the coach, has found it necessary to have an especially large shell built for the crew.

Six of the men who rowed in last year's varsity eight have returned for this year's crew, and in addition E. J. Samp, whose illness caused the substitution of Wood, the freshman oarsman, at the last minute last June, is available, so that in all Vail has seven experienced men from 1911.

With six of last year's varsity combination to begin work on, Jim Wray has hopes of turning out another successful Harvard crew. Captain Cutler, No. 7, and Lathrop Withington, No. 5, are the only men who were lost by the graduation.

Of the remaining six, five have seats in the present varsity combination, and unless there is a midseason slump it is doubtful if there will be any radical change in the boat. Wray, however, has been trying to change the Harvard stroke and is at present coaching his men to make a longer reach and pull through farther than they have been in the custom of doing.

This is a point that Wray has picked up from Courtney, and he will use it against the Courtney crew in the coming triangular regatta between Harvard, Cornell and Princeton on the Charles river basin on May 25.

Although Yale has three veterans of last year's crew still in the university, the new graduate coach, J. O. Rodgers, at the present stage of the game has placed only two, Captain Romeyn and Philbin, in the varsity boat. Scully, the one left over, has been relegated to the second boat, and four of last year's victorious freshman squad have been fitted into the varsity combination, together with J. A. Appleton, stroke of the four oared crew, and Freeman, a new man.

KRAMER'S TRAINING METHODS

Champion Bicycle Rider Is a Model of Regularity.

Champion Bicycle Rider Frank Kramer is a model of regularity. He eats his meals at the same hours every day of the year, never varies an hour in retiring and rising and is equally exact in his methods of training.

He makes it a point to run three miles or more every day in addition to his bicycle riding. Moreover, he has rarely had any falls or accidents in his long career as a rider, which has been a material aid in his good condition.

Requisites of Staf Pitcher.

Manager McGraw says a first class pitcher must be fast on his feet, with strong arm and back development, an even temper and exemplary habits.

St. Paul Has Undertaker at Short.

Jack Lewis, the St. Paul infielder, is an undertaker. He was sent back by the Boston Americans.

"It is a mistake to claim that women have no minds," says the Manayunk Philosopher. "They have. And what's more, they change them two or three times a day."

FEW STAR YOUNGSTERS.

Spring Training Camps Did Not Turn Out Many Phenoms.

Now that the crop of young ball players has been garnered and the scythe swung through the field of candidates for berths in fast company, the wheat separated from the chaff and the prize winners gathered for the season we will have an easier time following the youngsters' work on the diamond.

Out of the hundred or more young pill handlers that were with the major league clubs during the spring training season and for a short while after but few have stuck in fast company. There was a scarcity of good material this spring—in fact, more than has been the case in many seasons. But nearly every club has discovered one or two men good enough to hang on, even though no position on the team could be found for them.

Manager McGraw of the New York Giants believes he has picked up the pitching find of the season in Jeff Tesreau. In the few games he twirled this spring he showed McGraw he had lots of stuff on the ball.

Brooklyn has been fortunate in picking up two very promising youngsters in Pitcher Allen and Outfielder Moran. According to critics, the last named should be one of the season's finds. He is a fine batter, swift base runner and an excellent fielder. The Chicago Americans have also been very lucky in picking up a crack pitcher in Dellhi and a hard hitting first baseman in Fournier, a French Canadian. St. Louis experts believe Manager Bobby Wallace has landed a prize in Second Baseman Pratt, who led the Southern association in batting last year. Wallace says he will be one of the sensations in the American league this season.

SHERIDAN TRAINING HARD.

Discus Champion In Great Shape For the Olympic Tryouts.

Martin J. Sheridan of the Irish American Athletic club of New York, the chief exponent of the discus and present Olympic title holder, feels confident that he will defend his title as well as win the discus event, throwing with both hands.

He has been training hard for the last two months and reports that he never felt better. He declines to divulge how far he has been scaling the steel saucer.

The Number Forty In the Bible.

The rain that produced the flood fell for forty days and forty nights, and after it ceased it was forty days before Noah opened the ark. Moses was forty days on the mountain fasting, and the spies spent forty days investigating matters in Canaan before making their report. Elijah fasted forty days in the wilderness, and Jonah gave the people of Nineveh forty days in which to repent. The forty days' fast of Jesus is known to all readers of the New Testament.

MARATHON TO BE GRUELING RACE

Olympic Officials Rule Runners Not to Be Allowed Attendants.

WILL BE HARD ON ATHLETES.

If Day Is Warm It Is Doubtful Whether Many Will Finish—Forrest Smithson's Dream Came True—Equaled Time In Slumberland.

By TOMMY CLARK.

According to the rules that will govern the athletic meet of the Olympiad, which will be held in Stockholm, Sweden, next June, no competitor in the Marathon and running races will be allowed an attendant or receive assistance or refreshments from any one during the progress of the race without the permission of the judges.

This will be an awful hardship on the athlete who competes in the Marathon run, especially if the day is hot and sultry. According to the ruling, it is apparent to the general committee that constructed the rules the Marathon race should be as near the original one as possible. There is no doubt that many of the contestants will insist that they be allowed an attendant as well as to take some nourishment.

Ninety per cent of the runners who compete in Marathon races cannot run the full distance unless they take nourishment. If permission is not accorded the runners the race will no doubt be run in slow time.

It has been said that there will probably be men stationed at every half mile mark to render needed assistance. This will obviate personal attendants. The only trouble about having men stationed along the course is that they probably won't know what aid to give a runner if they cannot speak the athlete's language.

It will be good news to the Americans that Forrest Smithson has started to train for the Olympic games. With the possible exception of Kraenzlein, Smithson is the greatest hurdler that this country ever developed. He won the 110 meter hurdle race at London in 15 seconds flat. One hundred and ten meters is equal to 121 yards, so that Smithson's time, applied to the regulation distance of 120 yards, was equivalent to almost 14 4-5 seconds and was the fastest hurdling that the athletic world has ever seen.

A curious incident of Smithson's victory at London is told for the first time. Just before the men took their positions Smithson was asked how he thought the race would result. Smithson replied:

"I am going to win, and win in 15 seconds flat. I know this because I dreamed it last night."

It is not often that an athletic dream becomes such a reality as this. At a set of games in San Francisco recently Smithson ran the seventy-five yard hurdles in 9 4-5 seconds, equaling the world's outdoor record. This seems to demonstrate that he has lost none of his old time speed.

Apparently Jim Flynn is more afraid of the specter of Jim Jeffries returning to the ring than Jack Johnson is at this time. He said recently in discussing the attitude of the public toward his proposed match with Johnson:

"Everybody is against me. Just because I am not a mountain they think I have no chance with Johnson, but I'll show them. And there are others who think I am going into this fight just for the money that is in it. Don't you believe it! I don't get a cent unless I win. Why, I've whipped eleven white hopes during the past year, including Al Kaufman, whom I have been after for a long time. Johnson licked me once, the same as Kaufman, but this time he is going to take the count, and I'm the one that is going to hand it to him."

Sounds good, Jim, but we have our doubts about it ever coming true.

Jim Smith, the New York heavyweight, recently fought a husky youth in Bridgeport, Conn. As the men clambered into the ring the referee walked over to Jimmy Johnson, the manager of Smith, and softly announced:

"My system, Mr. Johnson, is to count the blows, and whoever hits the oftener wins." Johnson argued for awhile, but without avail.

For eight rounds the youngster jabbed and evaded Smith's terrible right.

"Good night!" soliloquized Johnson. "I see we're in Dutch."

In the tenth Smith got the right home, and his opponent dropped for good.

"Hey!" shrieked Johnson. "What does that count, Mr. Referee?"

"Just one million," he replied without cracking a smile.

Happy Woman.

Oh, see the fat lady!
How happy she looks.
And why is she so happy?
Her dressmaker tells her that her dress makes her look thin.
But does it?
Never mind that. Her husband tells her she looks thin and her friends all tell her she looks thin.
But does she not know she is fat?
Yes, child, but she thinks they all really think she is thin, and that is what makes her happy.—Chicago Post.

The Scrap Book

A Lesson In Poker.

One of Cleveland's shoe stores has been conducting a bargain sale in men's shoes. In each pair of shoes in the show window there are three new one dollar bills, and the sign reads, "Three of a Kind Take One Pair."

The three dollar shoes have been going rapidly. Saturday, however, a big young man entered the store and asked, "Do you sell these shoes according to poker rules, as advertised?"

"Yes, sir," answered the clerk, who had played a bit himself.

"Good. I wear a No. 9. Wrap me up two pair of them."

He received the shoes and handed over $3.

"Excuse me," said the clerk. "Those shoes come to $6. You took two pair."

"That's all right," said the young man, "but three of a kind beat two pair."

"I know that," responded the clerk promptly, "but three of a kind don't beat four nines." The customer paid. —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"You're All Right."

Many a heart is kept from aching,
Saved perhaps at point of breaking
By these words—no trouble taking—
"You're all right!"

When you feel life growing colder,
Just a hand upon the shoulder,
Nothing greater, nothing bolder,
Makes things bright.

Say the words to those you're meeting
And infuse a cordial greeting
Into just a phrase so fleeting.
Words seem light,

But they start the mind a-straying
Into pleasant paths, obeying
The suggestion in the saying
"You're all right!"

Timely Advice.

When a certain financial panic broke out the senior editor of a trade journal published in the interests of business men and financiers was on a visit to a mining town. Fearful lest his junior in the office at home might give editorial utterance to pessimistic views and weaken public confidence still further, he hastened to a telegraph office and dispatched a brief message of advice.

It happened that the junior partner on this particular day had just become the father of a pair of fine twin boys. While his friends in the office were congratulating him upon this event a messenger entered with a telegram. He opened it and read the following message from the senior partner:

Dear George—Things look blue, but they will brighten up soon. Take a cheerful view of the situation. HIRAM.

No Sip For Him.

General Carter, who went to Texas in command of the regulars sent south for the maneuvers along the Mexican border, tells this story of an old Irish soldier: The march had been a long and tiresome one, and as the bivouac was being made for the night the captain noticed that Pat was looking very much fatigued. Thinking that a small drop of whisky might do him good, the captain called Pat aside and said, "Pat, will you have a wee sip of whisky?" Pat made no answer, but folded his arms in a reverential manner and gazed upward. The captain repeated the question several times, but no answer from Pat, who stood silent and motionless, gazing devoutly into the sky. Finally the captain, taking him by the shoulder and giving him a vigorous shake, said: "Pat, why don't you answer? I said, 'Pat, will you have a drink of whisky?'" After looking around in considerable astonishment Pat replied: "And is it yez, captain? Begorrah and I thought it was an angel shpakin' to me."—Cosmopolitan Magazine.

Classified.

Lord Normanby is one of the few peers and the only marquis in England in holy orders. For many years he conducted a school at Mulgrave, and some good stories are told of his scholastic days. His charges led an unpampered life. Hampers were forbidden, and the boys' weekly pocket money was limited to threepence.

Once when expounding the mysteries of the creation Lord Normanby asked one pupil, who is now a well known politician, the difference between himself and a tiger, meaning, of course, the difference in the scale of nature. The boy thought hard and at last blurted out:

"A tiger, sir, is an imperfect beast; but you are—well, a perfect beast!"

Both Obeyed Orders.

During the war between the states an Irish Confederate was placed as sentry on the beach at Sullivan's island with orders to walk between two points and to let no one pass without giving the countersign, which, as an extra precaution, was to be given in a whisper. When the corporal came round with the relief guard he discovered Murphy up to his waist in water, the tide having risen. "Who goes there?" said Murphy. "Relief!" shouted the corporal. "Advance, then," cried the Irishman, "and give the countersign!" "Advance? I'm not going in there!" cried the corporal. "Come out and be relieved!" "Sure, I mustn't!" said Pat. "I wasn't to stir from my post till I was properly relieved!" "Then I'll leave you there all night!" cried the corporal, beginning to move off. "Begorra, you won't!" shouted Murphy, leveling his rifle. "Halt, or I put a hole in ye! No one's to pass without the countersign, and it's to be given in a whisper!" There was no help for it. The shivering corporal had to wade in.

SHE GOT EVEN.

The Old Lady Turned a Neat Trick on Her High Priced Lawyer.

One of New York's well known lawyers, widely famed for his high charges, had incurred the enmity of an old lady on account of those same charges. Wishing to get even with him, she consulted him about drafting her will. As she was a very wealthy old lady, without near relatives, she had many charitable associations to benefit, and the accurate draft of the will required much patience, skill and time. Among the provisions she made a generous bequest to this lawyer and nominated him executor.

After the execution of the will she called for her bill, whereupon the lawyer, with the vision of ample fees in the prospective settlement of the estate and the memory of the generous bequest, told the old lady that under the circumstances he should charge nothing, but finally, to satisfy her business scruples, made out a receipt in full to date for $1, whereas the smallest sum he could have properly charged would have been $100.

The old lady marched home with her will, set herself to work and copied it out carefully word for word, leaving out the bequest to the lawyer and nominating a new executor.

In the course of time she died, and the disgust of the lawyer at the contents of the will was so great that he inadvertently let out the secret, to the huge delight of his brother lawyers.

A Point Not Decided.

The late Senator Tom Carter in the debate before the National Press Club of Washington as to whether a beard or a bald head was the greater disadvantage to a man claimed that a beard was a wonderful help. Carter, by the way, had a beard which would make an alfalfa field look like an arid and dusty desert.

Soon after the debate he received from one of his Montana friends this communication:

Dear Tom—Your speech on whiskers seemed to settle all the disputed points except one. What we can't decide out here and what we want you to tell us is: When a man goes to bed ought he to put his beard under his covers or leave it outside?

Presence of Mind.

Two Harvard students went into the cafe of an ultra fashionable hotel and, stepping up to the bar, said, "Give us two pousses cafes." An old Irishman, who had been timidly standing near, liked the looks of the drinks and when they were finished leaned over the bar and said, "Mister, make me a pussy cafe too."

"'TIS TWICE I'VE TOLD YOU."

"What?" said the barkeeper in surprise.

"Ginger ale," replied Pat; "'tis twice I've told you."—Everybody's.

Not Music.

When Parepa Rosa was still charming gold and banknotes out of the pockets of her audiences she appeared in concert in Hartford and in the same week, as it happened, in which Mr. Clemens had delivered a lecture. To hear Mark people had paid $1.50 for the best seat in the house. To hear the diva meant $5 for a seat far from the best.

So the local humorist was moved to write to the committee in charge of the two entertainments. He pointed out the monetary partiality which had been shown, asserted that it was obviously unfair and closed with this: "If Mme. Rosa makes her money so much faster than I do mine merely because she sings, let me tell you that I can sing myself and am open to engagements at her terms."

He promptly received an answer, "A mere disturbance is not music."

He Retired.

Senator Heyburn's friends never suspected until recently that he had once tried to qualify as a mighty Nimrod. The senator told the story himself. He said he was out hunting in Idaho. He hunted all day, but couldn't scare up a sage hen, let alone a deer. Finally as he was taking the back trail into camp he came face to face with a bear which showed its teeth and started for him on the jump.

"Well, what did you do, senator?" queried Senator Crane.

"Well, you know, Crane, I'm a man of a very retiring disposition."

—"Why are you so late this morning?" thundered the boss. "My wife overslept herself," explained the suburban bookkeeper, "and the cook had to get the breakfast."

MADE THE JUDGE BLUSH.

Two Jolts to His Dignity That Came In Rapid Succession.

The late Chief Justice Waite, a man of extreme dignity, started for Baltimore one afternoon many years ago from the old Baltimore and Ohio station. He discovered, to his horror, that he had only a few pennies in his pockets. His train was due to depart in a few minutes, and his engagement was an important one. He looked around for a friend, but found none. So he filed boldly up in line to the ticket office. When he reached the window he smiled pleasantly at the agent and asked him if he recognized him.

"Naw, I don't!" snarled that amiable official. "What do you want?"

"I want a ticket to Baltimore and return," replied the justice. "I am

"DO YOU KNOW ME?"

chief justice of the supreme court. I have no money with me. I must have forgotten my purse. I can give you my personal check"—

"Oh, you can, can you?" interrupted the agent wrathfully. "You mean you can't! That game don't go with me. I just had two members of the cabinet try to work me for tickets, and the supreme court gag don't go half as good. Brush by! There's others behind you with the price!"

Justice Waite was dumfounded. He couldn't fine the young man for contempt of court, so he just glared at him and blushed and perspired.

He dashed out of the station in hope of meeting some one who could identify him. He had only a minute or two left. At the entrance of a saloon across the street he accosted the proprietor, a short haired, freckled faced Irishman, with the frantic inquiry:

"Do you know me?"

"Sure I do, yer honor," said the man behind the bar. "Ye are wan of the bosses of the supreme court. I see ye ivery day goin' by here on the cars."

"Will you cash a check for me? Quick! I have no time to explain?" And the excited justice grabbed a pen from the desk near by and began to write like mad.

"Sure I will!" agreed the Irishman promptly. "I have seen ould b'ys off on a tear befure git out of money. Trust me, sir; I'll say nothin'. Is it a twinty ye want? Here ye are. Will ye have a dhrink befure ye go?"

But the chief justice was on his way across the street, and he just managed to catch his train.—Edward Riddle Padgett in Washington Star.

A Surprise.

The Rev. A. J. Hardy, in his book "The Unvarying East," tells a delightful story. A young lady about to visit the Holy Land called on an old lady friend. She mentioned that she soon hoped to see Jerusalem, Bethlehem, Galilee and many of the other places mentioned in the Bible.

The old lady put down her work, removed her spectacles and exclaimed in great surprise, "Well, now, I knew that all these places were in the Bible, but I never thought of them being on the earth."

Two Punsters.

Senator Pomerene of Ohio and Senator Martine of New Jersey had never been known to crack a joke. Consequently, when Senator John Sharp Williams announced the other day that he had heard some airy, humorous pleasantries passed between them, he was regarded as giving forth a peculiarly malicious falsehood.

"It's true, nevertheless," insisted Williams. "Senator Pomerene turned to Senator Martine and said, 'If Senator Burton were to go into the cellar would the coal shoot.'

"At which Senator Martine instantly said: 'No, but the kindling would.'" —New York World.

A Prize Definition.

A notably amusing answer was given by a student in the natural philosophy class at Edinburgh university.

Professor Tait had given as one of the questions in an examination paper, "Define transparent, translucent and opaque," which was dealt with by the student thus: "I cannot precisely define these terms, but I can indicate their meaning in this way: The windows of this classroom were once transparent; they are now translucent and if not cleaned very soon will be opaque."

The answer gained full marks from the amused professor.

The cars that crashed were a thirty horsepower Premier owned and driven by Alveberg, from whom the machine was rented by Vail, and a thirty-five horsepower National, owned and driven by Brewer. It is alleged that Alveberg was driving on the wrong side of the road, and the cars came together at full speed.

MAN HIT BY LIGHTNING.

Watching Celebration at Grant's Tomb When Bolt Prostrates Him.

New York, May 31.—A black squall descended suddenly on Greater New York at the height of the Memorial day celebration, scattering holiday crowds, breaking up ball games, spoiling memorial services and sending the little water craft scurrying to cover.

It was accompanied by a terrifying display of lightning in Harlem and upper New York city, and one man was struck and narrowly escaped death. John Whalen of Jersey City was one of the throng of thousands who gathered to attend the celebration at Grant's tomb. He was hurrying up Riverside drive as the storm came down and had raised his umbrella.

A bolt struck the steel shaft of the umbrella and knocked him down. He was hurried to the J. Hood Wright hospital, where it was found that he had burns on the right side and was severely shocked.

THREE DROWNED FROM CANOE

Fourth Member of Party Rescued Unconscious From Stream.

St. Johnsbury, Vt., May 31.—Three young people lost their lives in the Passumsic river through the capsizing of a canoe in the swift water above this city. Those drowned were Miss Harriet Ellis, aged nineteen; Miss Helen Smith, aged eighteen, and Herbert W. Smith, aged twenty-eight, brother of Helen. Louis Kimball, the fourth occupant of the boat, was rescued after he had become unconscious in his efforts to save Miss Ellis.

The quartet left here for a paddle and picnic upstream. At the rapids, where the stream is unusually swift now because of the high water, the paddlers lost control of the canoe, and it was overturned.

Miners Return to Work.

Des Moines, Ia., May 31.—After a suspension of nine weeks work was resumed in many mines in District 13, United Mine Workers of America, and every mine in the district will be in operation again before the close of the week.

CAVITIES IN THE SKULL.

Room Enough Inside One's Head to Hide Bulky Articles.

Every one is not aware that there is space inside a person's head for storing away heavy and bulky foreign articles. One man who had made a specialty of burglary and jail breaking now shows how he was aided in his work by utilizing this human attic storage room. He concealed a large skeleton key and a saw twelve inches long, coiled like a watch spring, in the cavity reached through his nostrils. But in the London Lancet Dr. Rushton Parker relates a more remarkable case of the carrying of a large foreign body in that space of the head, and that without the victim knowing that his head was so filled up and weighted down.

A young farmer consulted Dr. Parker at the Liverpool hospital for a nasal abscess that had troubled him some time. Probing the nostril, the surgeon found that a loose mass, apparently of metal, occupied a considerable space behind the nose and above the roof of the mouth.

So large was this object that it was removed with difficulty through the side of the face. It proved to be a gun breech and an iron bolt. The breech measured 3 by 1½ by 1 inches. The bolt was three inches long. The weight of the two was a quarter of a pound. This mass of metal had been in the man's head for five years, though he had not suspected its presence there. A muzzle loading gun had exploded in his hands and shattered his face. The wound healed without leaving any outward deformity. His only affliction was symptoms of a nasal catarrh. The young farmer made a rapid recovery to perfect health with the removal of the iron from his head.

VICTORY OF T. R. IN JERSEY GROWS

Colonel Has All of Twenty-eight Delegates.

PLURALITY ABOUT 17,000.

Morris County Close—Governor Wilson Sweeps State, With Exception of Essex County, Which Is Home of Former United States Senator Smith.

PLURALITIES OF T. R. BY DISTRICTS AND COUNTIES.

Mr. Roosevelt carried all of the twelve congressional districts of New Jersey by the following pluralities.

First.—Camden, Gloucester and Salem counties, 825.

Second.—Cape May, Cumberland, Atlantic and Burlington, 2,000. He carried all but Atlantic, which gave President Taft 769 plurality.

Third.—Monmouth, Middlesex and Ocean, 700.

Fourth.—Mercer and Hunterdon gave Roosevelt 1,000 plurality, which was reduced by 100 in Somerset, which went for the president.

Fifth.—Union gave Roosevelt 400, and Morris went for Taft by 200.

Sixth.—Warren, Sussex, Bergen and part of Passaic, 535 Roosevelt plurality.

Seventh.—Comprises greater part of Passaic county, 1,200 Roosevelt plurality.

Eighth.—Part of Essex and part of Hudson, Roosevelt 3,000 plurality.

Ninth and Tenth districts, comprising the rest of Essex, 1,000 and 1,200 respectively for Roosevelt.

Eleventh and Twelfth districts, comprising greater part of Hudson county, 1,000 and 1,700 respectively for Roosevelt.

Trenton, N. J., May 30.—From latest returns it appears that Colonel Roosevelt has carried the state by a majority of between 16,000 and 17,000 over President Taft. The Roosevelt victory was so complete and so widespread as to leave but little consolation for the regular Republican organization, which, although divided, had in the main supported the president.

The colonel not only carried all of the twelve congress districts and the four delegates at large, giving him the entire twenty-eight delegates from the state, but got a majority on the preferential vote in nearly all of the twenty-one counties. The few scattering counties which are placed in the Taft column gave the president such narrow margins as to be almost negligible. With about 40 per cent of the Republican vote polled in the state at large the Roosevelt victory was all that his most ardent followers had hoped for and more than most of them had expected.

Governor Wilson Is Pleased.

Notwithstanding the loss of the four delegates in the two Essex districts controlled by former United States Senator James Smith, Jr., and James R. Nugent, Governor Wilson's victory is scarcely less satisfactory to his followers on the Democratic side. With the single exception of Essex county there were only two or three districts in the state in which the Wilson opposition made even a substantial showing, so that the Wilson faction feels confident in claiming that the New Jersey Democracy is practically unanimous for the governor.

Governor Wilson was in a particularly happy frame of mind today. The reports he received not only from New Jersey, but elsewhere, seemed to give him renewed hope.

In the following table is shown the pluralities by counties in New Jersey on the preferential vote cast for the Republican and Democratic candidates for President of the United States. Senator La Follette did not carry a single county in the State.

EXTRA HOLE MATCH AT COUNTRY CLUB

J. E. Erickson and W. L. Glenny Played Six Over to Settle Tie.

There was a large field of golfers out on the local courses yesterday despite the heavy downpour of rain, and a majority of those who started in the various competitions, finished. One of the best matches of the day at the Plainfield Country Club was that between J. E. Erickson and W. Lester Glenney, in the semi-finals, second sixteen for the May cup. At the 18th hole the players were even up, and it was necessary to play six extra holes to decide the match. Mr. Erickson won out by 3 up and 2 to play. HOLIDAY CUP WON BY PETER SWEENEY

Returns Net Score of 81 in 18-hole Handicap—Close Competition.

The chief event at the Park Golf Club yesterday was the play, morning and afternoon, for the Holiday cup, 18 holes, handicap. A large number started, but the rain at noon drove several to the clubhouse until after the shower. P. C. Sweeny returned the lowest net score, an 81 but th other scores were all close, only two being above the century mark. During the afternoon there was a reception at the clubhouse. These cards were returned:

P. C. Sweeny, 97, 16-81; H. L. Moody, 108, 24-84; H. H. Woodland, 112, 28-84; W. V. Byard, 108, 20-88; J. H. Greene, Jr., 106, 17-89; A. M. Morrell, 104, 14-90; E. L. Alling, 126, 36-90; Charles B. Morse, 105, 14-91; R. V. Carpenter, 108, 15-93; U. G. Tingley, 107, 12-95; O. B. Hill, 130, 29-101; O. F. Marquard, 149, 30-119.

There were eight players who qualified for the first round match play, spring championship, and these pairings were made for that round: P. C. Sweeny vs. U. G. Tingley, Charles B. Morse vs. R. V. Carpenter, A. M. Morrell vs. W V Byard, J H. Greene, Jr., vs. H. L. Moody.

Another feature competition was the qualifying round for the "Club Goats," open to teams of two, 18 holes, scratch, medal play, teams with the lowest score to be first holders of the "Goats" and subject to challenge. A. M. Morrell and H. L. Moody, with a score of 212, won the competition, with U. G. Tingley and C. B. Morse second with a score of 214. W. V. Byard and R. V. Carpenter with a score of 216 were third. Mr. Morse and Mr. Tingley immediately challenged the winners to a match.

Both the approaching and putting contest and the tennis tournament were postponed until tomorrow on account of the condition of the grounds.

TENNIS FINALS POSTPONED.

The finals of the ladies' handicap singles tennis tournament were not played at the Plainfield Country Club yesterday, because of the rain, and the committee has scheduled the play for tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

SCRATCH MAN WON CYCLE RACE

Gus Wolhrob, of Jersey City, Distanced Big Field Yesterday.

MUD MADE HARD WORK

One Olympic Candidate Stopped to Wash, Instead of Completing Course—Others Were Black From Head to Foot.

Gus Wolhrob, of Jersey City, starting from scratch won the twenty-five mile cycle handicap from a field of forty-five competitors in the fourth annual contest conducted by the Plainfield Cycling Club on Mountain avenue yesterday. His time was 1 hour 10-32. J. Pepp, M. C. A., Yonkers, and H. L. Lind, of Brooklyn, were second and third with a two minute handicap. These three cyclists likewise secured the time and special prizes. The silver cup awarded by the P. C. C. was won by George Simon off the seven minute mark; his brother, E. Simon, also securing a prize, being fourth. The other Plainfield prize winners were E. Y. Mantz and Robert Gullberg.

Jesse R. Pike, Jersey City, an Olympic candidate, also competed but the climatic conditions were against him; so much so that near Scotch Plains he got off his wheel and had a wash in an adjoining brook to get the mud out of his eyes and shoes. Then lighting a cigarette he sat calmly on a fence puffing away while other entrants crawled by in the fast falling rain. In striking contrast to the other winners he arrived at the finish looking fresh and clean. H. L. Lind, a substitute on the Olympic team, was third; T. A. Kennedy, another substitute, came in fourteenth.

The race was held under the most trying weather conditions though the afternoon gave indications of being fine. No sooner had the competitors been started on their journey than the thunder rolled and the lightning flashed and a deluge of rain fell making the large crowd of spectators fly helter skelter for refuge. The downpour continued long after the last wheelman had reached the goal. Most of them were indistinguishable with mud and the judges had an anxious time in deciphering their numbers and assigning to them the places they had obtained in the result. There were several spills due to sideslips and skidding but no one was seriously hurt, though Frank Butterworth had a narrow escape from an automobile which upset him and put him out of the race when his chances were rosy. Forty-five entrants started and thirty-one finished.

The prize winners besides those mentioned were: J. Kaufman, Newark; C. H. Tomasin, Staten Island; H. W. Jaeger, Bayonne; C. Bonhardt, New York; W. Long, Newark; Isador Taub, Hoboken; H. J. Murphy, Brooklyn; W. Napier, Brooklyn; W. J. Lux, Newark; D. J. McIntyre, Hoboken; W. Kennedy, New York; Frank Mac Millan, Fort Lee, N. Y.; A. D. Dawson, Richmond Hill, N. Y.; K. Maier, Newark, J. L. Martin, New York; J. Gardiner, Newark; Louis Stefan, Newark; William Knorr, Hilton, N. J.; G. Abruzzo, Newark; F. Kennbecker, Newark; Otto Sanger, New York.

The officers who had charge of the meeting were:

Referee, Daniel M. Adee; Associate Referee, Dr. Rodger L. Cooley; Judges, G. L. Farley, L. J. Benner, Frank Shepard, W. R. Causbrook, W. J. Trembath, Roy Adams, R. L. Barnard, J. L. Bennett, A. B. The Plainfield C. C. is deserving of every credit for the manner in which the race was carried through and especially the ever popular Jack Horner, on whose shoulders fell most of the responsibility for the arrangement and minutial of detail inseparable from an event of this kind.

PLANS FOR GOLF TOURNEY.

For the purpose of encouraging the playing of golf among the boys, the first junior Metropolitan golf tournament will be held at the Plainfield Country Club, Tuesday, June 25. All boy engaging in the tournament will be entertained here in private homes and not at the clubhouse.

STRING OF GAMES ON CARDS TOMORROW

Factory League Contests—Sunday School League Opening—Semi-Pros.

It was a large-sized day here in the city yesterday in the field of sports; but with the Sunday-school League cracking open tomorrow, together with the Scotch Plains team at the oval, the Manufacturer's League playing its fourth round and not to mention many other games, the morrow will be far from dull.

The factory League games scheduled are: Commercial vs. Saurer on the Clinton avenue grounds; R. G. E. vs. Spicer on the Myrtle avenue grounds, and Bank vs. Public Service on the Scotch Plains ground.

The Saurer team took a brace last week and will try its best to lift one from the leaders who will be without the services of Freeman, who has pitched them to victory three times. The Joint Makers will try hard to break into another winning streak by going the Electrics one better, and the Banks and Street Lighters will try to use one another as a door mat. The cellar championship is at stake.

The 'Plains team will come to town loaded. A new pitcher who has a "rep" in Wheeling, W. Va., will be on the hill and will endeavor to duplicate Ortleib's trick of last week. Manager Dorflinger and his swatsmiths are of the opinion that said twirler will leave town with much the same opinion of its team as have one or two other twirlers e're this. It will be well worth watching at any rate for the Plainfield team has got lots of the old "Pep" left.

The different teams that are members of the Sunday-school League will hook up for the first time tomorrow afternoon in this way: Monroe Avenue vs. First Baptist; Temple Baptist vs. Hope Chapel, and Park Avenue Baptist vs. South Plainfield Baptist. Each team will be out for the first game so that it may occupy the 1,000 side of the percentage column.

PLAINFIELD A. C. WINS FROM NEWARK TEAM

Rain having flagged the big game, the main attraction at Crescent Oval yesterday afternoon turned out to be an interesting struggle between two teams of future greats. The Plainfield A. C. shifted their games with the Domestic A. C., of Newark, from Parker Field to the Oval and secured the bigger end of a 9 to 5 score.

The local ball-tossers obtained an early lead when they registered eight times in the first three rounds, and from then on the outcome of the contest was never in doubt.

Moran not only twirled a great game for the victors, but was the leading swatsmith.

The teams line up as follows:

Firemen—Hann, p.; Hogan, 1b.; Suttlind, 2b.; Fritts, c.; Chandler, rf.; Daly, lf.; Barrett, ss.; McCullough, 3b.; Walker, cf.

PLAINFIELD WINS SHORT GAME

Dorflingers Had Cuban Giants 7 to 4 When Storm Stopped Dash.

SEVEN INNINGS PLAYED

Listless Playing by Both Teams—Grounds in Bad Shape For Fast Work—Good Pitching by Frederickson.

Stopped in the middle of the eighth inning by the approaching rain storm, the Cuban Giants-Plainfield game yesterday morning, at Crescent Oval, closed with the score of 7 to 4 in favor of the home team. The grounds at the beginning of the game were in a very poor condition for a game of baseball but a generous sprinkling of fans had turned out to see the fun, so Manager Dorflinger did his best to give them the best there was to be had.

The game was slow and listless. In their half of the eighth inning the colored team put three men across the pan on three solid bingles and a little loose defensive work, and for a minute it looked as though they might tie the score. But they didn't.

The home team pushed men across in the first, fourth and sixth and aside from these occasional bursts of speed took things easy. Frederickson pitched a good game.

On account of the wet grounds it was impossible to play the second game scheduled for the afternoon.

DUNELLEN DEFEATS N. B. CATHOLIC CLUB

Dixon Catches Finely and Cracks Out Three Hits—Score 7 to 2.

Dunellen defeated the Catholic Club, of New Brunswick, at Dunellen, yesterday morning, by the score of 7 to 2. Dixon not only caught a great game for Dunellen but he hit the ball hard. Dodwell and Elliott made two good catches apiece for Dunellen out in center garden, and Capt. Britt Martin played his usual steady and heady game at second station.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Some big day here yesterday—what?

Fourth round of the Manufacturers' League tomorrow. The Banks-Public Service game will be played in Scotch Plains.

While the 'Plains team is mixing it up at Crescent Oval with Dorflinger's team.

The other two are scheduled to be played on the Clinton avenue and Myrtle avenue grounds.

The Sunday-school League also will start to work its way into the fans' affections.

Tomorrow the Y. M. C. A. will try to run off the race which Colonel Roosevelt caused to be postponed last week.

The Yanks and the Athletics played at the Polo Grounds yesterday, before record-breaking crowds.

It was a black looking cloud that loomed up over back of the grandstand at yesterday morning's game.

When the fans sensed the fact that there was a little moisture due, and due quick, all of the roads leading to town were extensively popular.

During the shower one front porch had eighty-eight people beneath its sheltering roof.

Leaville had a lot to say and at one time evidently thought that he held the indicator as well as the first base man's mit. But at that he kept the fans in good humor.

Jones didn't last long. He had a way of handing free passes over promiscuously, serving up three in the first inning.

Ed. Stallings came across with his customary three-sacker in the fourth. Jesse thought he could slip over a greased one on Ed. but found out that the light haired youth had eyes in the back of his head.

Nelson also met a good one in the second inning for two bases.

Jesse didn't look like a pitcher, being built something like a scow, but he had a bend or two on the pill at that.

Old Sol spoiled the chances for another win in the afternoon.

But Scotch Plains will be here on the morrow which will add zest to the fracas.

The Giants and the Athletics exchanged compliments yesterday morning, both winning by 7 to 1 scores.

Gus Wohrob, the Jersey City wheel boy, rode a pretty race considering the condition of the roads.

Jessie Pike thought he'd take a swim when he got to the 'Plains, so he went over into the brook. He could have gratified his desire in many of the puddles along the course had he felt so inclined.

Geo Simon was the first member of the Plainfield Cycling Club to finish, thus winning the cup.

DAWSON BREAKS WORLD'S RECORD

Daring Autoist Is Cheered to Victory by 80,000.

GOES 80 MILES AN HOUR.

Winner Covers 500 Miles In 6:21:06, an Hourly Average of 78.8—De Palma Leads to Within Ten Miles of Tape, When His Engine Gives Out.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 31.—Before 80,000 wildly cheering people and in the most spectacular race in motor history, Joe Dawson finished first in the second annual 500 mile race at the speedway. The time was 6:21:06, an average of 78.8 miles an hour. The average for last year's race was 74.59 miles an hour. A great ovation was given Dawson at the wheel when he led in a ninth inning finish that won for him the victory in the 500 mile race.

Apparently Ralph De Palma had a victory sewed up and after running 490 miles, within ten miles of the tape, he was forced to abandon the race. Dawson was about five laps behind De Palma when the engine trouble came, and from that time on, when he saw that his rival was crippled, he drove one of the most sensational races ever seen on a race course.

Dawson Great Favorite.

Dawson was a great favorite. In the crowded grand stand there was the wildest kind of excitement when they saw that the Indianapolis man had a chance. Every one stood up and shouted with all their might when they saw that De Palma was losing the race. The game Italian crossed the tape with his engines puffing like a locomotive. He made one lap at low speed, and Dawson passed him twice De Palma kept on and finally his engine went dead on the rear stretch. De Palma and his mechanician, T. Jeffkins, pushed the heavy car for more than a mile around the track and stopped at the pit, unable to reenter the race. In the meantime Dawson was beating it, and when the crowd realized that he was about to win, the people were almost in a state of frenzy.

Tetslaff was second, Hughie Hughes, in a Mercer, finished third.

All Speed Records Broken.

Twenty thousand dollars, together with several hundred dollars in accessory prizes went to the winner. Tetslaff received $10,000, and Hughes $5,000 from the speedway management.

All speedway records for 100 miles were broken when De Palma covered the distance in 1:13:01. The old record was 1:14:29 made by Tetslaff in a Lozier, at Los Angeles, March 19, 1911. The intrepid Italian-American led the field at the half way point in the race by reeling off the quarter of a thousand miles in 3:03:34. The best previous time was 3:17:34, made by Davis Bruce Brown in his Fiat here last summer.

De Palma also beat the 300 mile speedway record, making the distance in 3:43:21 and beating Harroun's last year by 18:04 and at 350 miles he was leading the race, his time being 4:19:35, or 22:25 better than last year.

I Don't Go to Every Extreme to Get Customers, But I Do to Hold Them.

Some stores go to any extreme to get customers. I don't—I go to extremes to hold them.

Some stores offer the World, with the Sun and Moon thrown in for good measure.. I don't—I offer 100 cents of value for every dollar you spend with me.

And beware of the man that offers 101 cents for a dollar—he's got his eye on your "wad" and he's after it tooth and nail.

The "17 ounce to the pound" fellow is a knave at heart, and he'll short-weight you as soon as you turn your back.

Deal with the store that measures things by the Golden Rule and weighs them with Fairbanks scales.

Special Suits and Our Special Explanation

These suits are priced $15 and upwards. They never were marked higher. I don't quote them as "$25 value" as is the custom, altho' the temptation is strong—for they're really the same as higher priced suits you see elsewhere.

Just come in today and see what wonderful values these suits are—don't want you to buy, understand; but just convince yourself where it is to your advantage to buy.

DOUBLE-HEADER CARDED FOR THE OVAL TOMORROW

The management of the Plainfield Baseball Club has arranged for a double-header at Crescent Oval tomorrow afternoon, to make up for the disappointment of yesterday when the rain interferred with the afternoon contest with the Cuban Giants. The first game tomorrow will be between the West End A. C., of this city, and St. Joseph's team, of Bound Brook. Fullton, who pitched for Scotch Plains last Sunday, will be on the slab for the West Ends. Both teams will present a strong line up.

The second contest, between Plainfield and Scotch Plains will begin at 3:45 o'clock and as this will be the first game this season between the teams, there is more than usual interest among the fans as to the outcome. Plainfield will present its regular line up with Frederickson and Nelson in the points. Scotch Plains will line up as follows:

Hand, c.; Slocum or Weiss, p.; Frentz, 1b.; Hellyer, 2b.; Gray, 3b.; Mullen, ss.; J. Alberts, lf.; Baldwin, cf.; H. Alberts, rf.; Miller, substitute.

DUNELLEN WILL PLAY CRANFORD CRACKS AGAIN

Dunellen will play the crack Cranford ball team at Dunellen tomorrow afternoon. Fans hereabouts will remember that Cranford opened Dunellen's season in a 13-inning 1-0 game. On the Saturday following the performance of this feat Cranford journeyed to Raritan and defeated that crack team by the score of 4-3. When it is taken into consideration that it took Dunellen 13 strenuously played innings to defeat Cranford the first time the two teams crossed bats and when it is also remembered that on the very next Saturday Cranford trounced Raritan, who only a couple of Saturdays ago defeated 5-2, the fans can well anticipate witnessing the game of the season at Dunellen tomorrow afternoon. McLaughlin and Dixon will as usual do the battery work for Dunellen.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LEAGUE READY FOR ITS OPENING

Three more games will be added to Plainfield's baseball program tomorrow afternoon, when the Sunday-school Baseball League begins the first round of its season's schedule.

Mayor Moy has consented to throw the first ball out in the Monroe Avenue-First Baptist contest and ceremonial arrangements have been made for the other two games.

The assignment of grounds for the contests are as follows: Monroe Avenue and First Baptist on the Monroe Avenue field; Temple Baptist and Hope Chapel on the Temple Baptist grounds. The South Plainfield and Park Avenue Baptist game has not yet been assigned to grounds.

OPEN GRAVES LED TO GHOUL SCARE

Sexton Explains That He Had Remains Removed.

TRANSFER FOUR BODIES.

Rev. Ezra V. Mundy Crosses Continent to See That Deceased Members of His Family Should Not Be Separated In Death.

Metuchen, N. J., May 30.—The report that ghouls had been at work in the Presbyterian cemetery at Metuchen caused the members of the Burial association much consternation. They had the sexton, Noah Brown, before them to account for the three graves that had been opened.

The graves were in one of two family plots owned by the Rev. Ezra F. Mundy, a Presbyterian minister of Leavenworth, Kan., formerly of Metuchen, who returned about two weeks ago on a visit and departed for home.

The sexton declares that Mr. Mundy, who is in his eightieth year, was unwilling that the deceased members of his family should be separated in death, so ordered the remains of his wife and three children in one of the plots to be exhumed and transferred to another plot where his father and mother were buried.

Gravediggers Are Hired.

Noah, the sexton, was pressed into service when the hired gravediggers struck on Mr. Mundy because of the difficulty in recovering the bodies from the sod. Noah says he was paid $7.50 to finish the task of exhuming the bodies. He declares that the remains of the wife were first removed, the coffin still being intact, and placed in a grave prepared in the other plot, while the bones of the three children were gathered together in a dry goods box and lowered into the same grave. Then the tombstones were removed.

The sister of Mrs. Mundy protested against the new arrangement as soon as the discovery was made, and likewise the Cemetery association objected to the infringement of one of its rules, which forbids the removal of a body within two years after burial, and the interment of more than body in a grave.

But the Rev. Mr. Mundy, in the removal of the bodies of his wife and three children, had so planned that his own grave should exactly fill the remaining space. With this object in view he had ordered his own tombstone erected over his final resting place, and upon it was inscribed, "Rev. Ezra F. Mundy, ordained, 1856; born, 1832; died, ——" leaving the date of his death to be filled in later.

It is said that the Rev. Mr. Mundy inherited a considerable sum of money from a brother who died several years ago.

STUDENTS TO BE REINSTATED

Expected That President Demarest Will Lift Ban.

New Brunswick, N. J., May 30.—The forty-nine Rutgers seniors suspended for participation in the annual graduation "beer party" are still off the college rolls, but the threatened strike of the rest of the undergraduates has not taken place. The student body showed its resentment by remaining silent during chapel exercises, and it was noticed that several of the faculty did the same, but the unsuspended students were in their class recess as usual.

It is expected that President Demarest, who issued the suspension order, will make another statement reinstating the suspended members, but declaring that the college policy is not to tolerate any more "beer parties."

MRS. MACK DEATH VERDICT

Coroner's Jury Says Several Unknown Persons Caused Her Death.

Secaucus, N. J., May 30.—An inquest by Coroner Kugelman in the borough hall here into the death of Mrs. Minnie Mack resulted in a verdict that she had "come to her death through two or more persons unknown to the jury."

Mrs. Mack was found in her home a few weeks ago, strangled to death. Among the dozen witnesses at the inquest were George Mack, the dead woman's husband, and Minnie Kahn, her cousin. On the night of the crime Miss Kahn occupied a room adjoining that in which Mrs. Mack met her death. Mack was in New York at the time.

JERSEY LOCHINVAR IN JAIL

Mother of Girl He Carried Off to Marry Has No Romance.

Red Bank, N. J., May 30.—Charged with abduction, Frederick Sickles of this place is held in default of bail.

He is accused of detaining Myrtle Parker, fourteen years old, in his home for several days. The accused, who is seventeen years old, claims that the girl went to West Orange of her own free will and was under the chaperonage there of his parents.

Mrs. Mary Parker, mother of Myrtle, charges that the young people planned an elopement and that the journey to West Orange was a part of their plan.

MARKET & HALSEY STS.

Overheard in An Elevator

This morning one of our young woman stenographers told us that Saturday she overheard a customer in one of the elevators remark:

"When I come to Bamberger's I always spend more money than I intend to."

Not a bad commentary upon our store, our stocks and our SERVICE. The young woman who overheard this remark says that the customer looked as though she KNEW WHAT SHE WAS TALKING ABOUT, TOO.

We don't believe in people spending more than they should, yet it is gratifying to know that our values are so tempting.

Now is a splendid time to visit the Bamberger store. Our summer stocks are at high tide and everything is fresh, clean and altogether lovely. The spirit of summer is in the air at Bamberger's—come and breathe it.

MR. AND MRS. HENDERSON

"Lady Betty" Received $500,000 Present From New Husband.

HER THIRD VENTURE.

"Lady Betty" Faulkner, Famous Beauty, Sails on Another Honeymoon.

New York, May 30.—"Lady Betty" Faulkner, now the bride of Frank Clarence Henderson, sailed on her third honeymoon in the suit de luxe of the Lusitania. Her marriage to the wealthy oil man of Oklahoma was a brilliant affair and came on the heels of an exciting day, during which a man repeatedly telephoned that he intended to "blow up the house with dynamite."

The bride was somewhat nervous during the ceremony, although two policemen were on guard at the door for the crank, who did not appear.

Mrs. Faulkner, the mother, gave the bride away. The guests numbered twenty-five, and the supper was served by Sherry's. It is understood that Mr. Henderson gave his bride $500,000 as a marriage settlement.

Mrs. Henderson was first married to T. Irvin Chapman of Boston, whom she divorced in 1905. Her marriage to Pierce, a son of H. Clay Pierce, was annulled last October. Both former husbands were oil men, as is her new one. Mrs. Henderson is noted for her beauty.

MISSILE THROWN AT THE PRESIDENT

Secret Service Chief Gives Prisoner Third Degree.

AN INSULT WAS INTENDED

Water Soaked Paper Struck Mr. Taft In Mouth While He Was Speaking at Rutherford, N. J.—No Harm Meant Apparently.

Rutherford, N. J., May 30.—An Italian, who is said to have thrown a package which hit President Taft in the face Saturday night, when he was about to speak in the public square, was put through the third degree by John Wilkie, chief of the secret service men.

There are large Italian colonies in East Rutherford, Passaic and Paterson, from which Bresci was sent to kill King Humbert of Italy, and that is one of the reasons why the federal officers are making such a rigid investigation.

Chief of Police Burnham of Rutherford would not admit that an arrest had been made. He said the matter was still in the hands of the federal officials, who were continuing their examination.

President Struck In Face.

Frank M. Buckles of Rutherford, postmaster and leader of the Taft organization in Bergen county, said:

"The 12,000 persons assembled in the public square were disappointed in not hearing the president speak because of the act of a vandal. As the package struck the president's face he was about to speak, but the secret service men pushed him back in his seat and assumed charge of affairs. They ordered the car ahead at full speed through the crowd, not knowing what was in the paper, and got away. Later they informed me that the paper had been soaked in water to make it heavy."

This fact convinced the secret service men, according to Chief Burnham, that the package was not thrown accidentally and that if no harm was meant at least an insult to the president was intended.

SEVERAL HURT AS CAR RUNS AWAY

Woman Occupant Thrown Through Window.

BRAKE SHOE FAILS TO WORK

If Switch at Elm Street Curve Was Not Working Trolley Would Have Overturned and Lives Would Have Been Lost.

Arlington, N. J., May 31.—Several persons were seriously injured when a trolley car bound from Kearny to Newark became uncontrollable because of the locking of the brake shoe while running down a steep grade in this village. When the car, operated by James Chalmer, reached the Elm street curve, in the latter place, it took the turn at such speed that one of the passengers was thrown through a window. If the switch at that point had not been working it is believed that the car would have been overturned and many lives lost.

Occupants of the car at the time of the accident were Newark, Harrison and Kearny residents who had been at a dance at the latter place. They were joking about what would happen if the motorman lost control of the car as it was descending the Arlington hill. A minute later the motorman opened the door and shouted that the brakes were not working and warned those inside to hold fast and not jump, he believing that the car would take the curve in safety.

Women In Panic.

In a state of panic and begging their companions to assist them, the young women in the party began screaming. Several wanted to jump through windows, but were restrained. There had been similar accidents at the Elm street curve, and as the fast traveling car reached that point some of the women were praying.

When the car finally reached the curve it almost careened, but straightened down again and continued down the incline to the level of the street. As the heavy vehicle swung to one side on the curve the trolley pole slid off. The jar sent the passengers whirling about. Miss Gertrude Reed of Kearny was thrown clear through the window. She was picked up later with a fracture of the left shoulder and suffering from internal injuries.

Names of Injured.

Of those injured the police got the following names:

Gertrude Reed, Kearny; left shoulder broken and internal injuries.

Anna Monahan, Harrison; contusions of the scalp and body.

Eugene McGarren, Harrison; right leg broken and contusions of the scalp.

John Flech, Harrison; right arm broken and internal injuries.

MEMORIAL TO WIFE.

New York Architect Presents Window to Church In Montclair.

Montclair, N. J., May 31.—George W. Da Cunha, a retired New York architect living here, has notified Archdeacon Frederick B. Carter, rector of St. Luke's church, that he will present the church with a window as a memorial to his wife, Rosina Da Cunha, who died a few weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Da Cunha gave five windows, which are side by side in the church, as memorials to their son. They represent the transfiguration. Above the series is a rose window which both Mr. and Mrs. Da Cunha agreed did not completely harmonize with the five memorials. Some time ago they agreed that whichever of them died first the survivor should complete the window as a memorial to the other.

FINDS 11-YEAR-OLD LETTER.

Is Sent on Its Journey After Long Delay.

Asbury Park, N. J., May 31.—A letter mailed by City Attorney James D. Carton eleven years ago and addressed to County Clerk Joseph McDermott of Freehold was not found until last Monday and sent on its journey. Despite the delay, the communication has not yet reached its destination.

When the postoffice equipment was moved from the Trust company building on Madison avenue to the new building recently erected by the government in railroad square, the letter was found in the woodwork behind a sorting cabinet. The letter was placed in the Freehold mail and Carton notified. He became interested and waited patiently to hear from the county clerk, who has failed to receive it.

Effectually Suspended.

Only one dog has ever had the audacity to enter parliament during the proceedings. A hundred years ago the lords were thrown into consternation by a dog's entry. Lord North was addressing the house, and the dog promptly proceeded to bark furiously at him. Lord North, considerably upset, moved that the member who was interrupting him should be suspended. Thereupon the dog was driven out and suspended in such a manner that he never interrupted again.—London Opinion.

INTERVENTION IN CUBA IS POSSIBLE

GUARDS ARE OVERPOWERED

American Minister Made Effort to Induce Cuban Government to Take Such Action as Would Render Intervention Needless.

Havana, May 31. — Intervention seems assured by the United States as a result of the burning of the buildings of the Spanish-American Iron company, at Daiquiri, near Santiago. The marines will land, if indeed they have not already done so.

The successful attack on the iron company's headquarters at Daiquiri, which is only twenty miles from Santiago and within easy communication by telephone and rail, shows the inability of the Cuban authorities to protect American property.

The company's officers were promised on last Friday that an adequate guard would be supplied for their property, and they had a tug waiting at Guantanamo in response to the Cuban government's request to transport the defensive forces. They were informed at that time, however, that the forces would be sent overland, but they have not yet arrived.

Guards Are Overpowered.

This failure of the government to send troops was responsible for the success of the rebels in their attack. They overpowered the seven guards of the company and then set fire to the buildings of the American company. They also burned the buildings of the company at La Playa.

The Cuban foreign office has been profuse in its promise of protection to American property, but it has not carried out these assurances, primarily because it is not able to do so. It has not got the requisite number of troops, and, moreover, the conduct of affairs at the front has been chaotic owing to the conflicting orders sent by President Gomez and General Monteaguado, the commander in chief of the armed forces, who is now on the scene himself. The government ordered General Mendieta to attack the rebels in force, while General Monteaguado sent word to await his arrival. The government tried to explain General Mendieta's delay in attacking the rebels under Estenoz and Ivonnet by saying that he was forced to detach many of his men to protect foreign property. This is exploded by the fact that the properties have not been protected.

La Lucha says editorially: "The Cubans can no longer live tranquilly since the race feelings have been so developed. It will be a somber cloud, ever threatening the peace of the republic, since a part of the population has declared that it would rather be negroes than Cubans."

Negroes Are Gathering.

While there have been no outbreaks as yet in the provinces of Havana and Pinar del Rio, the people are not very well satisfied because a great many negroes have disappeared, and reports are coming in of meetings of the colored men from hamlets and woods in all directions. Gomez, in an interview in regard to the interview with the English traveler, Sir H. Johnston, in which the latter was quoted as saying that the United States ought to annex Cuba, says he does not care what the English think about it, but Cuba is very well able to run her own affairs and will not permit any foreign interference.

American Minister Beaupre made an earnest effort to induce the government to take such action as would render intervention needless, but the authorities did not respond to his efforts.

Many cane cutters in the Guantanamo region are joining the rebels, whose numbers are growing steadily.
